HOOVER URGES ECONOMY TO HOLD SURPLUS

Gratified Over Tax Collections.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 4.—[Special.]—Gratification over the extent of the income tax collections for the month of March was expressed by President Hoover today in a formal statement issued following a long White House conference with Secretary of the Treasury Mellon and Budget Director J. C. Roop. The President said that a collection of $2,-000,000 from income taxes during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1930, now seems assured.

While referring to the collections thus far as "most gratifying" the President warned that rigid economy must be practiced by the legislative and executive departments if a deficit is to be avoided during the next fiscal year. President Hoover expects, he said, to end the present fiscal year with "a very moderate surplus."

Treasury Estimate Stands.

"It is impossible at this early date to estimate with accuracy the situation in the next fiscal year [that ending June 30, 1931]," President Hoover said. "The budget indicated after the tax reduction which has since been enacted a surplus of $47,000,000 for the next fiscal year. On the revenue side the treasury sees no occasion to make any substantial revision of its estimates.

"Since the budget figures were submitted, legislation enacted at the present session of congress has imposed a burden of additional expenditures amounting to $30,000,000 during the next fiscal year.

"The major difficulty in prospect, however, arises from the fact that bills already favorably reported by congressional committees, if enacted into law, would entail an additional expenditure of nearly 300 million dollars next fiscal year and, as far as we can see today, inevitably result in a deficit. The situation clearly calls for most rigid economy and deferment of even otherwise justifiable expenditures by both the legislative and executive departments."

Refers to Stock Crash.

Referring to the stock market crash as "the unfavorable development of last fall," the President said the March tax returns indicated that individual incomes had not been affected to the extent that many people had thought they would be. Furthermore, he added, the business situation had not prevented the corporations of the country from "reporting for tax purposes a net income substantially in excess of that reported for the calendar year 1928."

"Generally speaking," the President continued, "March income tax collections indicate that collections from individual taxpayers, excluding the tax reduction factor, will be somewhat less than collections during the calendar year 1929, but will be substantially in excess of collections during the calendar year 1928. In so far as corporations are concerned income taxes paid during the calendar year 1930 will apparently not fall short of collections during the calendar year 1929, notwithstanding a $90,000,000 reduction resulting from the lowering of the rate from 12 per cent to 11 per cent.

Customs Duties Fall Off.

"The treasury seems to have estimated income tax collections for the fiscal year 1930 with remarkable accuracy, and it is apparent that the tax reduction enacted by the congress was fully justified. The figures submitted in the budget message estimated income tax revenue in the fiscal year 1930 at $2,480,000,000 without taking into account the tax reduction subsequently provided for. The March collections indicate that income tax revenue will actually aggregate $2,400,000,000, which, allowing $85,000,000 for tax reduction, would correspond to $2,485,000,000 under the old rates.

"On the other hand, there has been a substantial falling off in customs duties, the estimated revenue from this source amounting to 600 million dollars, whereas present indications are that not more than 560 million dollars may be expected this fiscal year."

Gunmen Hold Up Doctor and Wife; Get $1,325 Gems

Three armed young men in a coupé robbed Dr. Frank M. Wittelle, 9630 Hunter avenue, to the curb in his car at 79th street and South Park avenue at 11:50 last night, robbed him of $85 and his watch, and his wife of a ring and brooch valued at $1,325. Mrs. Wittelle saved two other rings by dropping them beneath her blouse.

Loop Fire Causes Loss of $300,000

HOME BUILDERS OFFERED FUND OF 60 MILLIONS

Finance Program Is Launched.

BY AL CHASE.

Plans for what is expected will develop into Chicago's most comprehensive and effective building development on a large scale, were made public last night to more than four hundred realtors from all parts of Chicagoland at a banquet held at the Hotel Sherman. A new organization, backed, it is understood, by the Insull interests, is to offer facilities for home building which will be available to the public through the offices of every realtor in the Chicago area. Up to $60,000,000 in cash will be on hand for construction this year, it was announced.

These same interests are responsible for the "Build for Prosperity" movement launched at the Palmer house on Thursday and brought into effective visualization last night when "Build Now" banners of various wordings were flung across down town streets as well as in outlying centers; placards were placed in "L" and suburban trains and posters were placed throughout the city.

To Open Headquarters.

The new organization announced last night, to be known as Nixon Associates, Incorporated, has taken the entire building at 67 West Monroe street, between Dearborn and Clark, for its headquarters and for a permanent home building exhibition. George F. Nixon, host at last night's banquet, former president of the Chicago Real Estate board and head of George F. Nixon & Co., is president of the new incorporation.

"Financing, of course, is the primary requisite in home construction," said Mr. Nixon. "Unlimited funds are to be available through Nixon Associates for first mortgage loans of 75 per cent of the value of the land and building, these loans to be for fifteen year terms.

Gives Financing Terms.

"For instance, a man who owns a lot valued at $2,000 and wishes to erect a residence to cost $8,000, will be able to build with only $500 additional cash, the financing plan permitting the negotiation of a first mortgage loan for $7,500."

One of the features of the services to be offered will be the complete plans and specifications for houses of various types and within a wide range of prices. These will include the actual cost as completed, enabling the prospective builder to know his total investment before work starts. If the owner wants to use his own plans, exact figures will be furnished within three days.

Will Show Building Process.

The permanent exhibition in Monroe street will enable home owners to study every detail of construction and examine the various materials to be used. There'll be a cross section of a house showing its entire construction; in addition a model kitchen, bathroom, and displays of household appliances and fixtures will be shown.

"One of the principal advantages expected to be derived from the facilities of the new organization will be the fact that one order brings everything," said Mr. Nixon. "This includes the financing, supervision of the construction, and delivery of the completed building to the owner."

Miami, Fla., April 4.—(AP)—Concluding a 5,500 mile aerial tour over the West Indies, John D. Hertz, Chicago capitalist, members of his family, and friends arrived in his amphibian airplane here late today, 13 days after departure from this port. Mrs. Hertz and their daughter, Helen, and Mr. and Mrs. Nelson-Talbott, Dayton, O., were other members of the party. The trip was made for sightseeing, Mr. Hertz said.

HARNESS OIL GUSHER IN OKLAHOMA, BUT IT BLOWS OUT AGAIN

Oklahoma City, Okla., April 5 [Saturday].—(AP)—In captivity for seven hours, the Mary Sudik No. 1, giant gusher of the I. T. I. O. company, ripped loose again at 1:05 o'clock this morning and sent oil smashing high over the crown block.

Placing an "overshot" cap weighing two tons over the top of the casing yesterday afternoon, the workmen reduced the flow of the well, which since Wednesday morning of last week had spouted oil high above the top of the 122 foot derrick.

Petroleum output was estimated by oil operators at more than 2,000 barrels an hour and its gas production at 200,000,000 cubic feet a day.

Irate Husband Tortured Him, Rival Swears

New York, April 4.—[Special.]—James Quinn, a 30 year old aviator of Brooklyn, charged in an affidavit filed in the West Farms court today that his former employer, J. Morgan Corbett, a wealthy Boston aviator and real estate operator, had him kidnaped and tortured in an attempt to make him tell the whereabouts of Mrs. Philomena Cecilia Corbett, the realty man's estranged wife.

Quinn, who was named as co-respondent in the divorce suit which Corbett, a Boston social registerite, filed against his wife last November, but later dropped. He appeared in the West Farms court today as the chief complaining witness against three alleged employés of Corbett—Arthur Hamel, 29, an aviator of Haverhill, Mass.; Edward Kendall, 29, of North Reading, Mass., also an aviator, and Edward Klein, 30, of New York. All three were arrested in a room in the Hotel Belmont which had been engaged by Corbett.

Nose Broken; Eyes Blackened.

Quinn appeared in court in bandages. His nose was fractured and his eyes were blackened.

Quinn in his affidavit said that on March 26 he received a telephone call from a "Mr. Marsh" asking him to go to an address in The Bronx to overhaul an airplane. Marsh agreed to pay $50 a week and provide him with a cottage.

On the evening of April 1, Quinn said, as he finished dinner in the cottage, the door opened and five men, including the three defendants, a man unknown to him, and Corbett, entered.

The unidentified man shoved a gun against his ribs, he said, while Corbett picked up a milk bottle and struck him full on the head with it. Klein then beat him about the head with a cane, according to the affidavit.

Beaten Unconscious.

Quinn fought back, but soon became unconscious. When he came to he was lying in a bed stained with blood and Corbett was tying him to the bedstead with ropes.

As Quinn struggled in his bonds, the affidavit alleges, Corbett again crashed the milk bottle over his head, and he once more became unconscious. His captors aroused him by pouring cold water over his body, Quinn said.

Twisting his arms and legs, they demanded that he tell them where to find Mrs. Corbett, Quinn charges. When he failed to give the information, the men beat him continuously for several hours, he said.

Finally he told them he was bleeding internally, and that if they did not stop he would die, and they would all face the electric chair. At length the men withdrew, and after a conference, Corbett, Klein, and the unknown man departed, leaving Kendall and Hamel to guard the prisoner, the affidavit states.

All that night, Quinn asserts, he lay on the bed, bound and without medical attention. At 10 the next morning his two captors left, apparently to telephone for instructions. While they were gone Quinn wriggled free and escaped.

"Is it a fact that you ran away with Mrs. Corbett?"

"Well, you can flip a coin," replied Quinn cryptically.

The prisoners admitted today that they had known Quinn for some time. Kendal, who was the most communicative of the three, said he had thought "the whole thing was legitimate."

Mrs. Corbett Former Model.

Corbett, a former flyer, had employed several pilots in his real estate business. At Provincetown he developed an exclusive summer colony known as Mayflower Heights.

His wife, the former Philomena Silva, had been much sought after as a model by New York and Boston artists. One portrait of Mrs. Corbett, executed by Lytton Buehler, was the subject of considerable attention at an exhibit in Boston a few seasons ago.

LONE FLYER TRYING TO CROSS CONTINENT IN ONE 23 HOUR HOP

Wichita, Kas., April 5 (Saturday).—(AP)—Airport attendants here reported that A. M. Mooney, 24 year old Wichita aircraft manufacturer who is attempting a transcontinental nonstop flight in a monoplane of his own design, passed over Wichita at 12:30 o'clock this morning. The small plane circled the airport after coming down to an altitude of 200 feet, and then headed northeast.

Mooney took off from the United airport in Los Angeles at 6:43:47 a. m. Pacific coast time yesterday. He told the few persons who witnessed his departure that he expected to complete the flight in 23 hours, which would put him in New York shortly before 8 a. m. today. His hope was to set a transcontinental speed record for a light plane with a relatively small consumption of fuel.

Street and elevated lines' traffic in the northwest part of the loop was disrupted early this morning by fire that started in the plant of the Western Radio Manufacturing company at 128 West Lake street and spread rapidly to adjoining buildings on the east and west. At 3 o'clock scores of firemen, summoned by a 5-11 alarm, were still fighting the flames, but they were said to be under control. Fire Marshal Corrigan estimated that the damage would run close to $300,000.

Several thousand persons watched the battle from the streets and from points of vantage in nearby buildings. Hose lines laid in Lake, Clark, and La Salle streets and in Wacker drive halted automobile traffic, and the elevated lines shut off the electric power in the third rail along Lake street so that firemen could throw streams of water on the blazing buildings from the platforms. North bound trains were switched to the west at Van Buren street and service was cut off from the eastern half of the loop.

Flames Follow Blast.

The fire started shortly before 1 o'clock with an explosion in the Western Radio company's plant, according to members of the first fire company to reach the scene. Other explosions followed and soon the flames were shooting through windows in the upper floors of the building and spreading to the plants of the Office Furniture Clearing House at 130 West Lake street and the Slack Novelties Manufacturing company and New York Belting and Packing company at 124-26 West Lake street. Fire Marshal Corrigan suffered a cut beneath the left eye when he and a group of assistants were showered with glass from shattered window panes.

The firemen attacked the flames from three sides. Hose lines were run up to the elevated station platform at Clark street and streams of water poured into the blazing buildings from there. Other firemen clambered up fire escapes to the sixth and seventh floors of the new Wacker-La Salle building at the rear of the burning structures and directed streams of water into the blaze. Four hose lines were run from a fireboat in the river to aid the fight.

Rescue Firemen with Ladders.

On the La Salle street side fifteen firemen mounted to the roof of a one story building at the northeast corner of Lake and La Salle streets and from there took their hose up ladders to the roof of the Furniture Clearing House building. As the crowds watched and the streams of water hissed into the flames in the radio factory the fire suddenly broke through the roof on which the firemen were standing and cut off escape to their ladders.

Comrades in Lake street below quickly realized the situation and placed ladders on that side by which the men on the roof descended.

Two fire fighting towers were brought into use on the south side of Lake street, one throwing water across the elevated tracks into the roofs of the blazing buildings and the other plunging its stream through the steel framework of the elevated.

SERVANT WIDOW COMPROMISES IN WILL CONTEST

New York, April 4.—[Special.]—Surrogate Slater of Westchester county admitted to probate in White Plains today the will of Frank W. Savis, who died at his home in Port Chester on Dec. 31. The will disposes of an estate estimated at $1,600,000.

The bulk goes to his fourth wife, Mrs. Anna Mary Schleis Savin, former Czecho-Slovakian chambermaid in the Savin home, whom the 71 year old broker married a year before his death.

Mr. Savin's two children, Mrs. Josephine Savin Sargent of New York and Frank N. Savin of Paris, and an adopted son, Charles E. Monroe Savin of Port Chester, had filed a suit contesting the will. This was withdrawn under an agreement whereby the children receive a substantial portion.

Recommendations for the Primary

THE TRIBUNE'S recommendations for candidates in the Illinois primaries next Tuesday, April 8, will be printed in tomorrow's issue.

Recommendations in the senatorial, state-wide and county-wide contests will appear in the main news section.

DENEEN REPLIES TO RODENBERG; HITS AT ELMORE

Counter Attack by Mrs. McCormick.

The Day's Campaign

The two principal candidates for the Republican senatorial nomination continued their attacks and counter-attacks yesterday. Senator Deneen replied to William A. Rodenberg's thrusts at his senate record and said that President Elmore of the sanitary district was influenced by "Crowe-Galpin-Snow" in his statement on his break with the Deneen camp. Ruth Hanna McCormick described the senator as a "dangerous influence" on political jobs and renewed her attack on the world court. Details of Mrs. McCormick's meetings on page 2.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Senator Charles S. Deneen last night attributed the attack of William A. Rodenberg of East St. Louis upon the senator's record to a refusal on the part of Mr. Deneen to recommend a brother of Mr. Rodenberg for appointment as federal judge to succeed Judge George Washington English.

On the Elmore "break" Senator Deneen declared that "association with Crowe, Galpin, and Snow" has changed the attitude of Howard W. Elmore, president of the sanitary district, "towards public affairs." The senator said the Deneen camp told Mr. Elmore it wanted the payrollers removed from the sanitary district and that the discharges required five votes, of which Elmore was "only one."

His Reply to Rodenberg.

Speaking at the meetings on the south side, Mr. Deneen took for one subject the speech over the radio Thursday night by Mr. Rodenberg, an avowed wet, who before the campaign crystallized was regarded as a possible contender for the senatorship.

"I notice," said Senator Deneen, "that Mrs. McCormick has brought to Illinois former Congressman Rodenberg, who lives at Washington and practices law there before the federal departments and committees, but who has a technical voting residence at East St. Louis.

The Federal Court Matter.

"A few years ago Mr. Rodenberg urged me with great persistence to recommend one of his brothers to the President for appointment as federal judge to succeed Judge English, who had resigned to avoid an impeachment trial against him before the senate. I recommended Judge Fred L. Wham, who was later appointed by the President.

"The situation in the federal courts for the eastern district of Illinois was so scandalous that I deemed it my duty to recommend new federal officials as the terms of the other officials of the court expired, to restore the court to the respect and confidence of the people of the district.

Discusses Appointments.

"The administration of the federal court there had been a national scandal. Mr. Harold G. Baker was appointed United States district attorney by the President on my recommendation. The appointment did not meet with the favor of Mr. Rodenberg.

"The federal court and the federal officials of the eastern district have been removed from certain evil influences at East St. Louis and in other communities in the district and they have won the full confidence of the law-abiding people of the district in their discharge of the duties of their respective offices. Had I recommended to the President the appointment of the brother of Mr. Rodenberg I am sure that the speech he made last evening would have been of a different character."

Takes Up Elmore Statement.

Senator Deneen declared his interest in the sanitary district is to get a "strong board" to aid in Washington against the lake states which are fighting diversion of water from Lake Michigan.

"I notice in the papers today," he said, "that Mr. Elmore has issued a statement against us. I am surprised that the association of Mr. Elmore with the Crowe-Galpin-Snow leaders has changed so quickly his attitude toward public affairs and his disposition to make accurate statements of facts.

"There were a dozen committeemen present when I told Mr. Elmore after his election that the committee wished him to remove every needless employé and that we hoped he would have the courage to follow out the program. There was not a dissenting voice from any of the committeemen to this program. The committeemen supported the reorganization of the board without regard to politics.

"Mr. Elmore adds that I desired to control the sanitary district and that the ticket supported by our group for sanitary district trustees is a confirmation of his fears. I think it is generally known that the candidates for sanitary district trustees on our ticket were recommended by a group of men who represented twenty-seven of the prominent civic organizations of the city.

"I did not recommend any one and did not know who had been recommended until I read their names in the paper. They are men of the highest standing and character. The statements which Mr. Elmore makes against me are as groundless as the statements he makes against them.

Explains Interest in Trustees.

"The appointments and discharges of the employés in the sanitary district must have the approval of five of the nine members of the board of trustees. Mr. Elmore was not chairman of the employment committee and had but one vote.

"My interest in the administration of the affairs of the sanitary district is largely due to the fact that we must cooperate with the trustees on measures before the congress and it is of the highest importance that men of character be elected as trustees in the district to overcome the unfavorable reputation which the district has had at Washington and to aid the congressional delegation from Illinois in the contest which is being made against our state by the lake states and eastern provinces of Canada."

Allen Makes Statement.

Jacob D. Allen, director of the Deneen Cook county campaign, supplemented the senator's statement with one of his own:

"It is utterly untrue," said the Allen statement, "that I ever said, publicly or privately, that Elmore 'refused to take orders or follow program' in the reorganization of the sanitary district subsequent to his election in 1928. Nor is it true that either the head of our group or any one among its leaders, directly or indirectly through me, asked any improper favor of Mr. Elmore."

Davis Speaks on World Court.

Gen. Abel Davis, in opening Senator Deneen's noonday rally at the Grand Opera house, spoke on the world court.

"Senator Deneen is against entry into the league of nations," said Gen. Davis. "So is the Republican party. So am I. But the world looks to peaceful means of settling international misunderstandings and is hopeful of reducing the possibilities of war to a minimum. I am as strongly for the world court, just as strongly as I am opposed to America's entry into the league of nations.

"As one who saw active service in France, as a soldier, I cannot see how any one can oppose a judicial means for the settling of international difficulties and the avoidance of war. Adherence to the world court, according to the President's message to congress, specifically states that our adherence to the court is not in any degree a step toward entering into the league of nations."

MRS. McCORMICK DRIVES AT FOE ON ELMORE RIFT

Quotes Statement from Sanitary President.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

Ruth Hanna McCormick in her campaign meetings yesterday attacked Senator Charles S. Deneen, whose seat in Washington she seeks, as a "dangerous influence in the offices which come under the touch of his political fingers."

She considered this charge justified, she said, by the revelation made during the day by Howard W Elmore, president of the sanitary district board, as to the cause of the political break between Senator Deneen and himself.

Mrs. McCormick mentioned casually the "bewildering indictment situation in the Criminal court, paving contracts and forest preserve matters in the county board and certain phases of the United States district attorney's office," all of which offices, she said, were more or less under Deneen control.

The Elmore Statement.

But her only specific attack was through the statement by Mr. Elmore. This proved, she said, one of the two points which she set out to prove against Mr. Deneen in her Cook county campaign. The other concerns the world court.

The Elmore statement, as read by Mrs. McCormick to her audiences in the Apollo theater and elsewhere during the day, is as follows:

"When I became president of the sanitary district in December of 1928, the control of that body by politicians, including Senator Deneen, was a very real and dangerous thing. The padded pay rolls reflected this condition. Within a few weeks after I was inducted into the office we discharged many unnecessary employés. The district was reorganized and put on a business basis. When it became necessary in my opinion, to remove Deneen appointees, I fearlessly recommended their discharge to the employment committee in the same manner as I recommended like action in cases of other employés.

Tells of Rift with Deneen.

"In many cases Mr. Deneen was dissatisfied with this action and voiced his dissatisfaction to me. He told me that the trouble with me and business men like me was that we did not see things as politicians should see them.

"The rift between Senator Deneen and myself over sanitary district jobs became so wide that it was apparent to me that he was firm in his stand to control the sanitary district, and his present ticket is a confirmation of my fears as to the ultimate outcome of this condition.

"To answer Mrs. McCormick's oft repeated questions specifically concerning my break with Senator Deneen, I can say that the break did occur over sanitary district patronage. Mr. Jacob Allen, the campaign manager of the Deneen organization, made it very apparent that this break had widened within the last few months.

Quotes Allen on Break.

"In a meeting on March 6, he said: 'Mr. Elmore's unpopularity with the Deneen faction arises from the fact that after he was elected he would not take orders from the Deneen people. Nor would he take orders from the Deneen people with reference to the candidates for the sanitary board at the primaries this spring.'

"After all, Mr. Deneen's activities and his speeches indicate that he has a vital interest in electing his sanitary district candidates."

Mrs. McCormick said it had taken her 18 days to get the answer to her question, put to Senator Deneen and to Jacob D. Allen, his manager, as to what caused the break.

"I ask you whether I am right in saying that insofar as my speeches have been successful in exposing this situation, my campaign has been of some substantial benefit to the community?" she said. "Sometimes I think with the Psalmist who said, 'A blessed thing it is to see the light.'

"You will remember that on April 1 Senator Deneen expressed surprise that there had been a break between him and Howard Elmore. 'Why!' said the senator, 'I supposed our relations were very friendly. I happen to know that they are.' He went on to say that he had done his best to make Mr. Elmore president of the district.

"On last Sunday I made a speech reviewing the senator's shifting alliances during the last 12 years. I showed that his staunch friends of one campaign were the objects of his bitter wrath in his next campaign.

Charges Deneen Handspring.

"We need go no further back than last Tuesday to find the senator's greatest back handspring of all. After praising Mr. Elmore on Tuesday he apparently learned that my statement that there was a break was true. So two days later the senator once more discussed Howard Elmore.

"What a difference in the senator's judgment of this honest, able, and vigorous public servant! He suddenly discovers that one of Mr. Elmore's candidates for the sanitary district board has been marked on the sample ballot of Senator Deneen's political rivals.

"He instantly leaps to the conclusion that this is a damning fact against Howard Elmore. And then he says that while Mr. Elmore is claiming all the credit for the management of the district affairs that the 'management of the district is conducted by the majority of the members; no one trustee of the district can do anything alone.'

"All this throws a brilliant illumination upon the whole character of the senator's appeal to the public since he came into Illinois on March 3 to start a campaign of misrepresentation and evasion."

Returns to the World Court.

With this county question out of the way, Mrs. McCormick returned to question 2 in her attack on Deneen.

"I want an honest answer," she said, "to the question as to how he would vote on the Root formula in its present form if it were placed before him for ratification in the United States senate."

She reviewed the history of the league and world court controversy, and said that the Root formula simply revived the old issue in a new form, and that she was opposed to entrance into the league of nations in any way. Her contention here is that many people have been deceived into thinking that the court is something apart from the league, whereas she declares that it is an integral part.

Mrs. McCormick will bring her campaign to a close at her farm home at Byron, Ogle county, on Monday night, when she will make her closing plea to the voters over the radio. She will remain there to vote and then will come into Chicago to receive the returns. Her daughter, Katrina, is accompanying her on the final rounds of the campaign.

B. W. Snow, chairman of the Cook county regular Republican committee, said yesterday:

"Mrs. McCormick will carry Cook county by not less than 75,000. With Deneen eliminated, the Republicans can sit down and build for the good of the party rather than for the good of a faction. Mrs. McCormick will content herself with being United States senator. She will not attempt to build up a machine or head a faction of her own."

State House Supporters Listed.

McCormick headquarters yesterday gave out a list of seven members of Gov. Emmerson's cabinet who are supporting Mrs. McCormick. They are Barney Cohen, director of labor; John H. Milhouse, director of mines and minerals; Harry Cleaveland, director of public works; Henry Cohn, director of purchases; Leo Lowe, director of trade and commerce; Rodney Brandon, director of public welfare, and Ralph Bradford, director of conservation.

Jenkins Says G.O.P. Rivals Are Fighting Sham Battle

Newton Jenkins, one of the Republican candidates for the Illinois senatorship nomination, declared in his addresses last night that a "big swing" is under way. Six years ago he got 115,000 votes and carried three counties.

"The contest is now between Mrs. McCormick and myself," said Mr. Jenkins. "The big swing in the vote already is moving.

"Deneen is already a defeated candidate, and he has no one to blame but himself. His record for six years in the senate has been colorless. He has not made an important speech upon any major issue. He has feebly followed the leadership of the east, when he could have risen to the leadership of the best interests of Illinois and the middle west.

Calls League Issue a Sham.

"Deneen and Mrs. McCormick have failed to meet the big economic issues. They are as like as two peas in a pod. They have staged a sham battle upon the league of nations. When the farm debenture bill was before congress, they both lined up against it. When the tariff bill was before congress they both voted the same way, against the people and for the protected interests of the east. On prohibition, their positions are identical.

"Restoration of agriculture remains an important economic issue. I have endeavored to discuss all the economic questions vital to the country, but not a word has come from my rivals. There are weaknesses in the present farm law that should be remedied and delay is bound to be costly.

Urges Tariff for Midwest.

"Illinois needs a senator who stands for the people and industries of the state and the middle west in a vigorous way instead of merely voting with the reactionary eastern leadership. The legitimate rights of the industries, the stores, the people of Illinois must be protected in any tariff bill.

"It is my contention also that the administration at Washington should turn its attention away from the problems of Europe and enter immediately upon a vast program of internal improvements."

KILL ESCAPED LIONESS; END 2 DAY TERROR

Los Angeles, Cal., April 4.—[Special.]—Cliff Snyder, wild game hunter, and Louis Gobel, owner of a local lion farm, today killed a 250 pound African lioness which escaped from Gobel's establishment yesterday. Snyder hunted the lion with a pack of dogs. The lioness mauled several of his dogs bady and Snyder killed it with a pistol. The lioness' death ended a two day reign of terror through San Fernando valley and Malibu hills, schools having been closed to keep children indoors. The lioness was valued at $1,000.

M. E. MINISTERS INDORSE DENEEN ON COURT VOTE

Also Declare Dry Record Has Been Consistent.

After debating for two hours, the Chicago Methodist Preachers' association yesterday voted to indorse Senator Deneen's campaign for renomination at the Republican primary because of his stand on the prohibition and world court issues. The meeting was held in the Chicago temple with about forty ministers present and the final vote, members said last night, was not unanimous.

Leading a younger group of the clergymen, the Rev. John H. Williamson, pastor of the Franklin Park M. E. church and former law enforcement commissioner of Chicago, fought adoption of the indorsement. He contended that ministers have no right to enter politics to the extent of mentioning the names of candidates they would support.

Argument in Opposition.

"When we indorse candidates by name we automatically become a part of the party machinery," Mr. Williamson said. "We do not have the right to function in that fashion. Our duty in that respect is to indorse principles or issues but not individual candidates."

In its indorsement of Senator Deneen the Anti-Saloon league used the phrase, "Indorsed on dry record." The ministers went a step further in their public statement, calling attention to "his long and consistent dry record."

To this they added: "He has been a long and unfailing friend of prohibition. Nothing is to be gained by making a change in this important office."

While the Rev. Mr. Williamson could not remember the proportion of the final vote, he said last night that he had enlisted the support of several of his colleagues during his speech in opposition to the indorsement. The Rev. Almer Pennewell, pastor of the Ravenswood Methodist Episcopal church, said that "two, and possibly three," sided with Mr. Williamson.

Statement by Ministers.

Issued by the Rev. Charles A. Draper, secretary of the group, the ministers' statement said:

"The central issues in the Illinois senatorial campaign are matters of vital import to the Christian people of Illinois and the nation—namely: the world court and prohibition. The verdict on these two issues, which shall be registered in the primary April 8, will have an important influence throughout the nation.

"Senator Deneen has had the courage to come out plainly for adherence of the United States to the world court and has made the court the central issue in his campaign. Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick vaguely talks about a court' and capitalizes upon the tremendous newspaper propaganda and influence against the United States membership in the world court, now effectively functioning. We feel the importance of vigorous action in support of the world court."

RUSSELL GIVES POLICE ORDERS FOR PRIMARY

Police Commissioner Russell issued instructions for primary day next Tuesday to the captains of the 41 police stations at a meeting in his office yesterday. Strict orders were given that all policemen detailed to polling places are not to leave their posts under any circumstances.

The captains were told that in the past frauds have been perpetrated when policemen have left their posts to investigate disturbances outside. In case of any disturbance, Commissioner Russell said, the policeman on duty is to notify the election commissioners. The captains were instructed also in the handling of the police returns of the vote cast.

Kills Self; Wounds Wife for Her Attempt to Save Him

Peter Brill, Gary theater manager, yesterday shot himself to death in his room in the Broadway hotel at Gary, after shooting his wife in the thigh when she attempted to prevent him from ending his life with poison. Mrs. Brill was taken to the Mercy hospital. Her condition is not serious. Mrs. Brill told the police her husband started to drink poison after they had quarreled and that he shot her when she knocked the glass from his hand. Brill moved to Gary recently from Fort Wayne, to succeed his brother, Anthony, as manager of the Gary theater.

WIFE ILL; HE KILLS SELF.

Martin Trasik, 35 years old, a clerk, committed suicide last night by shooting himself as he lay in bed at his home at 1645 West 81st street. Trasik had been worrying because his wife, Mrs. Florence Trasik, has been ill.

BOND ISSUES TO PAY JUDGMENTS GIVEN APPROVAL

Three of the bond issues, totaling $18,970,000, which will be on the small ballot in Tuesday's primary, were approved yesterday by the Citizens' association and the Chicago Real Estate board. These three bond issues will be used to pay judgments against the city held by property owners along Ashland and Western avenues and La Salle street, whose land was taken in the widening of those thoroughfares.

The Citizens' association urged the defeat of the $5,400,000 bond issue for the extension of Ogden avenue across Goose island and the $450,000 bond issue for improvements at the municipal airport. No vote of the membership of the real estate board was taken on the airport bonds, but the taxation and legislative committee of the board voted against approving these two issues. The Chicago Association of Commerce yesterday announced its approval of the airport bonds.

The Citizens' association pointed out the "wholesale diversion of bond issue funds under President Faherty of the board of local improvements," and said "that the voters should not entrust those officials with the expenditure of any further bond moneys which may be wasted through favoritism." The association said it considers the airport bonds inadvisable because of the failure of the city to get a long term lease on the school land now occupied by the airport.

Child Reaching for Candy Killed by Slab of Marble

Striving to reach a candy box on the mantel in his home last evening, 4 year old Robert Blanchard, 534 Stratford place, pulled upon his own head and that of his playmate, 5 year old John Otto, a heavy slab of marble, which killed Robert. His playmate was but slightly hurt.

LAKE FOREST TO VOTE TUESDAY ON PROPOSAL TO ANNEX LAKE BLUFF

The question of annexation of Lake Bluff to Lake Forest is to be voted on Tuesday in Lake Forest and the following Tuesday in Lake Bluff. Wealthy Lake Forest residents have been making a fight against the annexation, contending that it will increase Lake Forest taxes.

Advertising matter was distributed in Lake Forest last night at the instance of a "committee of 16" to the effect that if Lake Bluff is annexed every general improvement for the sole benefit of Lake Bluff will come the Lake Forest community. On every $1 it costs Lake Bluff, on a "7 to 1" figure was arrived at in computing the assessed valuation of the two communities, the Lake Forest valuation being $18,000,000 and that of Lake Bluff $2,500,000, according to the circulars.

C. C. Case Resigns After Row with Maguire.

BY PARKE BROWN.

County Judge Jarecki yesterday put an end to what he called a family row on the board of election commissioners by appointing Francis X. Busch, president of the Chicago Bar association, as attorney for the board.

A few hours earlier Attorney Charles Center Case issued a statement announcing his resignation as legal adviser of the board and denouncing its chairman, Fred V. Maguire, in connection with a dispute about how legal opinions should be handled.

This is a charge in the local political campaign, in which most of the disputing has been between Republicans. Both Chairman Maguire and Attorney Case are Democrats, but the latter's charges included one that the chairman has friendly relations with ward committeemen and leaders identified with the city hall.

Explains Busch's Stand.

The formal announcement from the board concerning Mr. Busch mentioned the fact that he was appointed to the same position when Judge Jarecki took office in 1923 and continued to hold it until after Mayor Dever's election in April, when he was appointed corporation counsel. The statement emphasized the fact that Busch listened to the request of Judge Jarecki and the board only because of the close proximity of the primaries.

The dispute between Attorney Case and members of the board arose last Monday, when the lawyer was criticised for giving directly to employés of the board certain rulings about cases in which suspect notices had been sent out, but had not been received by the voters whose rights to vote on the poll lists had been challenged. The cases called for close decisions and were of a character usually passed upon by the board in instructions to employés.

Argument Over Ruling.

There was an argument over both the nature of the rulings and the fact that they had not been transmitted to the board for determination whether they should be put into effect in the form of instructions. But the cause of his resignation, Case said, was found in his charge that Maguire, during the argument, said: "To hell with the Supreme court and law. We consider this a question of policy."

This charge Chairman Maguire emphatically denied.

"Mr. Case's statements are erroneous," he said. "There has been a difference of opinion between Mr. Case and the board concerning interpretation of the law governing election affairs. But his statement that I said 'To hell with the Supreme court' is absurd and untrue."

Swissler Makes Statement.

In a statement to the press William R. Swissler, Crowe candidate for the board of review, laid emphasis on the fact that J. F. Cornelius, Democratic candidate for the same office, had changed his name from that of Julius Wengierski. Friends of Cornelius point out that from the beginning of the campaign he has admitted changing his name. He played football at Northwestern under the family name of Wengierski about 25 years ago and a few years later announced the change of his name for business reasons, adopting his middle name as his last name.

"I have practiced law in Chicago for over 20 years," continued the Swissler statement, "and am a law partner of Conrad H. Poppenhusen, Edward R. Johnston, Floyd E. Thompson, former chief justice of the Supreme court of Illinois, and other distinguished lawyers.

"I have the support of no faction, but solicit the support of all the good men and women of Cook county. Mr. J. F. Cornelius, nee Julius Wengierski, was placed upon the Deneen ticket through the sole influence of his political boss, Frank J. Link."

Cornelius Fires Back.

At Deneen meetings on Thursday Cornelius asserted that former State's Attorney Crowe is his real opponent, charging that Swissler is a messenger boy for the former prosecutor, who, he said, is now trying to stage a political comeback by way of the board of review.

An appeal to the business men of Chicago to act as watchers next Tuesday and to enlist their employés in that work has been issued by President Robert Isham Randolph of the Chicago Association of Commerce. He urged support for the activities of the Voters' Nonpartisan association, which is to provide watchers at the polls. The statement on this subject included the fact that the Association of Commerce makes no recommendations as to candidates, but does request all citizens to vote.

Appeal on Drainage Board.

Lessing Rosenthal yesterday addressed a letter to 7,000 or more voters urging them to vote for the group of candidates for sanitary trustees espoused by the Butler committee of civic groups.

An anniversary for Ald. William D. Meyering, Democratic candidate for sheriff, will be observed at a service men's luncheon at the Hotel La Salle this noon. It will be twelve years ago tomorrow that he lost his right hand in combat in France.

County Chairman Cermak, regular Democratic candidate for president of the county board, will speak on the tax situation over WGES at 6:15 and over WHFC at 7:30 tonight, and over KYW at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

China's Favorite Actor Here

MEI LAN-FANG.

Plays Tomorrow

China's most favored actor in the last 400 years reached Chicago yesterday to give the middle west a sample of the best drama China has to offer. Mei Lan-Fang, famous as a female impersonator, will start a week of the Chinese theater at the Princess tomorrow. He is on his first visit to America and has just completed three successful weeks in New York.

The actor when he arrived wore a blue silk gown, a black silk jacket embroidered in a dragon design, and an American gray felt hat. He was greeted by many admirers of his own race.

Mei Lan-Fang was the guest of the Drama league of Chicago at the Stevens hotel at a luncheon. He shared honors with Dr. Walter Starkie, authority on gypsy music and dialects, who will teach this summer in the romance language department at the University of Chicago.

KELLOGG DEFENDS WORLD COURT IN CHICAGO SPEECH

The world court was defended in Chicago yesterday by Frank B. Kellogg of Minneapolis, former secretary of state.

Speaking at a luncheon of the Chicago Bar association, Mr. Kellogg made the statement that the world court confines its opinions entirely to legal matters, such as the interpretation of treaties, agreements, and international laws.

"There is some misunderstanding about the world court," he said. "There seems to be an impression that it will pass upon all sorts of political and domestic questions involving or affecting the United States. The court, under its charter, can deal only with juridical matters, in the same manner as the courts of our land function. Political questions can only be settled by conciliation between the disputants, by consultation and discussion and agreement."

Sees Peace Movement Growing.

The former secretary said he found a greater movement abroad in the world today for world peace than ever since the world began.

"The only ways of enforcing a treaty," he said, "are by the overpowering strength of public opinion or by war. I would educate the people all over the world to guard treaties of peace above all else and thus to insure the practice of arbitration and judicial settlement of international problems.

"Isolation in the world scheme is no longer possible for the United States. A great nation like ours, with ten billions a year of foreign commerce, has as much to gain by the establishment of the world court as any country in the world.

Replies to League Argument.

"The common argument we hear is that it is a league court and that it is but an arm of the league of nations, and that our country shall become entangled in foreign alliances and foreign wars and disputes.

"These are the shibboleths of political argument. The United States would asume no obligation whatever beyond the privilege—the privilege, I say—of submitting a case to the court when it pleased, and the annual payment of $38,000 to contribute to the expenses of the court."

Answering the charge that the Root protocol in effect nullifies the fifth of the reservations set up by the senate for American adherence to the world court, Mr. Kellogg declared that the Root formula does not conflict with the fifth reservation, but rather strengthens it.

"Can there be any objections to an exchange of views between the nations on a matter in which the United States has or claims an interest?" Mr. Kellogg asked. "The fifth reservation provided that no opinion should be asked in a matter affecting the United States without our consent. The Root protocol merely puts it that the United States and the other nations should discuss whether the United States has an interest.

"If the objections of the United States are overridden by the proponents of the question, and the latter insist on an opinion by the court, despite the objection of the United States, the United States may withdraw from the court.

"In such an event the United States is in just as good a position as though it has never adhered to the court statute, for at present the United States has nothing to say about whether the court shall deliver an advisory opinion."

FLYER TELLS HOW HE SMUGGLED PLANE OVER BORDER TO MEXICANS

New York, April 4.—(AP)—An aviator who flew most of the distance from Hollywood, Cal., in answer to his subpoena, today described before United States Commissioner Garrett W. Cotter the course of the alleged arms smuggling conspiracy for which Ignacio Moran, former Mexican ambassador to Germany, is wanted in Arizona.

Testifying at Moran's extradition hearing, the flyer, Philip M. Mohum, said he was an aviator in the Mexican rebel army and accompanied Moran to Buffalo, N. Y., and Phoenix, Ariz., where planes bought by Americans—ostensibly for use in this country—were flown to El Paso, Tex., for delivery across the border. He told of flying one plane to Juarez under cover of darkness.

BRIDE DENIES FORMER SUITOR KIDNAPED HER

Mrs. Anna Storring, 18 years old, 5324 Princeton avenue, a bride of a week, and Joseph Palumbo, 21 years old, her former suitor, who was reported to have kidnaped her on Thursday evening, walked into the stock yards police station together last night.

Mrs. Storring denied indignantly the report made to the police by her sister-in-law, Mrs. Alice Westbrook, 23 years old, that Palumbo had struck her and dragged her into a waiting automobile. She said she had gone with Palumbo willingly and that she had spent the night at the home of a friend.

She told the police that she had no intention of returning to her husband, Allen, whom she married at Crown Point, declaring she had been persuaded to marry him while angry at Palumbo. She said she intended to obtain a divorce from Storring and marry Palumbo.

800 CHURCHES HEAR PRIMARY APPEALS SUNDAY

Women's Organization to Urge Candidates.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

The attention of thousands of church members will be directed toward politics as they engage in their public devotions tomorrow. The Chicago Church federation, representing 17 Protestant denominations and 800 congregations, has issued a call for the church people of Chicago to vote at the Tuesday primaries in order to correct existing conditions in the city, county, sanitary district, and the state.

In calling for the church vote, Dean Shailer Mathews, president of the church federation, declared that true Christian impulses are toward positive action and stated that Christianity is not a call to passive endurance of political evils.

The Dean's Appeal.

"Respectability is often a political soporific," said Dean Mathews in the Church federation bulletin. "What are we Christians going to do about our city politics? Suffer them to continue to let criminals keep good Samaritans busy caring for their victims? Or shall we look at a primary and an election as a call to forestall robberies and racketeering and graft and official allbis?" Dean Mathews then declared that a full church vote was the only answer.

When asked to comment on the appeal last night Dean Mathews said that the Chicago Church federation had absolutely no political affiliations and made no recommendations as to specific candidates for whom church members should vote. He stated, however, that it was the duty of the federation to build up a morale among church members in regard to political matters.

Women Take Action.

Although the church federation recommends no candidates, through the agency of the Christian citizenship council, a woman's organization, church members will receive specific recommendations as to their voting. According to a council leader, Mrs. G. M. Mathes, 5830 Harper avenue, today's mail will carry copies of recommendations of nonpartisan groups, such as the Anti-Saloon league and the civic safety commission.

Mrs. Mathes stated last night that the Christian citizenship council did not formulate its own list of recommendations, but accepted those prepared by nonpartisan agencies. It is stated that Dean Shailer Mathews, though not acting in his capacity as the head of the church federation, was one of those who was active in organizing the civic safety commission.

According to Mrs. Mathes, the Christian citizenship council is made up of women representatives from many churches. Each participating church, through its Christian citizenship council chairman, will distribute the recommended list of candidates. She stated that in some cases the recommendations will be forwarded through the church mailing lists, while in others they will be distributed through the congregations tomorrow as they assemble for services.

Mrs. Mathes stated last night that the recommendations favored the candidacy of Senator Deneen.

High Court Grants New Hearing to 3 Condemned

The Illinois Supreme court yesterday allowed a rehearing of the case of three colored men who are scheduled to be executed in the electric chair next Friday. The execution is automatically stayed pending the outcome of the new hearing. The defendants are Lafon Fisher, Leonard Shedlow and Leon Brown, who are under conviction for the murder of Martin French, a bank guard.

93 CANDIDATES WIN ASSEMBLY SEATS TUESDAY

Control of House Rests with Primary Voters.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

At the last presidential election 3,107,489 voters went to the polls. But less than half of them voted in the 1928 primaries. The voting record in the presidential election and the last two state-wide primaries is a summarized in the followink table:

Division—	Presidential. 1928.	Primary. 1926.	Primary. 1928.
Illinois	3,107,489	1,343,201	1,495,726

Next Tuesday's primary will be not only a primary, but it will also constitute an election for 93 members of the lower house in the next general assembly. The votes of only 77 members are required to adopt a law in the lower house.

Of the 93 selected next Tuesday, 53 will be Republicans and 40 will be Democrats, and for 10 of these Democrats the nomination will be equivalent to election. These are:

Dist.	Name.	Address.
1	John Griffin,	2020 Indiana-av., Chicago.
8	Michael L. Igoe,	5434 Cornell-av., Chicago.
18	David H. McClurrage,	Peoria.
21	Thomas J. O'Brien,	1433 W. Erie-st., Chicago.
21	Joseph L. Rategan,	7 S. Mayfield-av., Chicago.
24	William E. Gilmore,	Champaign.
33	Thomas F. Sinnett,	Rock Island.
35	John F. Devine,	Dixon.
40	Arthur Roe,	Vandalia.
51	Frank Porter,	McLeansboro.

The state constitution provides for minority representation in the house and for the election of three members from each district every two years. The state law confers upon the senatorial committees the power to determine how many candidates shall be nominated in each district. In the first district, to illustrate, the Republican senatorial committee decided to nominate two in the primary and the Democratic committee decided to nominate only one, Mr. Griffin, who is thereby assured a seat. The two high men of the four Republican primary candidates are also certain of seats.

Will Nominate 3 in 31 Districts.

There are 31 districts in which only three candidates are to be nominated in each, and when the nominations are over next Tuesday these 93 candidates are assured of election. Those districts are:

In Cook county—First, second, third, Fourth, fifth, sixth, ninth, thirteenth, fifteenth, seventeenth, twenty-first, twenty-third, twenty-seventh and twenty-ninth.

Downstate—Tenth, twelfth, sixteenth, eighteenth, twentieth, twenty-fourth, twenty-sixth, thirtieth, thirty-third, thirty-fifth, thirty-sixth, fortieth, forty-first, forty-second, forty-third, forty-fifth, and fifty-first.

20 Districts to Nominate 4.

In the other 20 districts the voters will have a choice among four candidates for three jobs after the primary. Only five of those districts, the seventh, eleventh, nineteenth, twenty-fifth and thirty-first, are in Cook county. In those five districts are 876,000 persons who vote in a presidential election, but if they go to the polls next Tuesday in the same proportion as they have at the last two primaries, less than 270,000 of them will vote. The number who voted for house members in these five particular districts in the 1928 primary totaled only 218,836.

In the other 14 Cook county districts, where the nomination next Tuesday will be the equivalent of an election, there will probably be 500,500 voters, if they vote in the same proportion as they did in 1928, when 769,932 primary votes were cast in Cook county. These 500,500 voters will select 42 members of the county's 57 in the house. Therefore, estimating on past performance, about 32 per cent of the voters next Tuesday will elect 73 per cent of Cook county's membership in the Illinois house of representatives, and on four of those representatives will not have a choice because their election has been predetermined.

247 Candidates Fail to Reply as 324 Assembly Aspirants Tell State Dry Law Views in Tribune Poll

The Tribune on Monday morning will publish a table showing the attitude on prohibition expressed by all candidates for the state legislature who replied to The Tribune's questionnaire on repeal of the state prohibition law. Candidates who failed or refused to vote in the poll will be included in the table, which is prepared for the information of all voters in the state.

THE TRIBUNE has received no replies from 247 of the 578 candidates for the Illinois legislature who were sent questionnaires by which THE TRIBUNE sought to inform the voters on the prohibition views of all the candidates.

Seven candidates wrote letters giving various reasons for refusing to vote in THE TRIBUNE poll.

List Four Propositions.

The candidates were asked to indicate in the questionnaire whether they favored or opposed the direct repeal of the Illinois prohibition law by legislative action, or whether they favored or opposed a referendum of the people on the issue.

Of the 324 candidates who did vote in the poll, a total of 216 favored the direct repeal of the law by legislative action and also favored a referendum, and 83 others voted for a referendum. Twenty-four candidates opposed the repeal, and one opposed a referendum.

The 324 votes are tabulated as follows:

	House.	Senate.	Tot.
For both direct repeal and referendum	140	51	191
For direct repeal	18	7	25
For referendum	60	23	83
Totals	218	81	299
Opposed to repeal and referendum	14	4	18
Opposed to repeal	6	0	6
Opposed to referendum	1	0	1
Totals	21	4	25

Most of the candidates from whom no replies have been received are from the districts outside of Cook county. Of the 247 candidates whose replies are not in, 173 are from downstate and 74 are from Cook county. Five of the seven candidates who wrote in their refusals to vote are from downstate.

The vote of the candidates from Cook county, and of those from the outside counties combined, are tabulated as follows:

	Cook.	Downstate.
For both repeal and referendum	165	26
For direct repeal	20	5
For referendum	61	22
Totals	246	53
Opposed to repeal and referendum	5	13
Opposed to repeal	2	4
Opposed to referendum	0	1
Totals	7	18

The latest batch of returns received by THE TRIBUNE, 16 in number, are classified as follows, the list showing the districts in which the candidates are running, and their political affiliations, indicated by [R] for Republican and [D] for Democrat:

The following candidates voted in favor of both the repeal and referendum:

HOUSE.

23. Vera F. Busse [R].
29. Robert M. Woodward [R].

SENATE.

5. Roy C. Woods [R].
21. Edward J. Lyons [R].
25. R. J. Peacock [R].

W. G. Anderson, Republican candidate for senator in the Third district, voted in favor of the repeal of the law while J. L. Matthews, Republican candidate for the house from the Forty-sixth district, voted against the repeal.

The candidates who wrote in their refusals to vote in the poll are the following:

HOUSE.

Among those listed as not responding to the questionnaire is John Acker of Savanna. A letter was received by THE TRIBUNE, signed by Mr. Acker's daughter, in which she stated he was out of town, and also that "he is not in the habit of making pledges."

Does Not State Vote.

John W. Lewis of the 34th district did not return the questionnaire, but sent a letter referring the voters to his vote on the Weber-O'Grady bill, which was passed by the house and defeated in the senate of the last legislature, and provided for a referendum on the repeal of the state prohibition and search and seizure acts. Mr. Lewis' letter did not state how he voted on this bill.

William S. Stark, 4139 South parkway, Chicago, Republican candidate for state representative from the Third district, sent in his questionnaire with crosses marked in all four squares, which might indicate that he both favored and opposed the repeal of the prohibition law, or a referendum on the question.

Senator Earl B. Searcy of Bushfield, seeking reelection in the Forty-fifth district, in a letter said he could not confine his answers to the printed queries.

"I cannot adequately express myself by confining myself merely to the repeal or retention of existing Illinois statutes," Mr. Searcy wrote. He said he had been opposed by the Anti-Saloon league in his first campaign, but that the league now rated him as "fair" or "independent."

"Frankly," said Mr. Searcy, "I do not yet know what the solution is. I feel that the first move, in either direction, should lie in Washington."

Calls Issue National One.

W. H. Helm of Roodhouse, Democratic candidate for the house from the 38th district, said he would not answer the questionnaire because he felt the question is not of local or state concern, but is national in scope.

George S. Brydia, mayor of Prospectstown and candidate for representative from the 35th district, wrote, "I am not committing myself on any pre-election pledges except good government."

Decline to Make Pledges.

Jesse W. Osborn of Butler, seeking a seat in the house from the Thirty-eighth district, said he did not care to pledge himself in advance on the question. The same position was taken by James O. Koontz of Cullom City, Republican candidate for representative from the Seventh district.

Miller Karnes of Elmhurst, a Republican running for representative in the Forty-first district, returned the questionnaire with the notation above it: "If elected, I shall be guided by the majority of my constituents."

Joseph H. Wright, Republican candidate for representative from the Seventh district, wrote that he does not believe "that the solution can be found by juggling the Illinois prohibition law."

2 PADLOCKS KEEP COUPLE APART WHILE DIVORCE SUIT PENDS

South Bend, Ind., April 4.—[Special.]—Padlocks can be used by courts for other purposes than the closing of an oasis for unconstitutional thirsts. This was demonstrated in the St. Joseph circuit when Judge Cyrus E. Pattee of South Bend ordered Mr. and Mrs. Frank Avery of Mishawaka to each put padlocks in their respective sides of a door which connects Mr. Avery's carpenter shop with Mrs. Avery's living room.

A divorce action is pending and until the legal action is settled Mr. Avery is rooming with neighbors. He still has his carpenter shop in the rear part of the house occupied by his wife.

MYSTERY BULLET HITS BOY.

Thirteen year old Edward Orbulski was reading in the front room of his home at 4918 South Crawford avenue last night when a bullet drilled the window and struck his knee. Police searched the neighborhood but failed to find any one who had seen the shot fired.

SURVEY SHOWS TAX REVISIONS IN ROGERS PARK

Valuations of 1927 and 1928 Compared.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

One of the effects of the tax reassessment is shown by a comparison of all the buildings on Haskins avenue. This street is in the Forty-ninth ward in the neighborhood of the Howard street elevated station. It is a block in length, and has only four buildings.

Three of these buildings are of the same age, and each contains 38 apartments. Each was appraised by Harry S. Cutmore, director of the reassessments, for the same amount to a dollar. His full fair cash value for each was $132,293 for both land and building.

Old and New Compared.

Under the old assessment the 38 apartment property at 7720 Haskins avenue, owned by John J. Bladon, was assessed at $69,800. The same figure was set down for the 38 apartments at 7734 Haskins, owned by George H. Billinger. The 38 flat property at No. 7746, owned by W. L. Wallen & Son, was assessed for $45,800.

Under the reassessment each property is placed on the books at $48,986, which is 37 per cent of the appraised value. Bladon and Billinger thereby get a 20 per cent decrease in assessed valuation, and Wallen & Son get an increase of 7 per cent.

The fourth building on the street, at No. 7716, contains 15 apartments and is owned by Frank Roberts. It was appraised by the Cutmore staff at $44,003, and the 37 per cent equalization factor gives an assessment of $31,082. Under the old assessment it was on the books for $47,856, so Mr. Roberts will obtain a 14 per cent reduction in assessed valuation.

Far South Side Comparison.

Another result of the reassessment was obtained from the far south side. At 6917 South Carpenter street is a home owned by Mat Kett. The Cutmore appraisers valued the house and lot at $5,444.

Next door is a structure of like appearance, at 6919 South Carpenter street, owned by John Hosty, which was appraised at $5,688 for both building and lot.

The 37 per cent ratio gives the Kett place an assessment valuation of $2,015 and the Hosty house an assessed valuation of $2,106. Under the old assessment Kett paid taxes on a valuation of $3,800 and Hosty on $3,186.

Auburn Avenue Homes.

Farther north were other illustrations of the reassessment's effect on home owners. In the 3200 block of Auburn avenue were found nine properties, none of which in the recent Cutmore survey was appraised for as much as $3,000 for both house and lot. Following is a table giving the street numbers of the nine Auburn homes and comparing their assessed valuations under the old assessment of 1927 and the reassessment of 1928:

Auburn-av.	Old assessment.	New assessment.
3302	900	938
3304	1,400	711
3308	1,125	462
3309	1,625	950
3310	925	495
3314	1,025	574

TWO DIE WHEN PLANE CRASHES AND BURNS UP

Falls Within Sight of Landing Place.

Roosevelt Field, N. Y., April 4.—[Special.]—T. Worden Hunter of Los Angeles, president of the Bach Aircraft corporation of Van Nuys, Cal., and his pilot, R. W. McAllister of Pasadena, were burned to death late today when their three motored Bach monoplane dived about 300 feet to a vacant lot about three-quarters of a mile from here and burst into flames. The two men were returning to this field after a short visit to Bethany Conn. They arrived here from the west coast Wednesday and had planned to leave tomorrow for Detroit to exhibit their monoplane at the air show there.

John J. Garvey, who witnessed the plane's plunge to destruction, said it went into an abrupt nose dive after the left wing suddenly worked loose and hung from the fuselage.

Just Misses Gasoline Tank.

In its wild descent the monoplane barely missed one of the Texas Oil company's storage tanks, containing 80,000 gallons of gasoline. It thudded into the ground, two of its three motors roaring, and buried its nose ten feet. Almost instantaneously its gas tanks caught fire and flames enveloped the eight passenger plane.

Garvey and George F. Hageman rushed to the scene with chemical extinguishers but the heat was so great that they could not approach close enough to use them.

Army Flyer Drowns.

San Diego, Cal., April 4.—(AP)—Hurled into Lake Hodges when a wing of their PT-3 army plane struck a high tension wire, Sergt. M. Davis was drowned and Capt. E. G. Harper, pilot, succeeded in saving himself today.

C. D. CHAMBERLIN, OCEAN FLYER, ON HOP TO CHICAGO

New York, April 5 (Saturday).—[Special.]—Clarence D. Chamberlin, the trans-Atlantic flyer, took off from Newark municipal airport at 2:10 a. m. today to keep a luncheon engagement in Chicago today. Col. James Fitzmaurice of the crew of the Bremen, which flew from Ireland to Labrador two years ago, and Miss Ruth Nichols accompanied him. Mr. Chamberlin and Col. Fitzmaurice are to be the guests of the Chicago Press club at luncheon and at a club night program this evening.

The plane is of Mr. Chamberlin's design, a seven passenger Crescent cabin monoplane, powered with a 300 horse power Wright Whirlwind engine. He expects to stop at Cleveland between 5 and 6 a. m. and to reach the Curtiss-Wright airport at Chicago between 8 and 10 a. m.

SHOOTS HIMSELF TO DEATH.

John Brannon, 54 years old, a Negro laborer, died yesterday in the Dailey hospital of a self-inflicted gunshot wound. Brannon shot himself early yesterday while despondent over his inability to find work, the police said.

SHOUT OF 'LIE' IN COUNCIL GROUP CAUSES UPROAR

The meeting of the council gas, oil committee was thrown into an uproar yesterday when Michael J. Kennedy, commissioner of gas and electricity, advanced toward Ald. Arthur F. Albert [43d] shouting, "It's a lie." Several members rose to their feet and started between the two officials as Kennedy continued to advance on the alderman.

The session was called to investigate complaints that nearly 7,000 street lights and a number of traffic warning signals are not being used. At the conclusion the committee adopted a resolution calling upon the finance committee to find $217,538 in miscellaneous funds for Kennedy's department. Kennedy said that the sum would enable him to employ 130 additional men to keep the lights in a better condition.

"I consider that question an insult," answered Kennedy.

"Very well," Albert continued. "I called your office and reported street lights out in my ward. Some one in your office said to me: 'See your alderman.'" At that point Kennedy began to push through the crowded room toward the alderman, shouting his denial.

Mausoleum Bankrupt Suit Filed for $500,000 Debt

An involuntary petition in bankruptcy against the Oakridge Abbey company, owners of a mausoleum near Roosevelt and Mannheim roads, was filed in the federal court yesterday. The law firm of Cassels, Potter & Bentley, representing the Georgia Marble company, a petitioner, announced the liabilities were in excess of $500,000. Charles M. Haft, vice president of the mausoleum company, admitted the $500,000 debt, but declared the company's assets were more than $3,000,000.

25 INDICTMENTS VOTED AGAINST POLL OFFICIALS

The grand jury, in its final return yesterday prior to disbanding, returned the indictments voted during the week against twenty-five precinct election officials. The indictments charge that the judges and clerks allowed the registration lists to be padded with floaters. The bonds of each official were fixed at $1,000.

R. W. Grysh, 1624 North Oakley boulevard, an election judge in the 27th precinct of the 34th ward, was the witness for the state yesterday in Judge Walter P. Steffen's court, where three men are on trial in one of the election fraud cases. He, however, did not get very far into his story when court adjourned for the day.

Fred Hrdlicka, candidate for state representative from the 23d district; Edward Kotek, precinct captain, and Edward Kerstein are the defendants. An effort is being made to finish the case before primary because of Hrdlicka's candidacy.

QUEEN VICTORIA OF SWEDEN DIES IN ROME AT 68

BY DAVID DARRAH.

ROME, April 4.—Queen Victoria of Sweden died quietly at 7:30 o'clock tonight at the Villa Svezia here, where she had been ill for several months. She was 68 years old. King Gustaf V. was at her side. The queen had long suffered from a bronchial ailment and her critical condition was due to an increase of mucous secretion in the lungs and a persistent cough. Her heart had also been functioning unsatisfactorily for some time.

The queen's death brings to a conclusion the annual visits which the royal couple were in the habit of making to Rome, where they maintained a luxurious villa. Ever since arriving this year Queen Victoria had been in a dangerous condition and was forced to remain in bed. When King Gustaf hurried to Rome the latter part of January physicians warned him that it was not likely his wife would ever be able to make the return trip to Sweden.

Stockholm Goes Into Mourning.

STOCKHOLM, April 4.—(AP)—News of the death of Queen Victoria in Rome was publicly announced in the Swedish capital after a cabinet meeting tonight. As the news spread through the city all theaters and places of amusement closed for the evening. The bells of all the churches in the country will be tolled at 8 a. m. tomorrow. A memorial service will be held in the chapel of the palace at 4 p. m. and the court will go into mourning. The cabinet will discuss funeral arrangement tomorrow.

BORN IN GERMANY.

Sophia Marie Victoria, princess of Baden, from the time of her triumphal entry into Sweden as the 19 year old bride of Crown Prince Gustaf, was loved and respected as one of the most kindly, benevolent and democratic royal personages in Europe. She was born at Karlsruhe, Baden, Germany, on Aug. 2, 1862. She was the only daughter of Frederick, grand duke of Baden, and Grand Duchess Louise, a daughter of Emperor Wilhelm I.

She met Crown Prince Gustaf when he was attending German army maneuvers at Strassburg in the fall of 1879. On March 12, 1881, their betrothal was announced. The wedding took place at Karlsruhe on Sept. 20 of that year. When Prince Gustaf took his princess home they were given one of the most enthusiastic demonstrations ever given royalty in Sweden. It was not long before Victoria learned the Swedish language so that it could scarcely be recognized that she spoke an adopted tongue.

Had Three Children.

Three children were born to Gustaf and Victoria: Gustavus Adolphus, duke of Skane; William, duke of Sodermanland, who is a poet, and Erik, duke of Vaestergothland, who died in 1918.

On the death of King Oscar in 1907, Gustaf and Victoria became king and queen of Sweden. Their coronation ceremony was simple.

In her childhood Victoria was a physical culture enthusiast and inclined toward athletics, but later in life she developed a bronchial ailment which not only undermined her strength, but made it impossible for her to live in the rigorous climate of Sweden throughout the year.

Queen Victoria's main interests outside of her duties in the home were charitable organizations, notably the queen's central committee for the distribution of private charity, and the Swedish Red Cross.

38 STATES VOTE WET AND ONLY 2 VOTE DRY IN POLL BY DIGEST

New York, April 4.—[Special.]—Of forty states, only two are voting for "bone dry" prohibition enforcement, the Literary Digest announced today in giving the weekly results in its poll of 20 million persons.

The arid states are Kansas, which has been voting dry steadily, and Tennessee.

Take Kansas first: For strict enforcement, 21,270; for modification, 8,119; for repeal, 6,000.

In Tennessee the vote is closer: For enforcement, 4,853; for modification, 2,460; for repeal, 2,240.

The Literary Digest states that of the 2,000,340 votes counted 848,751, or more than 42 per cent of the total, are out and out wet; 598,252, or nearly 30 per cent, are moist in that modification is favored, while 553,337 are for strict enforcement without change in the law.

In every southern state except Tennessee the combined vote for modification and repeal is larger than that for enforcement, while in Maryland the vote for repeal is considerably greater than for both modification and enforcement together.

Maine, the state which is sometimes referred to as "the grandmother of prohibition," is moister than it is dry. For enforcement there are 4,116 votes, for modification, 2,589, and for repeal, 4,035.

GIRL NEAR DEATH FROM STRAY SHOT IN BANDIT FIGHT

Struck by a stray bullet fired in a running gun battle between police and suspected auto thieves, Miss Catherine Corcoran, 22 years old, 500 West 45th street, was in a dangerous condition last night in St. Bernard's hospital.

The girl was shot in the neck as she was walking near Emerald avenue and West 45th place Thursday night. Sergts. Thomas Durkin and Joseph Glennon of the auto detail sighted two youths in a car who aroused their suspicion. They called upon them to halt but the pair sped away, the police in pursuit, and the occupants of both cars firing at each other.

As they passed the corner where she was walking, Miss Corcoran was hit by a bullet and the cars continued a few blocks farther where the pursued car let forth a cloud of dense smoke. Unable to see, the policemen halted their machine and the other escaped. Police say the smoke screen device is new here and conjectured that it is operated by driving black oil through the exhaust pipe.

FRENCH PROTECT GLORY OF WINE IN SCHOOL TEXTS

Deputy Flays Attempt to Make Drinking a Sin.

BY JAY ALLEN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, April 4.—On the grounds that wine is both strength and glory to France, the government will take steps immediately to scotch anything resembling prohibitionist propaganda in the textbooks used in the schools, Minister of Public Instruction Pierre Marraud informed the chamber of deputies today.

Using the tactics of the W. C. T. U. years ago in America, the French prohibitionist societies, which are gaining in strength, are doing their utmost to influence the young idea and make wine drinking appear a sin. Part of the campaign has been to introduce into school books condemnations not only against hard liquors but wines, too.

Socialist Deputy Protests.

A couple of such books came to the attention of M. Barthe, Socialist deputy from the wine growing department of Herault. He immediately got up in the chamber and howled. He asked permission to interpellate the government on "the attacks contained in certain elementary school commanuals against even the moderate use of wine."

M. Marraud arose and said that he was from the wine country himself and could be counted on to put a stop to this sort of thing.

Deplores Dry Propaganda.

"Such sentiments are profoundly deplorable," he said, "and I, as minister, disavow them and will take steps either to ban the books in question or get the editors to amend them so as to restore to wine drinking its true character in the eyes of school children. Wine should be one of our national glories and our strength."

SIX U. S. SAILORS ON LONELY ISLE SAVED BY PLANE

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad, April 4.—A graphic story of the rescue of six American sailors from a lonely island in the northern Antilles was told today by Capt. Jones, pilot of an airplane which arrived here.

Sailors from the naval base at St. Thomas were driven to sea by a gale while on a fishing expedition. Two days later Capt. Jones was asked to hunt them. After two hours' search he sighted the party on an uninhabited island in the Virgins.

Landing, he found the men dying from exhaustion. He gave them food and drink and returned them to St. Thomas.

6TH RUM BLINDED VICTIM APPLIES AT THE IROQUOIS

Loses Sight While He Tells Symptoms.

In the final stages of going blind, George McGown, 40 years old, a ship's fireman out of a job, visited the Iroquois hospital yesterday. He confessed that throughout the winter he had been drinking radiator alcohol obtained at gasoline filling stations.

This is the sixth case of blindness caused by drinking denatured alcohol, or gin or moonshine made from denatured alcohol, that the hospital had recorded in the last eight months, according to Dr. Edwin Wachlin, superintendent of the hospital.

Two Young Men Victims.

"Whether any of the six men, whom we sent to the County hospital, recovered their eyesight, we have not learned, as they failed to report back to us," said Dr. Wachlin. "All of them were totally blind when they left us.

"Most of the cases were men who were habitués of West Madison street saloons who apparently had established some immunity to the poisons in denatured alcohol. But two of them were young men. One entered the hospital shortly before Christmas, one shortly afterward, both totally blind.

Goes Blind in Hospital.

"McGown decided two days ago he would quit drinking, he told us. Without the alcohol his system was accustomed to, he became ill. The slight dimness of vision he had been bothered with became more noticeable. As he sat in the hospital telling his story, he became blind."

McGown was taken to the County hospital.

EX-PROFESSOR FACES ANOTHER CONTEMPT CASE

Joseph M. Synnerdahl, former professor of mathematics and astronomy at Loyola university, faces another contempt of court action on a charge that he has not returned clothing and jewelry valued at $5,000 to his estranged wife, Mrs. Ethel Kesner Synnerdahl, 644 Wrightwood avenue. The wife yesterday obtained an order from Superior Judge Sabath calling on Synnerdahl to show cause why he should not be held in contempt of court.

Synnerdahl recently served five days in the county jail under sentence by Superior Judge Gentzel, before whom he denied having the clothing. The sentence was imposed when an investigation revealed that Synnerdahl had taken the garments. At that time Judge Gentzel ordered the clothing returned to Mrs. Synnerdahl by March 29. Mrs. Synnerdahl said yesterday that she has not received it. She is suing for divorce on charges of cruelty. In an answer, filed by Attorney Thomas A. Green, Synnerdahl charges his wife with intimacy with other men.

WAITRESS HEARS $250,000 ESTATE IS AWAITING HER

Mrs. Mary Lou Bay, 28 years old, a waitress, living in the Bel-Ray hotel, 3150 North Racine avenue, will leave for New York today, where she expects to claim a $250,000 estate.

She says the estate was willed to her by her uncle, Rudolph Lizak, 78 years old, New York, a bachelor, who operated an automobile body concern.

A telegram informing her of the will arrived yesterday. Mr. Lizak died Friday, she said.

Mrs. Bay for the last three years has been a waitress in the Hickory Inn, 95 West 86th street. Her mother, Mrs. Mary Lizak, 5801 West 63d street, operates a punch press in a factory at 63d and South La Salle streets. Her husband, James Bay, from whom she is separated, she said, also operates a punch press in a factory.

RASKOB DEFENDS GIFTS TO WETS; DANIELS CALLED

Senate Lobby Inquisitors Clash Over Questions.

Washington, D. C., April 4.—[Special.]—Bitter political squabbles between senate lobby committee members today featured what was supposed to be an investigation of the activities of John J. Raskob, Democratic national committee chairman, as a director of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment.

The upshot of the session was a summons for former Secretary of the Navy Josephus Daniels to appear next Tuesday to explain an editorial in his newspaper, the Raleigh, N. C., News-Observer, denouncing Raskob's stand against Volsteadism as "a party peril" and demanding his resignation from the chairmanship.

Denies Activities Intertwined.

Contenting himself whenever possible with simple "yes" or "no" answers, which obviously disconcerted Senator Arthur Robinson [Rep., Ind.], Raskob denied that he "intertwined" his activities as chairman of the Democratic committee and director of the association. As a matter of fact, he testified, although he has contributed $64,500 to the association in the last three years and is pledged to give another $30,000 this year, he knows little of its work.

"I have been very careful about that," Raskob declared. "I feel that as chairman I should do nothing to commit the Democratic party on either side of this question. My feeling is that there is no one able to commit the party except the convention and certainly not the chairman."

Drys Attend Hearing.

Standing on the fringes of the hearing room crowd which roared with laughter at the bitter exchanges between the senators or at Raskob's sallies were F. Scott McBride, general superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League; his assistant, Ira Champion, and Dr. E. L. Crawford, secretary of the Methodist church, South, board of temperance and social service, which is headed by Bishop James Cannon Jr.

The most spirited clash of the hearing came when Robinson, after reading Daniels' editorial, bluntly asked Raskob if he intended to resign in response to the former cabinet member's demand.

"Don't answer that," Senator T. H. Caraway [Dem., Ark.] told Raskob.

"I protest," added Senator T. J. Walsh [Dem., Mont.]. "I'm not going to allow this hearing to be turned into a show, and if the senator persists he can appeal to the senate."

"But the same question was asked Claudius Huston, the Republican chairman, when he was a witness here and the record will show it," Robinson insisted.

"No, it won't show anything of the kind," declared Caraway. The question went unanswered until after the hearing, when Raskob declared he has no intention of resigning.

Raskob explained that the purpose of the association against the prohibition amendment is to "elect members of congress favoring its views rather than trying to persuade members already elected."

Two Definitions of Lobbying.

"The whole purpose is to influence legislation, is it not?" asked Senator Robinson.

"Yes," answered Raskob.

"Then it is a lobbying organization," continued Robinson.

"No," answered Raskob, "my understanding of lobbying is to send people into the corridors of the capitol and the offices of members to influence votes one way or another."

"Well, an organization attempting to influence legislation is a lobby," asserted Robinson, who declared he would ask for an accounting of the expenditures of the association to determine if the contributions of the Democratic national chairman are being used to elect wet Republicans opposed by dry Democrats."

Mustn't Dabble in Politics.

"I object to that question," interrupted Walsh. "It's irrelevant and I won't have this committee going into politics."

"O my, no," said Robinson sarcastically, "of course this inquiry has not been diverted into politics before."

When Raskob admitted he is still a vice president of the E. I. du Pont de Nemours company Robinson asked if he was aware that Senator Pat Harrison [Dem., Miss.] said on the floor during the recent tariff debate that the Democratic chairman had severed his connection with the corporation.

"What has all this to do with the inquiry?" demanded Caraway.

"A whole lot———" began Robinson.

"Well, call Senator Harrison then," snapped Caraway.

"Some of the senators don't want to appear here, it seems," retorted Robinson. "One of them, and I refer to Senator King, went to Europe."

Senator King [Dem., Utah], who is said to be traveling in Europe for his health, received campaign contributions, according to evidence before the committee, from H. A. Metz, American agent of the German dye monopoly.

Raskob reiterated that he never read Daniels' editorial warning that his retention as national chairman constituted "a party peril." Raskob added, in response to Robinson's questions, that he has never met Daniels and does not know whether the latter was ever a Democratic national committeeman.

"I mention this," said Robinson, after reading the editorial, "because this is a serious charge from a prominent member of the Democratic party———"

"O, no, no," protested Caraway.

"And Mr. Raskob said he left the Republican party so he could help this great cause," continued Robinson.

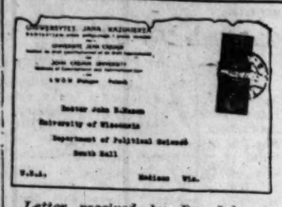
FROM LWOW, POLAND.



Letter received by Dr. John B. Mason, University of Wisconsin, Madison, Wis.

The writer of the above letter is a former professor at the University of California, who returned to his native land after the restoration of Poland as a result of the great war. He is Prof. Ludwik Ehrlich, director of the institute of constitutional and international law at the John Casimir university of Lwów.

During the war this city, then known as Lemberg, was the center of heavy fighting when the Russians invaded Galicia, only to be driven out later by Gen. von Mackensen, who came to the relief of the hard pressed Austrians with a German army. The victory, however, failed of permanent value and the treaty of Versailles brought Galicia and its capital, Lemburg, back to Poland, from which it was separated by the partition of 1772.

Lwów is an important industrial town, the third in size in Poland and having a population of about 225,000.

Boy Freed of Charge of Causing Sister's Death

Joseph Portugese, 18 years old, 900 Sibley street, whom the police had blamed for the death of his sister, Mary, 21 years old, found shot on March 25, was released yesterday by Judge Allegretti in Boys' court. The judge rejected a confession which the youth alleged the police had forced from him by beating, and ruled there was insufficient evidence to support a murder charge.

YOUNG NEIGHBOR OF SLAIN WOMAN IS QUESTIONED

Asked to Assist Police Search for Clews.

Walter Deans, 23 years old, who lives with his mother and two sisters next door to the apartment at 5820 West Lake street in which Mrs. Charlotte Mildred Helsing was strangled on Tuesday evening was asked by the Austin police last night to help in gathering information which might lead to a solution.

According to the police, Deans mailed a copy of an evening newspaper carrying an account of the slaying to a chum at Ottawa, Ont., yesterday morning. Postal clerks saw a message written across the top of the newspaper. The message read:

"Hello Jim—Hello Crafty. We just had a wild party staged in our apartment. I was at home that afternoon and the cops wanted to know everything I did, but so far my alibis have been good. I'll be seeing you."

Found Drilling with Guard.

Deans, a member of the Illinois National Guard, was found drilling with his company at the armory of the 122d field artillery and was invited to go to the Austin station by Lieut. Albert Hoffman. He readily admitted having written the note on the newspaper.

Lieut. Hoffman said he was inclined to accept Deans' explanation that the alibi reference was a joke, but decided to ask him to remain for further questioning this morning by Chief of Detectives Stege. Deans, a Canadian by birth, was employed until three weeks ago by an Oak Park department store and has since been job hunting. Officers of the guard unit described him as of good character.

The police last night continued their search for a red haired young man who was seen several times in the neighborhood of the Helsing home before the slaying. The youth, who rang doorbells at several homes, offering to sell dress snaps or cards of hooks and eyes, or soliciting signatures for a boys' club proposition, came under suspicion on Thursday when Mrs. J. C. Jorgensen, 5948 West Lake street, told of his breaking into her home.

Yesterday several women informed the police they had seen the youth under circumstances that convinced the investigators that he was a prowler who gained entrance to homes when he discovered that the occupants were absent.

Story of Oak Park Woman.

Mrs. George Schneider, 61 Chicago avenue, Oak Park—a few blocks from the Helsing apartment—said that several days ago, while she was lying down, the doorbell rang and she did not get up to answer it. She saw the door slowly open and a young man with red hair peered in, but upon seeing her he backed out and slammed the door, she told the police.

John Kinsella, also living at 61 Chicago avenue, Oak Park, reported to Sergt. Albert Lauderdale that he had encountered a red haired youth at his front door a few weeks ago, who said he was seeking names in order to get a charter for a club.

The same afternoon Mrs. E. W. Rowe, who lives in the same building, reported that her home had been ransacked.

Mrs. M. H. Wheat, also of 61 Chicago avenue, said the young man called at her home. After the bell was rung several times, she said, she went to a window overlooking the porch and a red haired youth, seemingly startled by her appearance, took a package of dress snappers from a coat pocket, showed them to her and then ran quickly away.

The funeral of Mrs. Helsing was held yesterday at the home of her father, Frank H. Carson, at 325 West Marion street, Joliet. Pallbearers were all former classmates of Mrs. Helsing at the Joliet High school, from which she was graduated eight years ago. They are James Bell, Julius Westphal Jr., Rupert Barners, George Arbeiter, Robert Fraser, and Lewis Woodruff.

Philadelphian Had Life Insurance on Mate.

Sebring, Fla., April 4.—(AP)—With William R. Carver, former Philadelphia real estate man, held without bond on murder charges, a coroner's jury late today returned a new verdict in the triple slayings at the Carver home last Wednesday.

Re-summoned after discovery of new evidence, the jury heard witnesses and held that Mrs. Carver and her small son met death at the hands of persons unknown to them. The first verdict of the jury was that Ben Whitehead, Negro, killed the woman and child with an ax, and was in turn slain by Carver "in justifiable homicide."

The jury recommended that a grand jury further investigate the case. The grand jury has been called to meet tomorrow.

The case was reopened last night when the sheriff arrested Carver and held him for questioning. Discovery of a $10,000 double indemnity insurance policy on Mrs. Carver's life, payable to her husband, and stories related by neighbors and others, were cited by the sheriff as his reasons for the act.

Carver's statement was that "they ought to know better." His version of the slayings, as told before the first coroner's jury, was that the Negro attacked and killed his wife and son while they were sleeping, and that he heard the screams from an adjoining room. He said he ran in and shot the Negro.

STATE SHIPWAY APPROVAL WON BY COMPROMISE

$7,500,000 Appropriation by U. S. Is Assured.

BY ARTHUR CRAWFORD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 4.—[Special.]—Action which is believed to insure legislation for federal completion of the Illinois state waterway was taken today by the house committee on rivers and harbors.

Unanimous committee approval of a $7,500,000 appropriation as recommended yesterday by Secretary of War P. J. Hurley was made possible by acceptance of a compromise proviso on the Chicago water diversion question by spokesmen for Illinois and for the lake states which have sponsored lake level litigation. The water diversion proviso appeared to make it certain that there would be no substantial opposition to the Illinois project either on the floor of the house or in the senate.

Smallest Flow Practical Is Decreed.

The proviso was embraced in a paragraph approved for insertion in the general rivers and harbors bill which will authorize new projects aggregating in excess of 100 million dollars. The text of the entire paragraph follows:

"Illinois river, Illinois, in accordance with the report of Gen. Lyttle Brown, chief of engineers, submitted in senate document No. ——, 71st congress, 2d session, and subject to the conditions set forth in his report in said document, except that the state of Illinois' plans of improvement are not adopted as to the volume or so as to require the volume of water contemplated in said plans, but the said project shall be so constructed as to require the smallest flow of water with which said project can be practically accomplished, in the development of a commercially useful waterway; and, provided that nothing in this act shall be construed as authorizing any diversion of water from Lake Michigan but the whole question of diversion from Lake Michigan shall remain and be unaffected hereby as if this act had not passed; provided, further, that there is hereby authorized to be appropriated for this project a sum not to exceed $7,500,000."

Illinois Men Satisfied.

Attorney General Carlstrom of Illinois, William R. Dawes of Chicago, president of the Mississippi Valley association, and Representative W. E. Hull [Rep., Ill.], who steered the project through the rivers and harbors committee, expressed complete satisfaction with the language of the proviso.

Raymond T. Jackson of Cleveland, attorney for the Lake Carriers association and special council for the state of Wisconsin in the lake level litigation, and the Ohio members of the rivers and harbors committee also said they were satisfied. Attorney General Bettman of Ohio, who insists that diversion of water at Chicago should be shut off entirely, was not so well pleased and said the proviso consisted of "weasel words which do not mean anything."

How Paragraph Was Drafted.

Mr. Jackson was responsible for the clause in the proviso which requires that the project "shall be so constructed as to require the smallest flow of water with which said project can be practically accomplished." This was accepted by Attorney General Carlstrom and Mr. Dawes after the latter had suggested the adding of the words "in the development of a commercially useful waterway."

The practical effect of the proviso, in the opinion of Attorney General Carlstrom, is to postpone a decision as to the ultimate amount of water required for navigation in the waterway between Chicago and the Mississippi until the Supreme court decree, which may be announced within ten days, becomes completely effective, probably nine years hence.

Under the decree suggested in the Hughes master's report the maximum average diversion of water at Chicago would be reduced to 1,500 cubic feet per second at the end of a nine year period allowed for the construction of sewage treatment plants by the Chicago sanitary district. Until the diversion is reduced to 1,500 feet, which with the addition of domestic pumpage would mean a flow of 3,200 feet at Lockport, there would be ample water for the needs of the waterway. At the end of the nine year period the waterway would have been in operation for six or seven years and it would be much easier than at present to determine the amount of water necessary for the proper movement of traffic.

Either the secretary of war, if his authority to control the amount of diversion is recognized in the Supreme court decree, or congress, Attorney General Carlstrom believes, will be ready at that time to authorize whatever diversion is necessary.

According to the contention of Mr. Jackson on the other hand, the stipulation that the project shall be so constructed as to require "the smallest flow of water with which said project can be practically accomplished" means that the engineers must perfect plans for dredging and lock construction so as to permit operation of the waterway with a flow of only 1,000 cubic feet per second of water at Lockport.

HULL ADVISES MANUFACTURERS

Immediately upon the vote of the rivers and harbors committee on the bill Congressman William E. Hull of Peoria notified James L. Donnelly, executive vice president of the Illinois Manufacturers association, by wire.

Mr. Donnelly, in announcing receipt of the message, explained the benefits which will come from the waterway once it is finished.

"It will save 20 per cent on all freight rates involving rail and water transportation," he said. "It will allow fleets of barges to pass from the great lakes to the gulf of Mexico. It will make Illinois, now third, the first manufacturing state in the union. From 15 to 20 millions a year will be saved from the time of its opening, and 15 millions of tons of freight will be available for transportation annually. It will have a capacity of 60 million tons; some expert engineers estimate the capacity at 100 million tons, which may be doubled by building twin locks.

"Lasting and cumulative value will result from the waterway to the entire Mississippi valley, which covers 62 1-3 per cent of the area of the United States; 75 per cent of the manufacturing; 75 per cent of the agriculture, and 79 per cent of the mining in this country is represented in this area.

"The waterway will place Illinois on the coast."

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 4.—[Special.]—By a vote of 45 to 23 the senate late today passed and sent to the house the Norris resolution providing for government operation of the Muscle Shoals power and fertilizer project.

Administration forces divided on the final roll call, nine regular Republicans lining up with the radical Republicans and Democrats to pass the measure in substantially the same form that caused former President Coolidge to pocket veto it several years ago.

What little opposition manifested itself was led by Senators Arthur Vandenberg [Rep., Mich.], and Simeon Fess [Rep., O.], who attacked government operation in general and particularly provisions in the resolution which provide for the construction of the so-called Cove Creek dam and for the payment of a percentage of the proceeds of the power developed to the states of Alabama and Tennessee.

Both Are Voted Down.

An amendment sponsored by Vandenberg to eliminate the provision for the payment of 5 per cent of the gross proceeds from the power to each of the two states was defeated by a vote of 34 to 33 and Fess' amendment to kill the Cove Creek project was rejected without a record vote.

"This amounts," said Senator Vandenberg, "to perpetual franchise fees for the states of Alabama and Tennessee out of the federal treasury. Do we owe Alabama a continuous cash reward for permitting the federal government to develop Muscle Shoals? Why, Alabama has fought for ten years to get this development.

"Muscle Shoals has already cost the taxpayers of the whole country 125 millions and this bill provides for an expenditure of $52,000,000 more. All of this inures to the advantage of Alabama, and I do not complain about that, but I cannot subscribe to the doctrine that the rest of us owe Alabama a cash dividend, in addition, on our investment in her behalf."

Turns Guns on Tennessee.

The appeal for the construction of the Cove creek dam, 300 miles away from Muscle Shoals, in Tennessee, Vandenberg pointed out, is based on "flood control and navigation."

"We are asked to spend $35,000,000 or $40,000,000 on this project and in addition to pay Tennessee a percentage of the gross proceeds," continued Vandenberg. "It narrows down to this. Tennessee says, 'save us from floods, give us navigation, spend $40,000,000 on us, and then pay us a consideration on the deal.'"

Senator Fess joined Vandenberg in denouncing what both described as "the preposterous scheme to pay Alabama and Tennessee" and attacked the entry of the government into competition with private enterprise. He criticised the apathy displayed by the senate toward the resolution and pointed out that at the moment he spoke there were less than 20 senators on the floor.

"Here is a project," he said, "that already has cost the taxpayers 125 millions, and the $52,000,000 more proposed here is probably only an idea of what we shall be called upon to throw into the hole, yet we find empty seats and little interest."

Census Taker Calls and Finds Householder Dead

Thomas Kelly, 2364 Lincoln avenue, a census taker, smelled gas when he called at 2149 North Halsted street yesterday. Kelly walked in and found the householder, Charles Dossinger, 50 year old carpenter, in the kitchen, dead. A kettle of water on the gas stove had boiled over, extinguishing the flame, probably while Dossinger was dozing.

DAIRYMEN WIN CASEIN FIGHT IN TARIFF PARLEY

Washington, D. C., April 4.—(AP)—Rapid progress was made by the senate and house conferees on the tariff bill today, agreements being reached on nearly 100 rates in the chemical schedule. The senate conference committee continued to win a majority of the contests.

Casein, a product of skimmed milk used in the manufacture of paper, proved the first big point of contention. A final decision on the senate increase from 2½ to 5½ cents a pound went over. The house bill retains the existing levy.

Representative Garner of Texas, house Democratic conferee, in a speech to the house said the issue was whether the dairy or paper manufacturing interests were to be benefited, and expressed the belief that the house would be called upon to vote on the senate increase.

Representative Treadway, Massachusetts, and Bacharach, New Jersey, two of the three house Republican conferees, took the Texan to task for advocating the senate rate and for bringing to the house floor what happened in conference.

As a house conferee, they argued, Garner should stand up for the house rates.

The house minority leader replied that he never had stood for the house rates, and insisted he would continue to give full publicity to the conference actions.

Girl Ends Her Life by Leap from Fourth Story

Miss Jean White, 30 years old, killed herself early this morning when she leaped from a window in her fourth floor room at 56 West Schiller street. She fell in the alley at the rear of the building, almost striking the automobile of Carl F. Kaschuk, 64 West Schiller street. She was taken to Henrotin hospital, where she died. She left a note reading: "Good bye, Mother, this is the best way out." Her mother's name was not given. The girl is believed to be a waitress from Grand Rapids, Mich.

DEAD EMPRESS' HUSBAND SLAIN IN ABYSSINIA BATTLE

ADDIS ABABA, Abyssinia, April 4.—(AP)—It was reported here today that the unexpected death of the Empress Zauditu on Wednesday was caused partly by shock on hearing that her former husband, Ras Gugsa Olie, had been killed in a battle between his rebel force and the imperial troops of the regent and negus, Ras Taffari. The empress was in ill health when the news reached her.

Details of the battle, which occurred near Zebit last Monday, show that the rebels suffered a decisive defeat. While ostensibly making offers of submission to the negus, Ras Olie was understood to have planned a surprise attack by a force of 10,000 men, equipped with two pieces of artillery and ten machine guns.

The attempt was stemmed by an adroit maneuver on the part of the regent's war minister, Degiac Mulugheta, who commanded the imperial army of 20,000. His losses were insignificant.

400 BEST MINDS PLOT MIRACLES FOR CHICAGO FAIR

World's Wonders Will Be Exposition Keynote.

BY TOM PETTEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, April 4.—[Special.]—There is a group of scientists here plotting miracles for Chicago's Century of Progress exposition in 1933. The physicists, the geologists, botanists, chemists, anthropologists and engineers are interpreting natural science with a view to making its wonders the keynote of the exposition.

Four hundred trained minds throughout the country are working for the fair and today the scheme is being put together by the national research council here. An advisory committee of which Dr. Frank R. Jewett, head of the Bell Telephone laboratories, is chairman, is sifting more than 1,000 original suggestions and proposals sent in by thirty-two groups composed of universities, technical schools, colleges and industrial laboratories.

For 80,000,000 Laymen.

There will be nothing technical about the natural science exhibit, according to the research council workers, for it is being planned for the laymen—more than 80,000,000 of them—and the technical will be discarded for the picturesque and dramatic. These are some of the wonders that will be seen:

What the solar system looks like when it is speeded up a bit.

How the earth was created and cross sections of it that reveal its true age.

Steel making, gold mining and electric lighting staged in a manner that will be easily understood by sightseers. The great engineering undertakings of modern times also will be reproduced in miniature, including the Mississippi river flood control plan, the Panama canal and the Boulder dam.

Beetles as Insect Sees Them.

Magnification will be one of the highlights. Visitors will see the insides of beetles enlarged until they are larger than elephants and through specially constructed lenses as eyes will be able to look out from inside the huge beetle's head on a world as the insect sees it.

Grasshoppers as big as Pullman cars will be on exhibition and the central states farmers will be enabled to see the interior mechanism of the bugs that he has to fight every season.

Vegetables, fruits, and fabrics will look as highly magnified as the insect world. An atom magnified until it is as big as a box. Each division of science will have its special show, according to the research workers who though they talk of highly magnified things are not magnifying their statements.

Peterson to Advertise Fair.

While the Chicago fair architects hold their important meetings in New York from time to time and the scientists making this city their data gathering headquarters, New York is getting exposition conscious.

Charles S. Peterson, vice president of the exposition, came to New York yesterday to advertise the fair. This afternoon he was the guest of honor at a "Chicago world's fair exposition" luncheon with the Forum magazine as host.

The leading railroad men, architects, geographical society directors, engineers, and advertising men were present at the luncheon. Mr. Peterson told them about the exposition and invited New York to "forget its fears and come to the fair in 1933."

There'll Be Many Venuses.

"Why, even King George and all the other royalty of Europe has been invited to attend," said Mr. Peterson, "and a lot of them will be there."

Among the latest attractions for the fair, Mr. Peterson said, are a number of paintings from the Louvre which have never been shown in America. The Hermes, by Praxiteles, has been promised by the Greek government and will be sent over in a dirigible.

"There will be plenty of Venuses," Mr. Peterson told the gathering.

"And Bacchus?" asked a railroad vice president.

"You never can tell," said the Chicagoman. "There may be a few on the outskirts of town."

DIES FROM SKULL FRACTURE.

Jay A. Peterson, 63 years old, 3930 Ellis avenue, died yesterday in the county hospital of a skull fracture incurred on Tuesday. The police were unable to learn how Peterson was injured.

DIES IN HOSPITAL

MRS. KATHERINE C. THORNE.

MRS. W. C. THORNE, WIDOW OF RICH MERCHANT, DEAD

Her Death Follows an Operation and Illness.

Mrs. Katherine Comstock Thorne, widow of the late William C. Thorne, vice president of Montgomery Ward & Co., died yesterday afternoon at the Grant hospital. Mrs. Thorne, who had been a prominent figure in Chicago's social circles, was 66 years of age. She had been an invalid for the last several years. Her death followed an operation some days ago for gallstones.

Mrs. Thorne is survived by her son, Gordon C. Thorne, who is now returning from a trip to Europe, and by one daughter, Mrs. Helen Norcott. She had made her home at 3314 Sheridan road with her sister, Mrs. Fred Ingalls. Another sister, Mrs. Richard Smith, died a year ago.

Widow Since 1917.

William C. Thorne died in 1917, leaving his wife an estate estimated at $3,000,000. She later became the wife of William C. Camp, well known bon vivant and retired bond salesman. A long and lively period of litigation followed Mrs. Thorne's filing of a suit in 1922 to obtain from Camp an accounting of her estate, which she claimed to have virtually turned over to his control, and the revocation of a $350,000 trust fund she stated she had established for him.

Marriage Ends in Divorce.

This stormy martial experience, which ended in divorce, was subsequently the basis of two suits filed against Mrs. Thorne, one by Mary Lygo, Follies actress, who claimed that her good name had been injured by remarks made by Mrs. Thorne, and another by Cyrus R. Shipman, a Riddle, Ore., rancher, who asserted that Mrs. Thorne had agreed to pay him $100,000 if he succeeded in securing a divorce for Camp from his first wife, which he declared he had done.

No funeral arrangements have been made.

TWO SUBURBAN TRAINS CRASH ON W. SIDE ELEVATED

A local train of the Chicago, Aurora and Elgin road rammed the rear of an express train of the same road at 5:18 o'clock last evening while the latter train was loading passengers at the Halsted street station. About 150 passengers on each of the outbound three car trains were jolted from their seats and one, Alfred Galuzzo, 45 years old, 458 North Peoria street, was taken to Mother Cabrini hospital, suffering a dislocated hip.

J. W. Dryden, motorman of the local train, is believed to have misjudged the distance necessary for a close stop. He was relieved of his post and taken to the offices of the road for questioning. The front trucks on the local train were derailed and traffic on the westbound inside track was blocked more than an hour until the coach was righted.

WOMAN DIES FROM INJURY.

Mrs. Margaret Barron, 78 years old, 1410 Leland avenue, died yesterday in the Lake View hospital of a fracture of the hip suffered March 30.

CHICAGOAN TELLS NIGHT OF TERROR ON EGYPT DESERT

Gordon Thorne Says Arabs Attacked His Wife.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, April 4.—A solemn warning to beware of the lure of the pyramids, the Sphinx in the moonlight, or the starlight on Egypt's desert was sounded by Gordon C. Thorne of Chicago and his wife while here on a visit. Mr. Thorne is a son of the late William C. Thorne, one of the founders of Montgomery Ward & Co.

"It may sound romantic to camp at the foot of the pyramids on the desert, but for us it proved a ghastly experience," Mr. Thorne said. "When in Egypt I heard that many others had had similar and worse encounters, but I never read about them and I think the public ought to know about them.

The Thrills of Camping.

"We were taking part in a Mediterranean cruise. The folders told us all about the thrill of a night in camp at the foot of a pyramid and the entire cruising party dutifully pitched camp to enjoy the thrill. Dark figures hovered in the background all around the camp, but we had five guards and nobody thought much about them. But over the last nightcap the men got together and talked of arms and ammunition. It was discovered that there was only one revolver in the entire camp."

Then Mrs. Thorne interrupted to tell of her horror at waking up to see a huge, swarthy Arab in their tent, his eyes glowing red from liquor and hashheesh, the horror of feeling his hand on her arm trying to drag her out. She screamed. Mr. Thorne woke up, she said, and kicked the Arab out after a battle.

Guards Refuse to Help.

The uproar in camp increased as at the other end of the row of tents an elderly wealthy Philadelphia woman began screaming for help against a drunken native, Mrs. Thorne continued. The five guards, she charged, proved blind and deaf to the calls for help of the American tourists.

Mr. Thorne has been divorced three times and married four times. His first wife, Virginia Millner, divorced him in 1921. In 1922 he married Mary McGinnis, who obtained a divorce in 1925. Wife No. 3 was Anne Clore, whom he married in 1926. She secured a divorce in 1928. His present wife, a former nurse of Ashland, Wis., was the former Mrs. Marion Bolin. They were married in February, 1929.

FIND H. H. SAXON KILLED HIMSELF WHILE INSANE

A coroner's jury late yesterday decided that Hugh H. Saxon, vice president of the Continental Illinois Bank and Trust company, killed himself by slashing his throat in his home at 738 11th street, Wilmette, earlier in the day, while temporarily insane due to ill health. Mr. Saxon's body was found at 4 a. m. in a pantry of his home by Mrs. Rose Brodeur, his mother-in-law, who, according to her custom, arose at that hour to prepare breakfast for her grandchildren.

Officials at the bank stated Mr. Saxon had been in ill health for a long time and that they believed his mind had suffered on account of his condition. Mrs. Brodeur testified at the inquest that Mr. Saxon had been ill for more than a year, following a hemorrhage, that he had recently suffered from an attack of flu, which had left him the victim of acute melancholia.

The banker was only 37 years old. He was brought to Chicago by the bank that employed him from Augusta, Ga., in 1925. He is survived by his widow, his sons, Hugh Jr., 15, and Bernard, 13; and his daughters, Cecelia, 11, and Annette, 5.

Vaccinate Over Million in Mexico's Smallpox Scare

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MEXICO CITY, April 4.—A smallpox scare here has set the health and medical departments working overtime and more than 1,000,000 vaccinations have been made in the uplands of Mexico within a few weeks. The health department ran out of vaccine, and a hurried call brought 3,000 injections from Philadelphia by airplane this morning, with a promise of 20,000 more tomorrow.

A SUIT is Known by the Company it Keeps

And if the company isn't right, the suit's completely out of the picture. It's an ensemble age, and men who know what's right appreciate the exclusive style that picks its own companions.

Take, for instance, the new spring suits in the distinctive blues that are so popular. Not just any shirt, or tie, or hat will make this suit feel at ease. It can afford to be high-hat—and knows it.

Because Mandel's realizes this fine point of style, many men who never knew what a department store was before are buying their Easter outfits in the Men's Shops . . . where they know they can get correct style harmony at a lower price than they had expected to pay. They know that Mandel's is —a store of youth—a store of fashion —a store of moderate price

SWANSON SAYS OFFICIALS EVADE CIVIL SERVICE

New April Grand Jury to Continue Quiz.

The grand jury investigation of city hall affairs has disclosed that the department heads have practically nullified civil service in order to appoint political favorites through 60 day appointments, according to a statement issued yesterday by State's Attorney Swanson. The grand jury adjourned without voting any indictments on the evidence submitted by the state's attorney's office or making any report on the subject.

Prosecutor Swanson says that the mass of evidence is so voluminous that it is necessary to continue the investigation before the April grand jury, which will be sworn in next week.

Legal Provision Cited.

His statement cites the legal requirement that all municipal employés, with certain specific exceptions, should be under civil service. He then quotes the law allowing department heads in emergencies to make 60 day appointments.

"In spite of the civil service law," Mr. Swanson says, "the number of non-civil service employés in the departments thus far investigated totals 1,581 as against 4,058 civil service employés. In other words, three-eighths of all the employés in the departments investigated are temporary 60 day appointees.

"The city license department offers an illustration of this condition. In January of this year that department had 207 employés, only 96 of which were civil service employés. The building department of which Christian P. Paschen is head, offers another illustration. In that department whole classifications of men are working as temporary 60 day appointees and no examinations have ever been held for the positions.

Puts Blame on Board.

"The system of 60 day appointments seems to have had the sanction of the civil service commission for the last three years, for many 60 day appointees have been working continuously for three years by means of renewal of temporary appointments."

The fight of the prosecutor's office for records of the U. S. A. company, electrical contractors, in connection with the sanitary district graft investigation, was delayed yesterday because First Assistant State's Attorney John E. Northup failed to appear in Chief Justice D. J. Normoyle's court to press his request for a subpoena duces tecum.

Fireman Is Hurt Fighting Blaze; May Lose Eyesight

Fireman George Offord, 31 years old, of Engine company 60, may lose his eyesight, physicians said, as the result of injuries suffered in a fire and slight explosion which damaged a two story frame dwelling at 5408 Kenwood avenue early yesterday. Offord was struck by falling glass and was taken to the Billings Memorial hospital. It is believed the fire started from matches which had been accidentally dropped in the hallway of the home. The damage was estimated at $500.

GAS ACCIDENT CAUSES DEATH.

Mrs. Pauline Brinkman, 55 years old, was found asphyxiated by gas yesterday in the kitchen of her home at 7774 Elm Grove drive, Elmwood Park. The police believed Mrs. Brinkman was overcome by the gas after a heart attack.

INDIA STRIKE RIOT

Demanding free transport to the suburban station of Byculla, native railroad strikers stormed Bombay station. Police wounded 30 when they answered the barrage of stone with rifle fire.

SURFACE LINES INSPECTOR ACTS AS DRY INFORMER

How an inspector for the surface lines acted as an informer for the prohibition department was disclosed in the federal court of Judge Woodward yesterday, when the case against James O'Malley, a street car conductor living at 1511 Olive street, was dismissed.

The evidence showed that a search warrant for a raid on O'Malley's place was obtained on an affidavit made by James Whitmere, the street railway inspector, who claimed he bought a pint of liquor from O'Malley on Nov. 6. Dry agents raided the place and charged O'Malley with possession of liquor and maintaining a nuisance.

O'Malley had three witnesses who testified that he was at another place at the time Whitmere alleged he bought the liquor, whereupon Judge Woodward dismissed the case.

Judge Woodward fined one Philip Kessner, arrested by dry agents in the Y. M. C. A. hotel, only $1. The drys were called in by the house detective and a search of Kessner's room was made without a warrant.

800,000 on Census List as 3d Day of Work Ends

About 800,000 Chicagoans in approximately 115,000 homes had been enumerated by the census takers at the close of the third day's work yesterday. The bulk of the enumerators started on the large apartment house districts during the day and slower progress over the areas is predicted for today and next week, the final period of the population and unemployment count. Some of the enumerators have already finished their districts and are starting on others, it was announced.

BOMBAY POLICE FIRE ON STRIKE MOB; INJURE 30

Natives Storm Railroad Station; Hurl Stones.

BULLETIN.

BOMBAY, India, April 5.—(AP)—Mahatma Gandhi, Indian nationalist leader, and the devotees who have followed him from Ahmabad arrived early today at Dandi, near Jalapur, where they plan to break the British salt laws as the first step in the campaign for Indian independence.

BOMBAY, India, April 4.—(AP)—Police today fired on a crowd of striking Indian railwaymen, injuring 30 persons, including two European bystanders. A police sergeant and Miss B. Hay and H. B. Burley were taken to the hospital.

The encounter occurred outside the Victoria terminal of the Great Indian Peninsular railway, where 2,000 strikers were demonstrating.

Demand Free Transport.

The natives forced their way into the station and demanded to be taken to the station of Byculla, in the environs of the city. Railway officials replied by shutting the platform gates, an action that so incensed the strikers that they burst into an uproarious disturbance.

The police were sent for, but when they arrived the strikers received them with a barrage of stones. They retaliated by opening fire.

Order has been restored, and the police were on guard tonight around the station.

Gandhi Nears His Goal.

Addressing a meeting this evening, Gandhi said the district of Jalalpur had been selected for the violation by Vallabhai Patel, one of Gandhi's chief lieutenants and brother of V. J. Patel, speaker of the Indian legislative council. Vallabhai Patel was arrested and imprisoned shortly before Gandhi's march began.

The Nationalist leader said Patel had chosen the Jalalpur district for violation of the salt law because the monopoly was enforced more strictly there than elsewhere in the Gujerat.

CANAL OFFICIAL ORDERS QUIZ IN HIGHWAY DEATH

Sanitary District Cop Injured.

Edward J. Kelly, chief engineer for the sanitary district, yesterday ordered an investigation into the automobile accident which resulted in the death of Gordon Ryder, 18 years old, 4441 North Laporte avenue, and injuries to four companions. One of the companions, Fred Sandstrom, 5058 North Lincoln street, is a sanitary district policeman.

Ryder was fatally injured on Thursday when the automobile in which he was riding crashed into a light post at McCormick road and Pratt boulevard. His companions admitted that they had been drinking, officials said. Kelly stated that if the investigation reveals that Sandstrom was drinking so as to constitute a peril to himself and others he will be discharged.

Ryder's death and two others raised the 1930 Cook county motor toll to 223. The other victim:

Stephen Smardowicz, 10 years old, 3534 West 39th street. Fatally injured when he ran against the side of a truck while he was playing in the street in front of 3810 South Kedzie avenue.

Mrs. Amelia Flask, 78 years old, 937 Clarence avenue, Oak Park. Died from injuries received on Feb. 27 in a collision at Cicero avenue and 59th street.

Wilbert Meyer, 4501 Sheridan road, whose automobile is alleged to have killed Donald O'Brien, 4 years old, 1656 Addison street, on March 16, was arrested yesterday. Meyer left the scene of the accident, witnesses said, after another motorist started for a hospital with the child. He was traced through his license number and arrested when police found him at a new address, authorities stated. He formerly lived at 2324 South Spaulding avenue.

Seven Hurt in Crash.

Seven persons were injured, one of them perhaps fatally, last night when two automobiles, driven by Harold Hokans, 21 years old, of Waukegan, and John Lolenski, 596 Vine avenue, Highland Park, collided and turned over at Waukegan road and route No. 22, two miles north of Deerfield. Mrs. Selma Hermanson, 49 years old, 632 Lincoln avenue, Waukegan, who was riding in Hokans' car, suffered a fracture of the pelvis and is reported in a critical condition.

Mrs. Hermanson's two children, Dorothy, 12 years old, and Eskel, 22, and Hokan's mother, Mrs. Hilda Hokans, 138 North Butrick street, Waukegan, who were in the same car, and Frank Parker of Highland Park, Lolenski's nephew, were injured less seriously. All seven are in the Highland Park hospital.

COMPLETE JURY TO TRY EX-UNION AGENT AS KILLER

Approximately 250 veniremen were examined before twelve jurors, pledged to the death penalty in a proper case, could be sworn in to try Melville Purves, 35 years old, former business agent, charged with the murder of his successor in the union, E. J. Tracey. The jury was completed late yesterday afternoon in Judge Daniel P. Trude's court. The attorneys had worked since Monday morning trying to qualify a jury.

The death penalty was the chief obstacle in finding qualified jurors, court attachés said. Assistant State's Attorney Walker Butler rejected many veniremen because they said they would not inflict the extreme penalty. The recent anti-gun toting campaign conducted by the police also showed its effects in the jury box, according to observers. Attorney Harold Levy and Emmet Byrne, for the defense, disqualified several jurors who said they would be prejudiced against any civilian, no matter what the excuse, who carried a revolver.

Purves formerly was business agent for the sign painters and bulletin board hangers union. He was replaced by Tracey, his boyhood friend. The state charges that because of jealousy he shot down Tracey, but the defense contends that he acted in self-defense.

CANADA REFUSES PAUL WHITEMAN PERMIT TO PLAY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VANCOUVER, B. C., April 4.—Annoyed because immigration authorities refused to allow him to play two dance engagements, Paul Whiteman, jazz band leader, canceled a concert here tonight a few hours before the opening curtain.

"I have canceled all three concerts," he said, "because it wouldn't be fair to fulfill one and not the others. I will make the city an offer and since I can't play for hire, I will play for any charity at a Saturday night dance."

Whiteman also complains that he was allowed to advertise his concert and dance for ten days; that special arrangements were made to extend dancing hours for his hotel show and only at 9 a. m. today, the day of his concert, was he informed of the department of immigration's ruling. "It is hardly fair," he concluded.

ASSASSIN SHOOTS ESTHONIAN ARMY CHIEF; JAIL REDS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TALLINN, Esthonia, April 4.—Gen. Unt, chief of the Tallinn garrison and head of the third division of the Esthonian army, was shot and probably fatally wounded by an assassin as he was entering his home last night.

The assailant fired two shots from a revolver into the general's head, one penetrating a lung and the other injuring the spine. Surgeons hold out little hope for his recovery.

Today the police arrested a number of Communist suspects. The Reds had threatened Gen. Unt for his participation in the suppression of the Communist putsch on Dec. 1, 1924, which nearly succeeded in establishing a soviet form of government in Esthonia, and which resulted in more than 100 Reds being executed.

"Simplicity is, of all things, the hardest to be copied"

—RICHARD STEELE

AND Steele might very well have added that simplicity as it applies to foods is impossible of being copied.

Probably this is why ice cream makers find it so difficult to "copy" the goodness of Hydrox. There just isn't any "copy" or substitute for the simplicity of pure rich cream, sweet milk, fresh fruits, and pure sugar. And these, as everybody knows, constitute at once the simplicity and goodness of Hydrox Ice Cream.

MANDEL'S 75TH YEAR

U. S. AND BRITAIN SPIKE JAPANESE BIG CRUISER PLEA

Tokio Asks Right to Raise Replacement Tonnage.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 4.—The Japanese delegation to the five power naval conference today attempted to secure an increase in cruiser tonnage to be allotted Japan under the terms of the proposed three power agreement. The British and American delegations refused flatly to yield further concessions.

Finding themselves up against a stone wall in this matter, the Japanese apparently dropped the proposition and proceeded with discussions of the other amendments to the agreement that Tokio has asked as a condition of Japanese acceptance of a three power agreement.

Japan Seeks Bigger Cruisers.

The question of increased tonnage for Japan arose in connection with the eventual replacement of Japanese eight inch gun cruisers of 7,000 tons displacement. These cruisers were completed only a few years ago and are not eligible for replacement during the life of the treaty now under negotiation.

It appears, however, that Japan would, like to replace these cruisers with a larger type. Japan would thereby get 12,000 tons additional cruiser tonnage, or nearly 70 per cent of the tonnage of America's 18 eight inch gun cruisers which Tokio originally demanded.

U. S. Grants 60% Ratio.

The American delegation has already refused to concede Japan more than 60 per cent of the tonnage of the United States' big cruisers, although it has agreed that the United States will complete only 15 of its 18 cruisers by 1936, thereby giving Japan 60 per cent of its tonnage in this type of ships during the life of this treaty.

The Japanese brought up the question of getting this additional cruiser tonnage concession yesterday. Secretary of State Stimson and Prime Minister MacDonald took Mr. Wakatsuki's request under advisement overnight and delivered their adverse answer today.

The British informed the Japanese that in event of any ship of any type being wrecked, replacement with a vessel of any size which would not the maximum tonnage in that category to be exceeded could not be agreed to. They said that it would be unfair to exempt any power from the restriction involved in such contingencies. The American member of the committee supported the British stand.

FIVE POWER PACT FADES

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 4.—The last hopes for a five power treaty receded in the conference today. The proposed three power treaty between America, Great Britain, and Japan will be drawn in such a way that France and Italy may join later, when and if they have settled their differences and France and Great Britain have settled theirs.

A meeting was held today at which another attempt was made to find a formula which would allow France to show its naval demands in return for a guarantee of security which would be accepted by the British parliament. So far the attempt has failed. Another effort is to be made tomorrow morning. If this fails all that remains to be done is to draw up the five power treaty and wind up the conference. This is expected to be done by Easter.

Great Britain and France are said to have come at last to the conclusion that European problems are distinctly political, and not merely of figures and ratios, as in the case of the three naval powers. What has happened now, it is declared, is that Great Britain and France are trying to reconstruct the organization of Europe and find it is too big and too involved a job to be done in a hurry, and that it cannot be done at a conference held in London purely to discuss naval affairs.

ALBANIAN KING PLANS TO PROHIBIT WOMEN USING ORIENTAL VEILS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, April 4.—King Zog, the 35 year old monarch of Albania, tiny Adriatic kingdom, who has just turned his cabinet out of office and appointed another, is reported to have a lot of modern reform ideas like former King Amanullah Khan of Afghanistan. In addition to agrarian reforms, which include the dividing of big estates, King Zog is going to issue a decree prohibiting Albanian women from wearing face veils according to the Mohammedan practice. Many women have already given them up.

Furthermore, it is reported that the king wants to make the hojas, or Mohammedan priests, abandon wearing white turbans symbolic of their office. Still another reform envisages the prohibition of dervishes and their hypnotic dances where they swallow sabers and stick daggers through their cheeks.

The Albanian monarch used to be called Ahmed Beg Zogu and was just a plain president until he decided to be king. He dropped the two oriental first names and the final "u" in his last name because he wants, with Mussolini's help, to be as European as possible.

Leviathan on April 22. If, as is still remotely possible, M. Briand and Mr. MacDonald should find a formula tomorrow which satisfies them and seems likely of acceptance by Italy, it will have to be taken to Paris for final consideration, and probably also to Rome.

This could be done quickly, however, and it is expected that it will be possible to hold a plenary session toward the latter part of next week at which either an agreement or a break can be registered publicly.

The next step, if a five power agreement proves impossible, will be to tackle the "reconstruction of Europe" through the league of nations.

ITALY TICKLED BY MUSSOLINI'S IRON STAND AT LONDON

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, April 4.—Dino Grandi, Premier Mussolini's young foreign minister, won his diplomatic spurs in London yesterday, according to his countrymen. They accredit his stone wall stand before Prime Minister MacDonald and Foreign Secretary Henderson in a stormy conversation at St. James' palace with having forestalled an Anglo-French naval combine.

Mr. MacDonald and Mr. Henderson, according to the Italian version of yesterday's events, recoiled before the possibility of a complete disintegration of the league of nations and the Locarno pact if they went ahead with their proposed plan to make a deal with the French on the basis of a new interpretation of article 16 of the league covenant. As a result of Sig. Grandi's stand, it is said here, the British have now definitely rejected this proposal.

Threatens Locarno Pact.

The Italian version states that Sig. Grandi intimated to the British that Italy would be compelled to withdraw from the Locarno pact if what they were contemplating took place. He also is said to have intimated that if the conference broke up without recognition of Italy's claim to parity with France being obtained, Italy would proceed to establish parity by actually building a fleet equal to France's. This fleet may not be made up of 10,000 ton cruisers, either, but of new battleships, Sig. Grandi is supposed to have hinted.

Raps U. S.-Japanese Deal.

The Fascist stand meets with general approval, in view of what is considered a last minute attempt at Londay to confuse the issues and throw the blame for the failure of the conference on Italy. Roberto Davanzetti, a member of the grand Fascist council, tonight characterized the agreements between the United States, Great Britain, and Japan as temporizing compromises of a deceptive nature.

Sig. Davanzetti asserts that the Japanese-American agreement is an empty compromise which has possible conflict between the two countries as its sole premise.

Finally, Sig. Mussolini's councilor says that the French demands for a big navy are designed with the double purpose of denying parity to Italy and forcing the British Labor government to give France the same guarantees which were contained in the Conservative government's ill fated naval compromise plan, if they want France to bring her naval figures down to the point which will enable Mr. MacDonald to keep his parity deal with President Hoover.

"Let us stick to our guns and have no Don Quixotism," concluded Sig. Davanzetti.

FRENCHMAN LEAVES $27,000 RESIDENCE TO A. E. F. VETERAN

St. Louis, Mo., April 4.—(AP)—Charles M. Ziegler, St. Louis insurance man and former University of Maine football star, has been bequeathed a fine old brick residence in the village of Arnage in southern France where he was billeted as an American soldier during the world war.

Ziegler was a first lieutenant in the American expeditionary forces and the gift estimated to be worth $27,000, was the result of a friendship he struck up with Adolph Bonnet, then owner of the property, who died recently.

Bonnet was the town's wealthiest citizen. Ziegler became fond of the place and also of the old man during several months he was quartered there.

"I shall never sell it," Ziegler said. "I know how Mr. Bonnet felt about it. He gave it to me to remember him and to remember France."

The will of Judge William N. Gemmill of the Superior court was filed yesterday before Edward S. Scheffler, assistant to Probate Judge Horner. The estate is estimated at $50,000. The will provides that half of the estate go outright to his widow, Mrs. Edna Gemmill, and that she receive the interest on the remainder. At her death the estate is to be divided between a son, Attorney William B. Gemmill, and a sister, Mrs. D. B. Grosett. Judge Gemmill died of a heart attack in the Hyde Park hotel last Monday.

WOUNDS WIFE, TURNS GUN ON SELF; MAY DIE

Gunplay Ends Meeting for Reconciliation.

Wife Denies Love Claim.

Rage over his wife's statement at the luncheon table in the home of her mother, Mrs. Agnes Durey of 2032 Girard avenue, that she did not love him any more, led to the shooting by Fontana, according to the police. Mrs. Durey and her two other children, Walter, 19, and Betty, 18, were at the table when Fontana seized his wife by the throat and attempted to strangle her. They sprang to her assistance, but were unable to drag the infuriated man away.

Neighbors, attracted by the screams of the women, rushed in as Fontana released his wife and drew a .32 automatic from his pocket. He fired once, the bullet missing her by a few inches. His second shot struck her in the shoulder. He then turned the gun on himself, inflicting the wound that may cost his life. He pulled the trigger once more, but the weapon jammed.

Charges Abuse by Husband.

Mrs. Fontana said that her husband had been abusing her, so she left him three days ago. When she returned to their home at 977 Edgecomb place Thursday night they quarreled again, so yesterday morning she went to her mother's home. Her family had sought to bring about a reconciliation just before his outburst. Mrs. Fontana, they said, had agreed to return to her husband if he would agree never to beat her, and bitter words had followed.

The Fontanas have an infant son.

WOMAN DIES OF HEART DISEASE.

Here's Teacher of English and Novelist, Too

BY ALTA MAY COLEMAN.

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—Helen Hull belies that old aphorism: "He who can, does; he who can't, teaches." As artist, there's her new novel, "The Asking Price," which invests a familiar phase of modern life with new suspense.

HELEN HULL.

As teacher for eight years at Columbia university, Miss Hull is adept at answering "whys" and "wherefores" about the writing craft. Slender, tweed clad . . . her strongly limned features are dominated by large philosophical gray eyes. Her talk has the tang of practicality, of known fact . . . and sheds new light on our alleged commercial age.

The authors of this country, she says, must be numbered, not by the thousands who find their way into print, but by the tens of thousands who don't. "Almost every one wants some means of conscious self-expression. The majority of those who do not find it in the work which earns them a livelihood seek it in writing. They hope for recognition—from publisher, from public. But money, as such, is not their goal. No matter how crude their output, they are, primarily, artists."

"Don't get the idea," she warns her charges, "that the 'literary racket' is going to help you write. If you are busy writing, you haven't time for tea parties. Don't come to New York thinking that in six months you'll be able to find out whether you ought to go on writing.' Frequently it takes six years."

"People can't be taught to write," she says in reference to her class work. "But they can be taught to write better. Success comes to those with a high percentage of stubbornness to abet their talent."

Printer's ink was in Miss Hull's blood; her first book came at the age of eight—published by a proud grandfather, who for half a century ran a Michigan newspaper. Student, she was, at Michigan State and at Chicago universities; she came east first as teacher at Wellesley. Her four novels and many short stories have been written chiefly during summer vacations in the isolation of a rebuilt farmhouse in Maine. Next year she goes to Brittany with an uninterrupted year, by grace of a Guggenheim fellowship, to work on the next novel.

Charles and Kathleen Norris, but recently come from California for a month of New York, aimed their Friday afternoon "at home" this week at Mary Roberts Rinehart, in town for a few days. It was an intimate gathering of old friends who knew each other "when." They included Irvin Cobb, Will Irwin, Ray Long, with a dash here and there of the theatrical world; Constance Collier, Marc Connelly.

For a writer versed in the variety of life, the plush lined sirup jug must be awarded to Fred Rothermell, whose first book, "Fifth Avenue," sings the saga of that famous street. He has worked in freight office, bank, brokerage house, postoffice, and cannery; has been day laborer, doctor's orderly, nurse, paper carrier, painter in an electric light plant, window trimmer, reporter, and commercial artist. The previous record holder, according to best reports, is J. William Lloyd, whose "Eneres," so Havelock Ellis points out in his preface, is the work of a prophet. Mr. Lloyd, before he retired to his present hermitage atop a Rocky mountain, met life as cowpuncher, ranch hand, homesteader, sheriff, physician, sawmill worker, orange grocer, and lecturer.

Here's Anthology of Chief Events in Many Fields

"The American and European Scrap Books for 1930" are the only anthology published of important world news and literature. They gather together, to quote their editor, William Griffith, "the best that has been thought and said, conceived and executed during the last year in literature, art, science, invention, theology, statecraft, music, business, discovery and exploration" as represented by more than a thousand leaders of thought and action. The American scrap book for this year [this is the third annual issue, I believe], is dedicated to Thomas A. Edison, and the European to Prime Minister J. Ramsay MacDonald.

ABOUT TOMBAREL, WHO WIELDED HIGH AND LOW JUSTICE

From Tombarel, the name of the patriarch of the little mountain village of Creille in the Alps Maritimes, this latest book of William J. Locke's takes its title.

It is a series of short stories, all happening either in Creille or to some member of the few families that had their being there, and all watched over or participated in or resolved by old Tombarel, who had the finest golden wine of the district.

They are tales of rough justice indeed. The story of Madeline, the beautiful daughter of an old father who was made an invalid in the war, and a grandfather who was bitterly poor is characteristic. She was sought in marriage by the son of the richest man in town. She refused him. A feud grew up between the families because of her refusal.

She visited her parents often—she said she was lady's maid to a very indulgent mistress. She provided her parents with modest luxuries and gave them unremitting love. Finally she promised to consider the idea of marriage and asked for a year in which to make up her mind. On a trip to Paris the young man accidentally saw her in a café with a wealthy man. She refused to recognize him. He was crazed. He followed her to her house and shot her. The girl was a famous courtesan, like du Barry.

To the young man she was only a scarlet woman.

When the girl appeared, only slightly wounded in the arm, but terrified lest her parents find out where she got the money that gave them comfort, the young man was brought home crazed with the thought that he was a murderer. She pretended blank innocence, and old Tombarel told the young man that if he so much as even hinted that the girl he had shot during his drink crazed fury was Madeline he would shoot him dead. When the English painter (who writes the stories) is surprised at the threat, old Tombarel says "I would kill him not only without hesitation, but with the greatest pleasure. We are mountain folk, my friend."

British Weary of War Books, Critic Believes

BY FRANK SWINNERTON.

LONDON. — [Special Correspondence.]—As far as I can see, the demand for war books gradually is diminishing in England.

The much boomed "Retreat" has aroused a fair amount of discussion, but a good deal of this comment is adverse. One of the newest and one of the most interesting and amusing of the personal records is called "War Is War." This book is published anonymously, but I believe the author is known by the perceptive to be Mr. A. M. Burrage, an experienced short story writer. The hunt for an author for "Her Privates We" continues; and in the book selling trade there is a strong rumor that it is the work of Mr. J. B. Priestley, the author of "The Good Companions." Another confident charge is that Mr. Siegfried Sassoon wrote it.

That other problem of identity, the authorship of "General Crack," has been engaging attention here also. There has been much definite assertion; and there has been no definite denial. But the general assumption seems to be that "George Preedy" is none other than Miss Marjorie Bowen. It is pointed out that the works of the two writers are both published by the same firm and that there are similarities of style. At any rate, George Preedy's new novel, "The Rocklitz," is receiving the benefit of the debate, and is being widely acclaimed as superior to "Jew Suss," published in the United States as "Power."

The publishers of "George Preedy's" work have disclaimed all knowledge of the author. They may do this with perfect sincerity, as I can testify from my own experience. During the late war I was concerned with a curious instance of anonymity. One day the famous agent, J. B. Pinker, who died some years ago during a visit to the United States, called on me at the offices of the firm of publishers to which I acted as literary adviser. He offered the manuscript of a book which, he said, was to be published anonymously. The author was so bent on hiding his identity that he had commissioned Mr. Pinker to make an agreement on his account, stipulating that even the publishers should not know his real name. He made one exception.

Mr. Pinker was given leave to whisper the name to myself. The book was accepted for publication. Accordingly it came as a surprise even to the publishers when, comparatively recently, the authorship was divulged. The book was "The Burning Spear" and the author was Mr. John Galsworthy.

African Customs Made Real for Boys by "Garram the Hunter"

BY AGATHA L. SHEA.

"Life Story of Birds," by Eric Daglish [Morrow].

"Holiday Meadow," by Edith Patch [Macmillan].

Garram the hunter was but a boy of the hill tribes of Africa, but he was a chief's son, and a descendant of an ancient line, and when the wise old Rainmaker told him that his father's safety depended upon his departure from the hills, he didn't hesitate to take the harder way, and go, although to stay and fight would have been much more to his liking.

Thus it came about that one evening the hill boy, accompanied only by his huge dog Kon, passed through the gates of the walled city of the plains, much to the amazement of guards. Around this adventuring forth of the boy and his dog, Herbert Best has written a fine story of African life, giving us a realistic picture of that life as it is lived by the natives, and consummate portrayals of individual characters as well.

Not only are the boy and his dog unforgettable, but intensely real are the traitor Menud, and his crafty father, the proud unflinching old chief, and the wise old Rainmaker. Garram himself is a character one cannot help but like, straightforward and loyal to his friends and sparing to his enemies, although not averse to having his bit of fun at the expense of the latter when occasion offers.

Boy readers will enjoy the clever ruse which Garram perpetrated upon them to save his father's life. It is a well written story.

The author has spent many years in the English civil service among the hill tribes and knows them in their native haunts as the book amply testifies.

"The Life Story of Birds" by Eric Fitch Daglish and Edith Patch's "Holiday Meadow" are worthwhile additions to our nature study books. The former is for the child of twelve or older who is a lover of birds and who really wants to know about their life habits. Many varieties of birds are included and the facts are clearly and simply presented, each chapter being devoted to some phase of bird life such as nesting, feeding, migrating, etc. Very important are the beautifully executed woodcuts of birds picturing the birds in their proper environments. Even the most casual observer must be impressed with the beauty of these fine pictures of bird life, perfect in every detail.

Mr. Daglish has given us many fine pictures of animals in his Animals in Black and White Series, books whose pictures alone would make them valuable for children. This latest book, however, offers much more of interest in its textual material than did the earlier, smaller ones.

For the youngest nature lover "Holiday Meadow" is a delightful choice, for it tells all about animals, insects, flowers and plants that live in the meadow where two little cousins, Dick and Anne, spend much of their time. They learn a great deal about the quiet little people who are scurrying about on their own business, building their homes, raising their families, and doing their share of the world's work.

Humanism, Pro and Con, Is Theme of Three Books

If you yearn to read the arguments to date for and against humanism, there are three lusty volumes, "Humanism and America," edited by Norman Foerster, subtitled "Essays on the Outlook of Modern Civilization." They contain the views of the outstanding men of the humanist camp, Paul Elmer More, Frank Jewett Mather Jr., Irving Babbitt, T. S. Eliot and others. "The New Humanism" is a discussion of the subject entirely from the pen of one man, Leon Samson, whose criticism is trenchant. "The Critique of Humanism" edited by C. Hartley Gratten is a blast from the other camp, from the pens of Malcolm Cowley, Kenneth Burke, Allan Tate, Burton Rascoe, Henry Hazlitt, and others.

"The first novel I ever read that makes pioneer men and women altogether human, that strips from our past the glamor of romance and restores to it the glamor of reality. . . . For this is not a romance, but the story of one nonchalant natural man who once looked too long into a woman's eyes and saw there the death of adventure. . . . A memorable novel, memorable as much in its simplicity as in its power."

Novel Tells Story of U. S. and the Neighbors.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

"Uncle Sam," by John Erskine. (Bobbs Merrill.)

Mr. Erskine had a novel idea for "Uncle Sam." It was ten years ago that he wrote in an essay [in "The Kinds of Poetry"] "a remarkable opportunity, perhaps, which the right poet, when he arrives, will not neglect, is the cartoon figure of Uncle Sam, which awaits only the happy assistance of genius to pass from his sphere of dim- but wide popularity into the world of national art." During those ten years no poet has seized the opportunity. Mr. Erskine, despairing of any one else doing the biography of Uncle Sam, finally did it himself. This novel is the result.

JOHN ERSKINE.

"Uncle Sam" is, of course, a satire, but it is a satire rich with kindliness. There is nothing cruel either in the author's pen or his point of view. He sees Uncle Sam as a human being symbolizing the American spirit. He tells the story of Sam's childhood, when his brothers and sister—John, Antoinette, Frederick, and Orlando—bullied him and were amused by him. He tells of Sam's eagerness to live his own life, of his peddling days, of his falling in love with Priscilla, of his days in lumbering, of his marriage with Priscilla [who is the perfect Puritan conscience], and of his days on the farm, and his later days in banking and town building and his increasing wealth, and the attitude of his brothers and sister toward him during all of that time—John's sending his son George, Frederick's sending his daughter, and Orlando's complaints because his children haven't had a whack at Uncle Sam's fortune.

The book culminates with Uncle Sam's investing his whole fortune in "Western Common" stock, his worries and faith about its future, and his discovery that, after a slump, the future is going up.

If one weren't told that it is the fictional biography of the American spirit, it would be an amusing novel of American life, with Priscilla the typical American wife, Sam the typical American husband, and their difficulties the typical difficulties of a typical family. Sam never looked at another woman in his life, and yet his wife suspects him of infidelity and of trying to foist his child by an illicit union into her household.

She is, however, too comfortable, and at the same time too devoted to duty, as duty, to make good her threat of leaving him when he insists upon keeping the child [which she herself had rescued from an orphanage]. They are never really happy, although they never quarrel. Sam is a lonely soul, a lovable one, a kindly one, a generous one, but his family, neither his wife nor his brothers and sister, ever understand him. They know that he is interested in making money, but they do not see why he is interested.

"Uncle Sam" is first of all an amusing novel—the best novel, per se, that Mr. Erskine has done, although not the funniest. That it is an excellent picture of the American spirit is undeniable.

Prizes for Best Books for Enlightening Parents

The annual awards of the Parents' Magazine for the best books for parents have just been announced for books published in 1929.

They are: To the late Elizabeth Cleveland for "If Parents Only Knew" [Norton].

To John E. Anderson and Florence Goodenough for "The Modern Baby Book and Child Development Record" [Norton].

Many parents conscientiously add to their libraries each year the volumes thus laurel wreathed by the committee of experts who make the awards.

Political Handbook.

"The Political Handbook of the World, 1930" published by the Council on Foreign Relations, is the third annual volume and it is of inestimable value for reference. It gives in compact and readable form the essential information on rulers, the political parties with their programs and leaders, the newspapers and periodicals with their political affiliations and editors, of the world.

Sandburg Hides Sage Homilies in Nonsense

Wherewith Blind Man Sees Many Things.

"Potato Face," by Carl Sandburg. (Harcourt Brace.)

Nonsense is of two varieties—that "relished by the wisest men" and that which is so obvious that it is known by eye and ear before it ever reaches the mind. "Potato Face" is nonsense for the wise. It is a collection of tales told by the Potato Face Blind Man who "sits with his eyes never looking out and always searching in. When he asks 'Who are you?' it is almost as though he should say 'Who am I?' Once he tied a sign to his left arm reading 'I Am Blind, Too,' just as though the many people who might pass by that day and read the sign could see no more with eyes than without.

"This, of course, was the jest of a blind man, though he may have meant he felt sad and sorry for the people who, having eyes, believe that because they have eyes they see, which may not always be so. He seems to love some of the precious things that are cheap, such as stars, the wind, pleasant words, time to be lazy, and fools having personality and distinction."

That characterization of Potato Face Mr. Sandburg gives in a preface, and it contains the whole seed of the volume—a wisdom, a foolery, an inner sight.

"Potato Face" is supposed to be "Rootabaga Stories for Adults." You remember the famous Rootabaga stories, the most amusing children's stories of our generation, many a scholar has thought, although they have had the disapproval of some of the children's experts (while others have put them into readers and translated them into foreign languages and spilled millions of drops of ink praising them).

These later Sandburg stories are about things that don't exist, "an animal or fool not yet seen or heard of," which the Potato Face "can make for himself and give it a character so it is real to him, and when he talks about it and tells its story it is like telling about one of his own children." The spink bug, the huck, "Yonder the Yinder with a burning bean for a head," a yodo, a floo, bumble-hummers, Longarms, who go them by pushing the sky back t place when it was falling, Pigeon Foot, "who could pick up his feet and run and catch a pigeon before the pigeon had time to get started flying"; Fog Wisp, "whose eyes were sea green with a little of hazel nut hazel mixed in"—they are all the children of the Potato Face Blind Man.

They are wisdom and beauty masquerading as nonsense, some of it sheer nonsense for the fun of matching words together into a crazy quilt pattern, some of it sheer beauty for the fun of making patterns of sound, some of it, like the story of the Spink Bug and the Huck for instance, a profound statement of human relationships.

The spink bug and the huck each lived on the limb of a salimber tree. Their fathers, their forefathers and four forefathers of their forefathers had all lived there before them. They differed only in the fact that the spink bug was all covered with splashes and alphabets and the huck was all covered with spots and numbers. When they met they each said, "He is the same as me, only different, and I hate him because he is different." And they "snarled and spit at each other. And they whined and whanged at each other. They decided to fight. Never having seen each other before, the way to find out who was who and which was which was to fight."

"Then they stopped, hesitated, paused, deliberated, held counsel with each other, saying, 'Even if we are different we are the same.' They decided they would talk before fighting. And by talking they would find out why they were going to fight. So they talked about salimber trees and the homes in the limbs of salimber trees."

They talked about all of the homely things of their lives in the salimber trees. And they finally parted promising to "write you a letter sometimes in the gloaming when the thoughts come."

SUGGESTIONS FOR VOTING.

Tomorrow THE TRIBUNE will publish its suggestions for voting at the Tuesday primary. These suggestions are confined to the Republican primary, as there seems to be no serious contest of the official slate in the Democratic primary. On the Republican ticket we make no recommendation for County judge, Probate judge, sheriff, and county clerk—because the Democratic candidates in each case deserve the unquestioning indorsement of the citizens of Cook county without respect to party affiliations. Judge Jarecki, Judge Horner, and County Clerk Sweitzer have so conducted their respective offices as to command public confidence and should be retained in their places. For the sheriff's office the Democratic candidate, William D. Meyering, now alderman from the Eighth ward, is another candidate who deserves special consideration of the voters, regardless of party. Ald. Meyering has been a valuable member of the council and as the first of our youth to win the Distinguished Service Cross he represents ideals of the highest patriotic devotion which the community will not fail to recognize. With these four men in the field in November, it seems to THE TRIBUNE unnecessary to express preferences as to who in the Republican primary should be chosen to be defeated by them.

The situation in the Republican party in Cook county is deplorable. The political bosses are either emphatically discredited or have largely lost the confidence of voters through failure of aggressive leadership or through dubious affiliations. Organization is demoralized and factional warfare offers no appeal to voters who are interested in restoring good government. It is a political melée.

Yet there is more reason for optimism than might have been expected. The general level of the candidates is higher than it has been for a number of years. The bosses have realized the force of public opinion against them and have found it expedient to make their slate selections with more regard for character and ability than usual. On the other hand, the revelations of corruption, waste, and misgovernment have induced or encouraged a better class of men to seek office. The result is that by judicious voting the conscientious citizen who is not interested in party faction, who cannot be led by the nose by some petty boss or heeler, who is looking out, in other words, for himself, his family, and his community, has a chance to put some reliable men in office and raise the general quality of public administration.

With this accomplished, it may be hoped a new and better leadership will be developed, responsible to the demands of good citizenship and both able and willing to administer public affairs with at least a reasonable approximation to the honesty and competency with which our private affairs are managed. The public is fed up with the politics which brought forth Small and Lundin and Thompson and the lesser captains of the same kidney in both parties. There is a real call and a great opportunity for new leadership in both parties.

In the meantime we have a primary which may be a prelude to better things. THE TRIBUNE is far from assuming infallibility in making recommendations. Doubtless some of its judgments are mistakes. But we have tried to the best of our ability to pick the better men, without regard to supposed factional affiliation except as that affiliation or record indicated an unreliable character or promised bad service. The desirability of smashing the remnants of the city hall power is as clear as the desirability of preventing the substitution of an alliance built on the remnants of the Small-Lundin régime under the Pecksniffian front of Deneen factionalists. There is no clear distinction of these factional lines which can be adopted. The safest plan is to try to find the best men and put them in office.

IT MAY BE THE BULLDOG BREED, BUT IT LEARNED SOMETHING FROM THE FOX.

The statesman who cannot conceivably get a bad break at the London conference is Prime Minister MacDonald. His days cannot be other than serene and untouched by worry. If the conferees push back their chairs and break up in disagreement, returning home with nothing, Mr. MacDonald will remain home with something. It is not so certain that Mr. MacDonald could not do better with failure than with anything else. He has the best of it now. He has the superior navy, and with a failure he will retain it, but with a failure he will also have another advantage.

Briand, to his annoyance, failed to get an understanding for the security of France. Negotiations toward one are reported to be still under way, but meanwhile we doubt it has escaped M. Briand's observation that Mr. MacDonald has an understanding. It is with the United States. Mr. MacDonald has an accord with the American government which is as good as he would think it possible to be.

Step by step he has carried the American delegation along with him until now it is almost certain that, if the conference fails because Great Britain does not carry through its plan, Great Britain and the United States will be the moral twins of the failure, united in the bankruptcy of altruism. Against a naughty militaristic world they will present the world's greatest aggregation of naval strength, in which the British will have first place.

RESTORE REPUBLICAN REPRESENTATION.

If the Republican party is to be saved from the fate of the Federalist party, its membership must repudiate at primaries or at elections the tools of organized bigotry. The morale of self-respecting Republicanism has been badly broken by the timidity of party leadership under threat of the Anti-Saloon lash and, while that threat is no longer feared as it was, Republican representation is still riddled with hypocrisy, inconsistency and weak compliance with the bullying spirit of the professional reformist. The reaction against bigotry, against intemperate and unbalanced reformism is increasing in scope and force. If Republican representation compromises with fanaticism instead of giving unambiguous and vigorous expression to the reviving spirit of Americanism the party will die as the Federalist did and for the same reason—that it is not true to the American spirit.

It is because we believe this to be the paramount issue in the Republican congressional primary that THE TRIBUNE indorses for congressmen at large Stephen A. Day and Edward J. Hargrave. Mr. Day, who is the son of the late William R. Day, secretary of state under McKinley and associate justice of the Supreme court, appointed by Theodore Roosevelt, has expressed his sense of the situation in the words of his distinguished father, who said:

"What we have had to do today by reason of the adoption of the eighteenth amendment will be far reaching. Our foes will not come from without the nation, but I foresee danger from within. There has been planted the seed that will grow into internal discord and ultimate distortion of our system of government, for personal habit cannot be compelled in a nation that has grown to love freedom."

Mr. Hargrave has been no less emphatic in his position and we think should have the vote of all constitutionalists who wish Illinois to stand for the restoration of American principles in government and for the regulation of the liquor evil on constructive lines.

Among the congressional contests the nomination of Col. Ashbel V. Smith, brave soldier in war and peace, a patriot and enemy of corrupt politics, should be assured in the 10th district, where he is running against the ineffective incumbent, Chindblom. In the 2d district Ernest L. Kreamer should replace Hull and in the 3d district Harry L. Brin should replace Sproul. Both Kreamer and Brin have had the courage to defy the dry bosses and aside from that issue will bring to our delegation at Washington a very greatly needed vigor. Chicago's need for aggressive service in place of the colorless and complacent representation of Hull, Sproul and Chindblom is obvious.

In the 7th district Michaelson and his trunk should be kept at home. He is opposed by James C. Moreland, who has been a supporter of prohibition, but one who has had the candor and courage to test the sentiment of the people he wishes to represent and who has announced that he will do so. Upon a referendum he found that they are not in favor of the prohibitionist régime and he promises to work for its abolition if elected.

AS WINTER ENDS.

In a few weeks the furnace fires will be put out for the season. That will be the time to install new heating equipment. Thousands of buildings in Chicago are equipped with ancient furnaces which are wasteful of coal and add their considerable contributions to the Chicago smoke pall. Great advances have been made in heating engineering in recent years with the result that old plants can now be modernized at little or no expense if the savings made possible in fuel bills are reckoned in, as they should be. Costs of materials and labor are now lower than they have been for many years. Labor is plentiful. No such opportunity to increase at no real cost the capital value of real estate holdings is likely to be presented for many years to come. Property owners will be well advised to take advantage of it.

Editorial of the Day

[Baltimore Sun.]

Tall, silvery poplar trees may be grown soon on rocky mountain farms in New York state to make raw material for rayon hosiery and newspapers. They will not be ordinary poplars, however close the resemblance, but perhaps some of the new hybrids developed by Dr. Ralph McKee, professor of chemical engineering at Columbia university. Working with the staff of the New York botanical garden, Dr. McKee has produced more than 100 hybrids from the twenty-one species of poplar. From these he has selected fourteen for their high yield of good pulp wood.

The significant fact about the trees developed by Dr. McKee in the course of his research on cellulose is that in eight years these hybrid poplars will grow to the size attained by ordinary poplars in forty-five years. According to the Columbia professor, one acre of cheap mountain land will produce a crop of trees worth three times as much as the same acreage of wheat or corn grown in rich soil. He says that an acre of seedlings planted at a cost of $5 will yield in eight years a crop of pulp wood having a market value of $500.

The tree growing experiments of this chemical engineer apparently have yielded results of real importance not only to the rayon and paper industries but to all farmers burdened with acres of waste land. Chemists admit, moreover, that the vast possibilities of cellulose as a basic manufacturing material have not by any means been fully recognized as yet.

DIETING FOR TEETH'S SAKE.

If a tooth is ridged horizontally the probable cause is vitamin deficiency. Along with the two or three coarse horizontal ridges there are likely to be lengthwise striping and ridging and some tendency to fine saw-edge on certain teeth.

Since the crowns of the first teeth begin to form about midway of pregnancy, the way to prevent this kind of ridging in this set of teeth is to have the prospective mother eat foods rich in vitamins. The crowns of the permanent teeth started forming during fetal life. Therefore, the diet of the mother influences them also. They continue forming during babyhood and the pre-school age. Therefore, the diet of babies and young children should contain the proper vitamins. The vitamins necessary for this kind of protection are A and D. The minerals needed are lime and phosphorus. Among the articles of diet and the medicines which supply these vitamins and minerals are milk, cheese, butter, cod liver oil, and viosterol. This by no means completes the list.

The principal cause of tooth decay is now generally thought to be vitamin and mineral deficiency. However, there is not complete agreement as to which is the more important protective vitamin. There are those who think vitamin D holds that position. The bulk of opinion, however, now is that vitamin C ranks first. Among those who support the vitamin C contention there is again some division of opinion. For example, Dr. Arnold is disposed to hold that the value of orange juice and other vitamin C foods is the fact that they are all alkaline ash foods and that this latter quality is the factor which prevents decay. Since this alkaline ash quality is more stable, is not easily destroyed by keeping, heating, or drying, and since the list of foods high in alkaline ash ingredients is much longer than that of the vitamin C foods, it should be easier and cheaper to diet a child than is the case with the vitamin C plan.

While dieting to prevent horizontal ridging applies particularly to expectant mothers and young babies, that to prevent decay extends more to children out of babyhood.

THREE NAMES FOR SAME THING.

D. T. S. writes: Will you tell me what causes papilloma, verruca, warts on feet? I have about eight and am having them burned off with acid, but can't seem to find out from the chiropodist whether they are curable and what causes them.

REPLY.

Three names for the same condition.

Warts on the sole of the foot can be burned off by electricity. If properly removed, the wounds heal nicely and the warts do not return.

DEPENDS ON OTHER MEALS.

H. S. writes: Will you please let me know whether eating lunches practically every day, for five days, consisting of sandwiches of tomato and lettuce, Swiss cheese, sardines, cream cheese, etc., will affect a young girl of 18 in any way?

REPLY.

NOT EASILY DIGESTED.

Mrs. A. M. J. writes: Are raw potatoes healthy? A friend of mine eats two to four medium sized raw potatoes a day. She is 46 years old, is anemic, and her health is poor. She says the potatoes taste as good to her as nice, juicy apples.

REPLY.

The starch in raw potatoes is not easily digested, but there are those who like them, eat them, digest them, and get good food values and vitamins from them.

CONTINUE THE EXERCISE.

M. A. M. writes: Would it be proper to continue abdominal exercises such as raising both legs to vertical position without bending down, during pregnancy? This exercise has done wonders for me, but I hesitate to continue.

REPLY:

NO QUOTA LAW IN CANADA.

Chicago, March 31.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Is there a law in Canada which will permit a resident of Argentina who is a citizen of Germany to enter into Canada to make his permanent home there? J. M.

Canada has no quota law. All are admissible except those personally objectionable.

NATURALIZED CITIZEN RESIDES ABROAD.

Chicago, March 28.—[Friend of the People.]—A foreign born naturalized American citizen since 1912 goes to his native country with his family (American born wife and children) and stays more than four years. Does not renounce his American citizenship. Can he return to the U. S. A.? If American consul will not vise his passport, what should he do? What is the status of his wife and children? C. S. E.

It is contrary to the practice of the department of state to express an opinion or render a decision in matters of citizenship except when called upon to do so in connection with a formal application for a passport or other document requiring its official action. The questions contained in the letter under consideration are entirely too indefinite to justify a reply.

However, for your information I might call your attention to the fact that when an applicant receives a passport there is enclosed a circular entitled "Notice to Bearers of Passports" in which the following paragraph is printed in large type:

"Naturalized American citizens are warned that their rights of citizenship may be lost as a result of a residence of two years in their native lands or five years in other foreign lands, under the provisions of section 3 of the citizenship act of March 2, 1907, or of the acquisition of a residence of a permanent nature in any foreign country within five years after naturalization in the United States."

If the American born wife and children care to determine their status they should apply to the American consul nearest their place of residence for a passport. In this way the matter would be presented to the department of state in such a manner as to require its decision and action.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the gaps fall where they may.

GO TO IT—

We can speak freely and fully now. Let there be no longer the slightest hesitancy. All bets are off. Let us lay the cards on the table. We have a few more bromides of the same kind that we could shoot right now, but what's the use? Here's the point! Take 'em off, get out the old golf tools, buy your pretty packages of seed and try to guess what will come up after you plant 'em. If anything.

Yessir, spring is actually here. Do your spring planting and golfing and voting early. Commence to think about vacation. You've been thinking about it all winter, but, no matter, take it up now with a firmer hold. Look up and see the blue sky, smell the fresh, soft breeze that wafts in from the southland. Look at the sweet young grass, of a hue that no painter could paint, growing all around and about. Wash off the old bus and haul it out of the garage. Give the darned old thing a kick in the ribs and tell her she's got to last another season. Or go buy that brand new 1930 model that you've set your heart on, you lucky stiff.

All through the dark, short winter days we've dreamed of spring. And when we thought we had it and were doing a lot of rejoicing, along came the worst blizzard ever known for March in this latitude. But now spring's here. Let's rejoice, as we have a right to do. There's nothing so inspiring and gay as a day in spring. Three rousing and extremely lusty cheers for spring. And if it's snowing lykell this morning and everything's covered with ice—oh, well, it will still be spring. The damthing acts that way sometimes.

QUESTION.

Mad Mary Embry is happier than most,
Drifting out of toil like a gay and careless ghost,
Free as a thistle-puff, ragged as a weed,
Looking like a lily-stalk fallen all to seed;
Sleeping in the forest, her head among the bells,
Sleeping in the blue flowers, wading in the rills,
Drinking of the sweetness of the rills and the rain,
Smelling of the dew and the flowers in the lane,
Shyer than a quail-chick, fleeter than a hare,
Wilder than the wind when a storm's in the air;
Footloose and laughing she fled the church and school
But the sun came from heaven to shine along her hair;
She is madder than the wind and the storm blown after,
But the high angels hush them at the sound of her laughter. . . .

I wonder, I wonder, scouring stitky pans,
Trotting to the shop counters, matching grays and tans,
Cutting clothes to wash and iron, mixing dough to knead,
Which of us it is that has really gone to seed.

DOROTHY R. KISSLING.

THE HOUSE OF COMMONS is experimenting with a device for spraying the atmosphere in that ancient chamber with a solution of alcohol and oxygen that is warranted to pep the members up and keep 'em full of life and action. So in the future we may expect speeches in parliament to run something like this: "Misher Speaker, I rishe to point spechul privege. Misher speaker! Zish new ashohol spray whish we have inshalled is sprashin' more on shilly consherative shide o' house 'n on liberal shide o' house. I inshist more of silleratin' spray be turned on this hon'ble shide of house an' I shall now conclude wiz shingin' Brishons Never Shall Be Shaves."

ANYHOW, it might be a grand idea to put that alcohol spray in congress. It might speed things up a bit on tariff and farm relief. And we'd like to have one installed over our desk right away. But those machines wouldn't be safe in this country. Somebody would be drinking 'em dry all the time.

UNCERTAINTY.

Perhaps I shouldn't tell you how my blood leaps at your touch, or that I am in peril
since I love you far too much.
For, you may shrug your shoulders
(though I know that you must care),
But if it's real indifference—
That is more than I can bear.

DAVIDA.

"SHOULD I," says Bingo, a census enumerator, "put down a 'yes' as an answer to the question the government requires me to ask of people who say they are unemployed, 'Do you want a job?' They always reply, 'You're dam tootin'.' It takes quite a long time, comparatively speaking, to write down 'You're dam tootin'' on the report blank, and, besides, I don't think it's grammatical. What to do?"

WHAT! Is it all over? News from London yesterday said the American delegation to the naval parley had engaged passage for home on the Leviathan, sailing April 22. "Which reminds me," said Cleopatra to Marc Antony, "of the king of France and ten thousand men who marched up a hill and then marched down again." However, let us remain calm and go quietly to the dock when the Leviathan gets in, and see whether or not the delegates are wearing barrels instead of their store clothes when they come ashore.

LAGNIAPPE.

DR. JESSE H. HOLMES, professor of philosophy at Swarthmore college, says the twenty-third psalm should be modernized so that city dwellers will understand it. Instead of "The Lord is my shepherd," the doc says the verse should be changed to "The Lord is my automobile's low gear to help me in climbing hard hills." Modernize it some more, doc; we don't drive a motor and we can't understand how the low gear helps to climb a hard hill.

"VOTE the way you drink!" declares one of the candidates for something or other, who is in favor of modifying the sacred 18th. Gosh, if they do there's going to be a lot of repeating on election day.

WELL, there is a slight lull in the great senatorial battle, with all troops resting on their arms waiting for zero hour next Tuesday. It's been a grand fight. May the best man—or woman—win!

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

APRIL 5, 1865.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Secretary of War Stanton made public the following telegram from Gen. Grant, dated Wilson Station, Va., April 4: "The army is pushing forward in the hope of overtaking and dispersing the remainder of Lee's army. Sheridan's cavalry and the 5th corps are between here and the Appomattox. Gen. Meade and the 2d and 6th corps following. Gen. Ord following the line of the south side railroad. All of the enemy that retains anything like an organization has gone north of the Appomattox and apparently is heading for Lynchburg. Their losses have been heavy. The houses through the country are nearly all used as hospitals for the wounded. The number of prisoners captured yesterday exceeds 2,000. From March 28 to the present our loss in killed, wounded, and captured probably will not reach 7,000, of whom from 1,500 to 2,000 were captured."

PHILADELPHIA. — The Bulletin has a dispatch from Washington which says: "Mrs. Lincoln received a dispatch today from the President, dated as follows: 'From Jeff Davis' late residence at Richmond.'"

WASHINGTON, D. C.—There is good authority for stating that the prisoners taken by Grant's army since the beginning of the offensive will number 20,000.

NEW YORK.—The Herald editorially believes that Gen. Lee's retreat will prove a rout. It says Lee will endeavor to cross Grant's line to join Johnston. From all appearances the destruction of both Lee's and Johnston's forces is certain within a short time, between the activities of Grant, Sherman, and Sheridan.

NEW YORK.—A World special says: "Jeff Davis, with his family and other rebel officers, did not leave Richmond until April 3. If Gen. Weitzel had pushed on to the depot when he entered the city the whole party might have been taken. Danville will be the capital of the fugitive confederacy."

WASHINGTON.—Admiral Dewey's frank announcement that he is a candidate for the presidency seems to arouse only a languid sort of interest in Washington.

LONDON.—The return of Colville's division and French's cavalry brigade to Hoemfontein without engaging the Boers in battle, or without attempting to retake the waterworks, has set London war experts by the ears.

BRUSSELS.—An attempt on the life of the prince of Wales was made at the Northern railway station here. The would-be assassin jumped on the footboard of the prince's saloon car as the train was starting and fired two shots at him, both flying wide of the mark. The princess of Wales was with her husband. They were on their way to Copenhagen for the celebration of King Christian's birthday on April 8. The would-be slayer was arrested. He is a youth of 16 named Sipido, and his pockets were filled with anarchistic literature.

APRIL 5, 1920.

CHICAGO.—An eight inch snow and a forty mile wind, developing from a blizzard in the Texas panhandle, enveloped the middle western states, impaired all public utilities service in Chicago and blocked the Easter parade yesterday.

CHICAGO.—Train service throughout the Chicago district, already seriously crippled by the heavy snowstorm, was demoralized by an unauthorized strike of switchmen and yardmen called by the newly organized "outlaw" union. Two thousand men, employed by nearly every railroad entering the city, walked out at noon and by night "insurgent" strike leaders claimed the number had been swelled to more than 9,000.

PARIS.—Count Morstin of the Polish peace delegation was notified from Warsaw that the bolshevik offensive collapsed following weeks of fighting, and thousands of prisoners, scores of cannon, many tanks and airplanes, several railroad trains, and hundreds of freight cars and locomotives fell into the hands of the Poles.

GIRLS IN THE VETERANS' BUREAU

Hines, Ill., April 1.—I recently read a letter in your column from Holland, Mich., signed "R." The letter was apparently written by an ex-service man, who stated that he had visited the Chicago office of the veterans' bureau to obtain a loan on his adjusted service certificate and "found about four hundred women holding down jobs that rightfully belong to ex-service men." He further asked, "How do these women rate these jobs, can any one tell me?"

These young ladies are employed by the veterans' bureau after having passed a civil service examination qualifying them for appointment. The law does not permit federal activities to employ personnel without a civil service status. To obtain this status regular examinations are held by the civil service commission, and when a vacancy occurs or a new position is created in any federal activity the law requires that the responsible official call for the civil service register. The appointing officer is than required to select one of the three highest eligibles on the list. Preference is given ex-service men, five per cent for their service and an additional five per cent if they are classified as disabled veterans. All federal activities make it a point to give ex-service men preference; particularly does this apply to the veterans' bureau service.

This comrade, if interested in employment, should apply to Mr. Swanson, civil service secretary, federal building, Chicago, for application for examination at the time the next examination is called. With his ex-service preference, and if he is disabled, he has a ten per cent advantage over all other applicants.

THE TROUBLE WITH BUSINESS.

Chicago, March 28.—I have just come to a conclusion as to the causes underlying the present period of bad business. It is really not my own deductions but rather a symposium of the opinions of a great number of people with whom I have talked over a period of several months. Here is a list of the causes of bad business: New Year's day inventories, Washington's birthday, snowstorm, Lent, Easter, the primaries, the tariff bill, more inventories, congressional elections, spring, Tom Kippur, summer time, winter time, Fourth of July, the stock market, the Russian question, presidential election three years hence, reassessments, Greek restaurants, the spring planting married women working and displacing the needy union workmen—but why go on? The list could be made endless.

The crying need in the lives of the American people is less whining and more work of the quality of the pioneer stock that created a land of opportunity for the present incumbents and a little more iconoclastic activity.

Anyway I am going to buy a new suit if the man in the street will stop his eternal moaning and permit me to get back to work. C. A. LUSE.

ALL DRY.

THEO SANDBERG.

ADVICE TO THE RAILROADS.

Chicago, March 31.—I read with interest the article in this morning's TRIBUNE by Scrutator as to the railroads seeking means to revive their passenger business. And the article calls our attention again to the uniform lack of good business acumen of the present day executives of the passenger departments of our railroads.

Before the war the railroads charged two cents a mile to carry passengers and made money doing so. Now we pay the fare almost twice that and we have the obnoxious Pullman surcharge in addition making the fare more than twice what it was before the war—and our dollar today almost equaling in purchasing power the dollar before the war. Our high salaried passenger executives are at it lying down and whine about the poor lines taking all their business away from them.

Every one knows the railroads could put every bus line out of business except possibly for hauls under one hundred miles, and probably double the gross passenger receipts if they would do these three things: Reduce the fares to two and a half cents per mile except in very sparsely populated districts in the south and mountain states, cease their fight in congress and with the interstate commerce commission against the removal of the excise tax for the use of Pullmans—a relic of war tax measure—and reduce by 50 per cent the inflated wages paid railroad trainmen.

DANGERS IN KITE FLYING.

Chicago, March 31.—In the interest of preserving some young life in the Chicago district which otherwise may be unnecessarily sacrificed, may I call your attention to a very dangerous practice which has been taking tragic toll in various sections of the country recently.

I refer to the common practice of kite flying with fine copper wire such as in some cases with light steel frame work for the kite. Youngsters do not realize the danger of contact with energized wire currents.

Parents should see to it that youthful flyers use old fashioned string or cord to fly their kites and that they keep away from conductive metal in the framework. Flying should be done as far away as possible from all trolley or other high tension lines, and the children should be especially cautioned to keep off of all power line poles while trying to extricate their kites.

So far this season there have been casualties of this type reported in the Chicago district. The kite flying season will soon be on in earnest here, and a timely checkup by parents right now may prevent tragic results.

INDORSEMENTS.

Chicago, March 30.—You are rendering a great service to the voters by publishing the names of all candidates with their views on the prohibition question.

I hope that before election day you will publish all names of candidates indorsed by the Anti-Saloon league. By so doing we may judge the ones who return your questionnaire as a joke.

SYNOPSIS.

Catherine West of Boston, on her way to Paris, meets Geoffrey Macadam in the Havre de Paris train. Macadam is an Englishman who lives in Paris. Catherine tells Macadam that she is going to visit her cousin's widow, Mme. Belmont Bender. She is a little nervous about the coming visit because she had received just before sailing a letter from Genevieve Cushing, who tells her that Mme. Bender is far from well. Macadam is a lawyer, and he tells Catherine that his firm handles Mme. Bender's affairs, but he doesn't know the widow very well. He had heard that she was ill. Arrived in Paris Catherine is a little disappointed when her cousin's chauffeur is not at the station to meet her. Geoffrey sees her into a taxi, giving her his address and telephone number. He tells her that he will be anxious to know how things are at the Bender apartment, and she promises to call him.

INSTALLMENT VI.

A STRANGE RECEPTION.

The concierge was a dried, spare little woman with a nut-cracker countenance and a black crocheted shawl about her shoulders, she bent on the newcomer a vulture-eyed look of mingled curiosity and suspicion.

"Madame Bender," announced Catherine briefly.

A quick change came over the hard old features. Eyebrows and shoulders hoisted themselves with one movement, and the sharp eyes narrowed for a closer inspection of the young girl's face.

"Ah!" breathed the concierge with an upward, insinuating inflection. "Madame Bender! I was not informed that madame was expecting a visitor. However, that is not affair of mine." She made a curt gesture with her gnarled hand, at the same time jerking her head towards the octagonal court beyond the covered way. "Go up, mademoiselle. The elevator is at the right."

Her manner struck Catherine as definitely unpleasant. In some annoyance she motioned to her luggage and asked to have it sent up as soon as possible, then turned towards the shallow steps at the right of the court. She had not gone two paces, however, before the hard voice called out with what sounded like malicious enjoyment.

"Mademoiselle has chosen an unfortunate moment for her visit. If she expects madame to receive her in person, she must prepare for a disappointment."

"What do you mean?" she demanded quickly. "Is anything wrong?"

There was a second meaning shrug.

"I cannot tell you. I know nothing, I! All I can say is that the doctor was summoned for madame last night at nine o'clock, and that he has only this instant gone out of these doors. Almost twenty-four hours he remained there, but every one has been in too fine a state of excitement to tell me what has happened. Mademoiselle will soon know the truth though. She has only to inquire."

"O,— Miss West," he mumbled indistinctly.

She turned her back and thrusting her scrawny neck in through the glass doors, screamed "Gaston!" in a strident voice.

Her heart pounding, Catherine ran across the court, past the group of trimly clipped box trees, to the big double doors. A final glance over her shoulder showed her a fat, sluggish old man lumbering out to join the woman under the archway. There the pair stood, planted beside the little pile of luggage and stared after her with a concentration which had something ominous about it. Why should they look at her like that? She was filled at once with antagonism and dread.

A second later she had shut herself into the bronze cage of the lift and was juggling with the automatic buttons. Up rose the lift and halted at the entresol. She sprang out and with rapid steps crossed the thickly carpeted floor to the imposing mahogany door on the left.

She rang and rang again, but there was no response. Within was complete silence, as though the big flat were untenanted. Really it was incredible that no one should answer the bell! Impatient, she pressed her finger once more to the bronze button and kept it there.

It was Eduardo.

Out of the broad, swarthy face his smallish black eyes stared at her without a trace of recognition. The wide mouth tightened with an expression unfriendly, faintly contemptuous. Was this the sauve manservant she knew, this uncompromising person who barred the entrance with his body, making no attempt to admit her? She felt curiously dashed, as though cold water had been thrown in her face.

"Eduardo!" she cried, to jog his memory. "Surely you recall me? I am Miss West, madame's cousin. Madame is expecting me, you know."

"O,—Miss West," he mumbled indistinctly. "Sorry, miss, I didn't recognize you."

Then with something approaching his former manner he removed himself from her path and by an after-thought took from her the umbrella and small dressing-bag she was carrying.

Catherine was less annoyed by the nature of her reception than alarmed at what it might indicate. The thought struck her that something had occurred to upset the whole morale of the household.

"Didn't madame get my telegram? She was going to send you to meet me. However, that's of no consequence," she added quickly. "The point is, what has happened? Is madame ill?"

In spite of his command of many languages, Eduardo was a man of few words. He muttered something unintelligible in which she could only make out "accident" and "very bad," then after an awkward hesitation he waved her towards the wide open doors of the salon.

"Perhaps you'd better go in there, miss," he said, motioning her into the room. "I'll fetch Jeanne to talk to you——" and without further effort at explanation he vanished, his tread making no sound on the padded carpet.

Catherine was bewildered at the complete absence of his habitual, obsequious bearing. Why, he had addressed her with the inarticulate but familiar manner he might have used towards one of his own station! Certainly Harry Bender, easy-going though he had been in many ways, would never have tolerated this rude familiarity. Yet she knew that the man had for years been almost indispensable, something approaching a major-domo. Had the accident to which he referred overthrown his customary balance? She hoped it was only that.

She pushed open the salon doors and entered, then, too perturbed to sit down, gazed round her at the rich furnishings. The immense double room, built on two levels, was divided through the middle by graceful gates of wrought iron and gilded bronze, placed at the head of broad shallow steps. Both portions were filled with exquisite examples of the Louis Quinze period, genuine pieces, fit for a museum, the upholstery of delicate petit point. On the left wall hung a large tapestry, and here and there stood vitrines containing collections of miniatures and snuff-boxes. The whole effect was one of taste as she recalled it, yet there was a subtle difference which she was not then preoccupied to define. Probably it was due to the general air of neglect and complete absence of flowers, which together with a stuffy atmosphere, gave the impression that no one had used the apartment for a very long period.

Minutes went by. Why didn't Jeanne come? The prolonged wait intensified her fears. Again and again her eyes strayed towards the doors, but there was neither sight nor sound of any one approaching.

She walked to the end of the room, where two long windows gave upon a narrow balcony. The curtains of old-gold brocade had not been drawn, and through the opening she could see the trees and glimmering lights of the avenue. Between the windows was a wide fireplace, over which hung an eighteenth century mirror. Facing her, flanked by twin lustres with tear-shaped drops, stood a columned clock of white marble with ormolu trimmings. Mechanically she compared the time with that of her wrist-watch, and saw that the clock was not going. At the same instant she discovered through the coating of dust on the delicate surface. Odd! She touched the glass pendants of the lustres, ran a light finger over the strip of brocade beneath. Dust again . . .

Suddenly she felt her eyes gravitate upward towards a reflection in the glass.

Good Morning!

A man who faced death in the trenches sat next to me as I watched "Men Without Women," and I knew he was facing it again with the men imprisoned in the S-13, ninety feet beneath the surging waters of the China sea. If the picture was being terribly real to me—as it was—what must it have been meaning to him! He didn't say a word, but in the half light I stole a look at his face . . . !

Well, that's the sort of film "Men Without Women" is. It "gets" you from salty start to smashing finish. It achieves its effects not through the horror of human beings entrapped under the sea, but through its keen and instinctive analyses of the characters of those trapped humans at that moment when all masks slip aside and men reveal themselves for what they are.

John Ford, who made "The Iron Horse," "Four Sons," and has given his fine touch to other worthy films, directed "Men Without Women." It will be an everlasting credit to his name. Not only has he turned out a technically perfect production, but he has made it an utterly believable one. There is not one single instance of sloppy detail. From start to finish the picture is, in every particular, a model of clean cut workmanship.

The story starts in Shanghai, where you see a group of sailors from the U. S. S. S-13 enjoying shore leave. Here it is that you get your only glimpse of women—a few "extras." There is a woman vitally connected with the story, but she never appears.

Sailing orders! Chief Torpedoman Burke, a strange and reticent member of the crew, comes to recall the sailors to the ship. Who is Burke? He's the hero, but you'll not be told anything more about him here.

Well, out in the China sea the S-13 is rammed by a steamer—and sinks. Captain and lookouts are washed overboard. Down with the boat go Burke, Ensign Price, a recently commissioned officer who finds himself in command, and fourteen men.

The radio is disabled. Water enters slowly, surely, through an unreachable leak. The air grows fetid. The submarine oscillator is the only means left by which to summon help. . . . Death and the crew of the S-13 are face to face. . . .

There's your situation.

The dialogue by James K. McGuinness is magnificent. So are the men who deliver it. And if you think there can be no action on just one set—the insides of a submarine—think again. The suspense is awful! The finish is surprising, powerful, deeply and tenderly moving.

The acting is uniformly fine. Every man in the cast lives his rôle and makes you live it with him.

With all its tragedy "Men Without Women" is not devoid of fun. You will find it disporting some robust comedy, presented with vigor and sparkle.

Don't let anything keep you from seeing "Men Without Women"—will you? It's one of the Great Sound Cinemas of the Day.

A. J. BALABAN PLANS TO QUIT PRESENT MOVIE ASSOCIATIONS

New York, April 4.—[Special.]—A. J. Balaban at his home here tonight confirmed reports that he is to resign from the firm of Balaban & Katz and the Paramount Publix Pictures corporation. The only reason he would give for his action was that he intended to enter a larger field in the theatrical business.

Following the sale of Balaban & Katz to Paramount four years ago Mr. Balaban, the founder, gradually released his hold on the smaller firm's activities, he explained. A year ago he came east and has since been connected with the Broadway end of the combined organization.

"I now feel that my work with the firm is done, and I want to do bigger things," he said.

Mr. Balaban is to sail for Europe about the middle of May, he said, and will remain abroad until the first of the year. He will make a thorough study of all phases of the European theatrical situation, but as to the possible object of exploiting the foreign field he is undecided at present. Other than this, his plans are unsettled, he said.

WEDDING

The marriage of Miss Veola Faye Peterson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Peterson of Coloma, S. D., to George A. Rock of Chicago took place on Wednesday evening. The service was read by the Rev. C. Claud Travis at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Brooks of 3300 Sheridan road.

Stadium Flower Show Opening at 2 P. M. Today

Formal Gardens, Woodland Glens on Display.

Rufus C. Dawes, president of the Century of Progress exposition, will deliver the opening address, with Mrs. Frederick Fisher, Lake Bluff, Ill., president of the Garden Clubs, presiding.

The last of the gorgeous blooms were in place late last night. Women from nearly every section of the Chicago region were adding final touches to their hundreds of miniature gardens, flower boxes, table settings, rock gardens, and other features of the amateur displays.

The commercial exhibits, twelve large gardens fringed with masses of evergreen and shrubbery, fill the main floor. In the side terraces and about the oval shaped arena are every type of both decorative and practical garden arrangements. Potted plants and cut flowers of new and rare varieties have been entered by both nearby and distant exhibitors.

Judging of the one hundred dinner, supper, and special occasion tables entered by 96 garden clubs will be completed before the show opens today. Immediately following the awarding of prizes and ribbons the judges will be given a luncheon in the terrace tearoom by Mrs. Roy Sturtevant of the Lake Forest Garden club.

In the cut flower and potted plant classes several new varieties of tulips and irises will be shown for the first time in Chicago. The North Shore Horticultural society has brought from greenhouses many rare plants and flowers which will be features of the gardens that society has installed. The plants include Bellaprone, Nemerias, Linarias, Emphabia Splenderis, and others.

The junior gardeners, too, have a remarkable array of 300 or more exhibits, birdhouses of many designs, miniature growing gardens, posters, and small window boxes.

It's a far cry from the Italian renaissance and other more formal gardens, with their hedges, paths, and fountains, to the natural wildwoods installed by the forest preserve, with its spring wild flowers peeping through dead leaves, and forest pools or the bog garden.

The Inquiring Reporter

The Question.

The Answers.

Miss Mary Muldowney, 7941 Manistee avenue, bookkeeper—I would not want to live on a farm. It would be all right in summer, but I fear the winter months would be long, drab, and dreary. City men are more liable to become somebody. I love to travel, and it is my impression that farmers are not much for traveling.

Miss Mildred Osolin, 8549 Oglesby avenue, stenographer—In a way I think I would like to because country life appeals to me. But the country has not the advantages the city has, and the city man gets a higher salary and could have more home comforts. Besides, a city apartment is generally more comfortable than a farm house.

Miss Bertha Zitlin, 5049 North Ridgeway avenue, stenographer — Many of them are high class and admirable in every respect. Just as the city harbors all sorts of nondescripts, so the country has its hickies, in action, dress, and so forth. I wouldn't care to live in a farm house, because there are so few modern improvements.

Miss Evelyn Block, 3817 Ainslie street, stenographer—I must not make it too discouraging for our fine boys out on the farm, but life there is too slow, much too slow. I can't imagine what I would do with my time on a farm, inasmuch as I do not know a thing about milking cows, planting, or anything.

Miss Evelyn Spraner, 3346 Wallace street, stenographer—We city girls know little about farming, but I don't believe I would care for farm life. I wouldn't mind being on a farm for a vacation. I am so used to the city and all its excitement I couldn't stand the quiet of the country.

Chicagoan's Ballet Music Is Played by Stock's Orchestra

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Yesterday's program by the Chicago Symphony orchestra was as persuasive an argument for modern music as has been heard this season. With one exception the music was all by living composers. The exception was that bit of imitation Meyerbeerism, "Gerechter Gott," from Wagner's "Rienzi," chanted with so much gorgeousness by Margaret Matzenauer that it became one of the hits of the afternoon.

The concert began with Ernest Bloch's "Two Poems," written at an early stage of his career before he began to formulate his own musical theories, dogmas, and inhibitions, and consequently about as charming music as he ever wrote. The next was a work to which all Chicago may continue to point with pride, the suite from John Alden Carpenter's ballet, "The Birthday of the Infanta."

The Chicago Opera association did a fine thing for musical art when it staged this ballet ten years ago, and though a considerable time has passed since last it appeared, its music still is something to warm the blood. Every measure in it was thoroughly alive in its revival. Mr. Carpenter has arranged the suite more according to the logic of the music than to the chronological order of the story, and has made a few other changes, among them the occasional and extremely effective introduction of a soprano voice without words. These notes were sung by Estelle Felber, who has a gay lilt to her voice, entirely in keeping with the gayety of the suite.

Mme. Matzenauer made her first appearance at this point, singing Charles M. Loeffler's "Canticle of the Sun," a setting of St. Francis' poem, and doing extremely well with a lofty minded, atmospheric, sober, and somewhat lengthy work. Her personal success came just after the intermission in the aria already referred to, which her magnificent voice and stately manner carried to a high point.

The closing number was the first performance in Chicago of Ottorino Respighi's "Roman Festivals." This is the final number in a Roman musical trilogy, the other items, heard in other seasons, being concerned with that city's fountains and pines.

It is much in character with the other. Respighi has an uncommon talent for scenic painting in music, combined with occasional utterly charming, if miniature, musical ideas. The one possible fault with this is that the festival idea connotes too much and too long continued noisy orchestration. But Mr. Stock and the orchestra played it in a way to take the listener right up to the edge of his seat.

A new series of Friday evening musicales by young Chicago artists began at Curtiss hall last night with a piano recital by Dorothy Crost, and it will continue until four other young Chicago artists have made appearances. Miss Crost played the Bach Chromatic Fantasy and Fugue, a Chopin group, the Handel-Brahms Theme and Variations, and a modern group, displaying in the process a considerable talent for the piano, if at times a tendency to let artistic aspiration outrun smooth technical development.

Orchestra hall was filled last night to hear a choral contest between two colored organizations, the white clad Metropolitan Church choir, directed by J. Wesley Jones, on the left of the stage, and the black clad Mundy Choristers, directed by James A. Mundy, on the right. On a program that ran from operatic excerpts to cherubic hymns from the Russian liturgy and back to spirituals, the applause of the audience was the sole judgment, and, as there was plenty for some really excellent singing on both sides, every one was satisfied. Inserted among the choral numbers were solos by Goldie Guy-Martin, pianist; Alexander Parks, tenor; John Tompkins, baritone, and Lewis V. White, basso.

The telegram comes from Giovanni Martinelli's manager, so it must be true. It tells that on Thursday night Mr. Martinelli was giving a recital in Seattle when, in the midst of a number, a short circuit touched off the firm alarm in the hall. The audience started to struggle for the exits, but Martinelli continued to sing, and thus his calmness averted a serious panic.

Shriners Buy Out Circus Performance for Children

Ten thousand children, whose fathers are members of Medinah Temple, will attend a special performance of the Sells-Floto circus today at 10 a. m. at the Coliseum. The Shrine has purchased all the seats for this morning's special performance and only children of the members, in addition to the crippled children from the Shriners' hospital, will be admitted. The circus remains at the Coliseum until Sunday night, April 13. Then it moves to the Stadium.

Temple Sholom Dedicated with Solemn Rites

Ceremonies to Continue Today and Tomorrow.

Formal dedication of Sholom temple and the Frankenstein Memorial center at Sheridan road and Cornelia avenue, called by its builders the largest synagogue in America, was begun last night. The dedicatory services will continue through tomorrow, conducted by rabbinical leaders from all over the country.

The $1,750,000 temple was filled to capacity at the opening service. The temple has a membership of 1,000 families. More than 2,800 persons witnessed the processional of the scrolls of the law, carried by rabbis, officers, and directors, and the sanctification of the ark by Rabbi Abram Hirschberg that initiated the consecration of the great octagonal temple to "Judaism, the community and the nation."

William B. Frankenstein, chairman of the building committee, presented the building, and Mrs. Simon Weil, president of the Sholom sisterhood, gave the organ to the congregation. The acceptance was made by Benjamin M. Engelhard, president of the temple congregation.

Mr. Engelhard reminded the congregation that it numbered only 70 when Rabbi Hirschberg became its leader 32 years ago. "To him we pay our loving tribute. Let this monument ever be an expression of his spiritual leadership. I do now declare the doors of the Temple Sholom open and this house dedicated to the service of God and the good of man."

Rabbi Samuel Hirschberg, Milwaukee, Wis., and Rabbi Louis Wolsey of Philadelphia gave the dedicatory addresses.

"You have built a magnificent monument to religion," Dr. Hirschberg declared. "It takes a faith deep and strong in this day and generation to make such a declaration. It is a day when many say that the day of God is gone and religion is in the discard. They are offering various substitutes.

"Religion was here before we came, and it will be here when we have passed away. All we enjoy in life—health, prosperity, the development of personalities, depends on our relationship to original reality. As long as there is a universe and man is a teacher, religion must remain. It is a necessity in the scheme of things. We may alter our attitude, disregard religion and deny its claim, but never can remove or destroy it. In the final analysis of the term 'man,' men are men only to the degree they are religious."

At the service this morning the sermons will be delivered by Dr. Solomon B. Freehof and Dr. Louis L. Mann of Chicago. Tomorrow Rabbi Morris M. Feuerlicht of Indianapolis will give the address and greetings from the Chicago Rabbinical association will be brought by Dr. Felix A. Levy.

Temple Sholom was founded 63 years ago. During that time it has had only three rabbis other than Dr. Hirschberg—Drs. A. Oliendorf, Aaron and Norden.

Paul Claudel Writes Opera on Christopher Columbus

Washington, D. C., April 4.—M. Paul Claudel, French ambassador, who is a poet as well as statesman, has written the libretto for an opera, based upon the life of Christopher Columbus, which will be produced in German in Berlin late this month. M. Claudel hopes to be able to attend the première.

The ambassador, who already had written a play based on Japanese life, got his idea of writing the libretto from conversations with Max Reinhardt. The music has been composed by Darius Milhaud.

There are departures from the conventional opera in that the chorus plays a most important part and, while the characters have speaking parts, a film screen at the back of the stage will show their thoughts by pictures.

South Shore Club "Follies" Lively Show

BY ROBERTA NANGLE.

When the South Shore Country club summons its band of talented amateurs each year to prepare for its annual "Follies" performance the committee in charge voices the ultimatum that the current show must outshine all of its predecessors.

Last night almost 1,000 persons crowded into the club ballroom to view the "Follies of 1930." The show is a colorful, rollicking revue, patterned faithfully after Broadway offerings of the same type, with a cast of 120.

The program includes a variety of twinkling chorus numbers, laugh provoking sketches and burlesques, music and songs, and several of the brief bits popularly known as "blackouts." It was all accomplished in four weeks of daily practice, under the direction of Wallace Milam, plus a dress rehearsal starting Thursday night, lasting well into the small hours of yesterday morning.

Late comers missed a picturesque opening number—a sprightly ditty about "Billy, the Billboard Man," sung by Albert Bates Jr., with the assistance of a chorus of billboard girls attired in scarlet trunks, white satin blouses and scarlet berets. Next on the program is "The Shooting of Dan McGrew," enacted with zest by Paul Jones as Dan, Morrison Wood as the "stranger," Dr. Ralph Parker as the bartender, and Virginia Hall as the famous "lady known as Lou."

Ben Watson, star of several South Shore Follies, appears twice, first singing a wistful ballad entitled "Washday," and later in a specialty with Orvis Henkle. Other familiar names among the principals are Mr. and Mrs. Albert Bates Jr., whose tiny daughter, Adrian Bates, who has the rôle of the bride's train bearer in a fashion show number.

Constance Rountree and William O'Connell provide one of the most pleasing scenes in their dreamy duet about "A Little Church Around the Corner," against a chorus background of dancing bridesmaids and groomsmen. Virginia Hall, the South Shore girl who has been successful pursuing a career on Broadway, made a great hit among her old friends with her singing and ballet offerings.

The revue will be presented again this evening and will be followed by a dance. The men in charge of the performance include E. Malcolm Anderson, chairman of entertainment; Mr. Bates, chairman of the Follies committee; E. A. Wayland, stage manager; J. T. Kern and Andrew Dahlberg.

Palette and Chisel Club's Show Makes Spectator Welcome

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

In tune with spring is the exhibit of water colors which opens today at the Palette and Chisel club. It is a gay and friendly exhibit, decorative and diversified. It is a sunny, unpretentious, intimate show which makes you welcome at once.

The painters who belong to the Palette and Chisel club are some of the best known in Chicago. There is Oskar Gross, for example, whose splendid character portrait won him the gold medal of the Chicago Association of Painters and Sculptors at the recent Chicago artists' exhibit at the Art institute. He is found in the current show in modest and amusing guise. "Clothespins" he calls his water color, and it is a sketch in color of a sailor clad clothespin and a lady clothespin with a black olive of a dog against a background of blue, blue water, meeting another lady clothespin, who sniffs at the frivolous uncertainty of her former sailor friend. An amusing piece, this, and very well done.

Othmar Hoffler offers two quaint and colorful, warm and intimate little foreign scenes, rich in atmosphere, "Port Avon" and "Street in Vitre." J. Jeffrey Grant submits several delightful studies of boats; "The Old Fishhouse," for instance, is a very nice thing. His "Gloucester Wharf" is another richly satisfying piece of color. Louis Weiner shows a vivid and restless "Canyon Road." Louis J. Kaep has a clever modernistic effort in his "Street in Heidelberg."

Fred Larsen offers one of the loveliest pictures in the show in his "Phantom Vista," and another clear and cool and exquisite painting in the "Enchanted Entrance." "Her Majesty," by Maurice Greenberg, is a bewitching scrap of broken color. "Montauk L. I.," by Leon Pescheret, is exquisitely painted. The "Approaching Storm," by O. B. Erickson, is modern in feeling and is decorative. "Wapi, Arizona," by J. Carl Doemling, is one of the most beautiful water colors in the gallery.

Among the other artists represented are Sam Byer, Karl Brandner, H. Jensen, F. J. Hoban, H. J. Margraf, N. P. Steinberg, Frank Raymond, Fred Gray, C. Cury Bohm, William Weir, and F. T. M. Beatly.

The exhibit will run through April 24.

London Women Protest Legal Rule Affecting the Smart Restaurants

LONDON, April 4.—(AP)—London women took a vigorous stand for their "restaurant rights" tonight with a protest against being refused permission to eat in smart restaurants or hot dog stands without male escorts.

The women, old and young, pretty and plain, smartly dressed and awry, guided by St. Joan's Political and Social alliance, attended a mass meeting at Kensington Town hall and made a formal protest to the government against what they termed unfair treatment of women who try to eat in restaurants alone or with other women.

Under the chairmanship of Lord Balfour of Burleigh they adopted a resolution asking the government to repeal a clause in the police act forbidding restaurant keepers to allow women of "a certain moral character" on their premises. The resolution called attention to the embarrassment the strict application of this rule causes "good women." Five women speakers representing various women's organizations cited examples of the embarrassment given many women by the rule's application.

Lay Off Facial Gymnastics if You'd Avoid Lines

by Gabriele Ravoli

An engaging young girl of almost 16 invited me to look at the terrible wrinkles she was growing. I couldn't find them, so I gave her the compliments I knew were expected.

Wrinkles don't begin at quite that age, fortunately for the face of the world. The young girl was mimicking a sister not much over 21 who is getting a wrinkled brow from scowling.

When wrinkles occur in early life, unless there has been severe illness, the cause is found in some habit, and a remediable one at that. Up to 25 habit forms the wrinkles where they are formed. Raising the eyebrows constantly, scowling, squinting, or indulgence in facial gymnastics will lay a good foundation for wrinkle trouble. But if they are caught young, it is a simple matter to iron the flesh out smoothly again. The patient must cure herself of the habit by controlling her features, that's all. No one can do that for her.

Washing the face constantly in hot water will hasten the wrinkling of the skin. Some people love to give their faces a good cleaning in water hotter than they'd use on dishes. Use only warm water and ALWAYS follow the face wash with a cold rinse, or if the skin is of an unusually dry character and no pains are taken to supply lubricating oil or cream to make up the deficiency in the fat glands, wrinkles might appear in a young face.

Ordinarily, however, wrinkles before 25 do not need massage and nourishing cream treatment as often as they need correction of foolish facial habits.

It is after 25, or more rightly after 30, that one has to look upon the etched line as a foe come to hold the territory attacked. If no resistance is put up, the line becomes more and more deeply intrenched and is harder to smooth out. Then the massage cream should be dragged out and put to work with live hand movement.

Americans in Paris

PARIS, April 4.—The following Americans registered at THE TRIBUNE bureau here today:

BEAUTY ANSWERS

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

M. G. H.: FOR EXCESSIVE PERspiration of the armpits apply a twenty-five per cent solution of aluminum chloride in distilled water. Two or three applications should give relief for several weeks.

U. D. C.: TO KEEP THE TOOTH brush sterile and sweet put common salt on the bristles and back and hang it up to dry. It is advisable to have two brushes and alternate their use, night and morning, so as to have them thoroughly dry before using.

Men's Overeating Blamed for Rise in Their Death Rate

Women may be too much concerned about calories and vitamins in their diets, but men are too little concerned about the food values in theirs. That was the opinion of Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, voiced yesterday in comment on the rising death rate for men between the ages of 35 and 54, as reported from the files of the federal census bureau. An increase of 11 per cent over the 1921 mortality rate in the same group was reported, while the corresponding female group showed a decrease of 1.5 per cent.

"Some years ago we had a slogan in the city department of health: 'Your belt line is your life line,'" the former health chief recalled. "Life insurance companies have pretty well established that the weight gain after 35 is in proportion to the death rate in that age group. A balanced diet is a wonderful thing. Now men sit down to lunch and order pork chops, French fried potatoes, pie, and incidentals, while a woman probably picks a lettuce sandwich in the attempt to keep her weight down. It all counts against the men in the end, unless they are doing sufficiently hard work to warrant such heavy meals.

"Degenerative diseases have increased, also. By that I mean diseases of the heart, the liver, the stomach, and so forth, most of which are incidental to fast living. Sedentary occupations call for lighter meals than many of us are willing to content ourselves with. Then, too, women are more careful about their health—they wear rubbers and carry umbrellas when the weather demands, while the man pooh-poohs."

Society Women Greet Wilder at Reception

BY THALIA

Socially speaking, yesterday's calendar was crowded. As every one predicted, there was a terrific crush at the Arts club tea to meet the popular Thornton Wilder. From 4 until 6 o'clock that young author was the center of a constantly changing group of adulatory women eager to shake his hand and talk to him. Tea was served from two tables decorated with urns of calla lilies, carnations, and snapdragons.

Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. John Alden Carpenter, the latter in a sleeveless black crêpe frock with a bright yellow scarf collar and a tan straw hat; Mrs. Rockefeller McCormick, Mrs. Parmelee McFadden, Mr. and Mrs. Graham Aldis, Mrs. Laird Bell and her daughter, Miss Helen Bell; Mrs. Theodore White Smith, Mrs. Walter S. Brewster, Miss Emily Larned, Mrs. Henry Faurot Jr., Miss Agnes Foreman, Miss Fanny Butcher, Mrs. James Weber Linn, Mrs. Edward Litsinger and her daughter, Miss Edwina Litsinger; Mrs. John J. Finlay, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Paepcke, Mrs. Lewis L. Coburn, Mrs. David Adler, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred E. Hamill, Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank, Mrs. Herbert E. Bradley, and Mrs. Lewis Louer.

Many of the same persons rode up to the Tower ballroom of the Stevens at noon to attend the Drama league luncheon for Dr. Walter Starkie, who spoke on "Drama and Music of Gypsies." And from there the regular Friday afternoon symphony boxholders wended their way to Orchestra hall before ending the day, finally, at the Wilder tea.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert R. Straight of Bartlesville, Okla., have announced the engagement of their daughter, Harriet, to Elmer Stevens, son of Charles A. Stevens of Chicago and Lake Geneva, Wis. Miss Straight was graduated from Vassar and Mr. Stevens from Brown university. The wedding will take place on May 3 in Bartlesville.

Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Leverone will give a buffet supper for Sir Julian Arnold tomorrow evening at their residence at 534 Surf street. Sir Julian is to tell some of his personal recollections of famous European personages.

Mrs. Melvin Ericson of Evanston sailed last night on the S. S. Majestic to spend five or six weeks with her parents, Ambassador Charles G. Dawes and Mrs. Dawes, at the American embassy in London. Mrs. Ericson will undoubtedly be among the American women to be presented to their majesties at the court of St. James at one of the May levees, although the royal invitations are not yet due to be received for a week or so. Mr. Ericson accompanied his wife to New York to see her off last night.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Harris Osgood of Pittsburgh, Pa., are being congratulated on the birth of a daughter, Elizabeth Harris, on April 1. Mrs. Osgood is the former Miss Dorothy E. Marston, daughter of Mrs. Thomas B. Marston of Lake Forest.

Mr. and Mrs. Adlai Stevenson are to have a group of guests at the Russian ball on Tuesday at the Petrushka club. Among the young people who will act as hosts will be Miss Bertha Palmer and Potter Palmer Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward M. Adams of 232 East Walton place and their daughter, Miss Jean Adams, have gone to Bermuda to be among the Easter lilies for Easter time. Miss Adams is president of the Chicago alumnae of the Bennett school at Millbrook, N. Y., which held its first meeting of the year a few days ago.

Mary Trigg Waller, daughter of Mrs. T. McElwee Waller of Highland Park, Ill., is at Wells college. Mrs. Waller will be present for her daughter's graduation in June. Miss Waller and James M. Carry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph C. Carry, will be married next fall. Their engagement was announced in February.

Miss Jane W. Plumb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Preston B. Plumb of South Pasadena, Cal., will be married April 21 to Graeme Stewart Doane, son of Dr. and Mrs. Philip Schuyler Doane, formerly of Chicago. Mr. Doane is a grandson of the late Graeme Stewart of Chicago, noted here 25 years ago in business and public affairs.

Mrs. Wayne Chatfield-Taylor, who has been at the estate of her mother, the late Mrs. George Blow, for several weeks past, arrived in New York City this week, where Mr. Chatfield-Taylor joined her.

Walter B. Smith of 1200 Lake Shore drive and his daughter, Miss Winifred Smith, have been at Asheville, N. C., for an early spring stay. Miss Smith's marriage to Alfred McCormack of Brooklyn is to take place on May 31.

Carl von Ammon is expected to arrive from Williams college today to spend a week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest von Ammon of Winnetka.

Mrs. Stillwell R. Harcourt of 1423 Elmdale avenue announces the marriage on March 29 of her daughter, Callie Jennings, to Donald M. Hemb, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hemb of Wilmette.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 4.—Mrs. Hoover returned to the White House late this afternoon from Philadelphia. President Hoover left this afternoon for his camp on the Rapidan to do his first fishing this season.

Mrs. William Howard Taft has returned to her Washington home from Cincinnati, where she went to attend the funeral of her sister, Mrs. Charles P. Anderson, who died suddenly in Paris. Mrs. Taft and her sister, Miss Maria Herron, will sail for Italy next month to spend the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Phelps Brown, the latter formerly Miss Katherine Ridgely, granddaughter of the late Senator Shelby M. Cullom of Illinois, arrived here this afternoon by motor from their home in Springfield, Mass., to visit Mrs. Ridgely, widow of Mrs. Brown's father, William Barrett Ridgely, formerly of Chicago.

Mrs. George Bass of Chicago, who has been at the Mayflower all this week, was joined there yesterday by Mrs. Frank G. Perkins of South Bend, Ind., who came up from the south. They will motor on to New York in a few days.

U. of C. Adding Priest to Faculty as an Expert on Indians

The Rev. Bernard Haile, a Franciscan missionary, regarded as the world's foremost authority on the language, ethnology and religion of the Navajo Indians, has been appointed research associate in the anthropology department of the University of Chicago, Prof. Edwin Sapir, head of the department, announced yesterday.

"Father Haile's position is unique," Prof. Sapir said yesterday, "in that he has spent many years among the Navajo and is much loved by them. We are fortunate to secure his services, since he is the outstanding scholar on their language and customs. His religious background has given him a keen insight into the involved ritual of the Indian culture."

Working at Chinlee, Ariz., the monk has gathered 3,690 pages of material on the ancient chants, ceremonies and legends of the Navajo. This summer he will camp among the Apaches in New Mexico, using a phonograph to record their tribal songs and language. He is the first Catholic priest appointed to the University of Chicago staff.

PRIMATE OF ENGLAND WELCOMES FRANKNESS; WARNS OF DANGERS

LONDON, April 4.—(AP)—In an interview with the Canadian press correspondent today, the most Rev. Cosmo Gordon Lang, archbishop of Canterbury and primate of England, said he was glad the subject of sex, so long shrouded in a blighting silence, has been frankly discussed.

"I rejoice to see," he said, "that many of the old purely conventional and unreal restraints have broken down and that our young people meet together in terms of perfect frankness and equality.

"But in the new freedom of relationship between the sexes there are dangers lurking. Modern devices and discoveries have brought into that freedom a new and insidious factor to corrupt and disturb it. Multitudes of our young people of both sexes who are supposed to be living in an outwardly respectable life are habitually indulging in a manner which would have shamed the conscience of the men of the past and would have brought the most disastrous and pitiful consequences to girls. Therefore we must enlarge the scope of healthful recreation."

Mt. Holyoke Club Session.

French Deputies Fear Laces Will Vanish from Trade with U. S.

PARIS, April 4.—(AP)—The proposed new American tariff on lace, in the opinion of the customs committee of the chamber of deputies, may result in a change of styles affecting French consumption as well as American.

A resolution adopted by the committee today says: "The committee is singularly surprised by an increase to a prohibitive point of the duties on French lace in the United States which already at 90 per cent were considered very high.

"The committee calls the attention of the government to the gravity of the change which will not only prevent export to the United States but will have serious consequences on the French consumption of laces.

"It is to be feared that lace will no longer be used in styles prepared for the United States and which are comprised in the general collection of styles to be sold in France and other countries, because dressmakers will feel the effects of the new duties and endeavor to avoid them.

"In consequence, the committee asks the government to call the attention of the American government to the grave prejudice caused to an important branch of French industry which cannot fail to have a bad influence on the commercial relations of the two countries."

Book on the New Education Stirs the Imagination

A "Play Booklet" by Mrs. Bevans for mothers of pre-school children will be sent free on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

If you've never had a thought in you heard about education, or
If you've always been interested in it—
If you think our school system is all right, or
If you think our school system is all wrong—
If you believe in freedom, or
If you believe in the discipline of restriction—
If you think school should fit children for life—
If you're a teacher—
If you're a mother or father—

Whatever you are or whatever you think your imagination will be stirred, your horizon widened, your mind will be enriched by reading:

"New Schools in the Old World," by Carleton Washburne and Myron M. Stearns, published by the John Day company of New York.

It has for a long time been my intention to review this book, and to urge every one who is interested in children to read it. No matter how limited you may be in time you could manage to do so, because the book is extremely short. In spite of its shortness you finish it with the sense of having read a much longer book, because it takes you so far afield in thought and place.

This book takes you to England, to Belgium, Holland, France, Switzerland, Germany, Czecho-Slovakia and Austria. With Mr. Washburne you visit the progressive schools of these countries — but not their school systems, of course, which in some cases date back nearly to the dark ages. The new education is not widespread, so the schools to which you go in the book are individual experiments of free, independent educators with all the high courage of their convictions.

It is a fascinating journey that this book takes you on, and unless I am mistaken, one from which you will not return unchanged.

I can't imagine any one visualizing Bakule's school of cripples, or that of the little Czech orphans, the peaceful beauty of the English school at Bedales or the busy school of the little London slum children, the children of mill drudges in Lancashire, or the revolutionary experiment in Hamburg without intense interest and profit. "New Schools in the Old World" is an awakening book.

Such Fine Linen.

Among my bridal gifts was a luncheon set from a wealthy acquaintance. I made a special effort to make my "thank you" note for this gift express the deep gratitude I felt, since there was no especial reason why she should have remembered me. I stated that even my husband, who was not well versed in linens, thought her gift the finest linen he had ever seen.

Later with the added knowledge of textiles a bride acquires, I knew the luncheon set to be pure cotton. Remembering my gushing letter of thanks, I experienced a most embarrassing moment, not only then but whenever I met the donor thereafter.

WOMAN'S OR MISS' DRESS.

If you are looking for a conservative design for a dress for general wear, you will find it in the model shown here. The pointed yoke bodice with the collarless neckline is youthful and generally becoming. Horizontal tucks nip the normal waistline at the front, creating a slight fullness at either side. The pointed outline of the circular skirt meets the tucks at the front, emphasizing the higher waistline and smooth fitting hipline. Navy blue silk crêpe is an old standby, and one of the smartest materials for this sort of a dress for spring. Any of the other silk crêpes will be suitable, either printed or plain.

The pattern, 3289, comes in sizes 16 and 18 years, and 36, 38, 40, and 42 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 3¾ yards of 39 inch material.

Bright Sayings of the Children

It was the first time Alice had ever seen a cat carrying its kitten by the nape of its neck.

"You aren't fit to be a mother," she cried scathingly. "You aren't hardly fit to be a father!" M. H.

Mother was trying to impress upon Bobby and Billy that it was quite an ordinary thing to go to bed early.

"Look at the chickens," she said. "They go to bed when the sun goes down."

Two Timing Girl Gets Bawling Out from Her Fiance

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Alice is 23, a university graduate, daughter of a well-to-do father, and of considerable social background. At a yachting party she was introduced to a man about 42, hair graying at the temples, a widely traveled person, with a wife who was in Switzerland trying to regain her health and with whom he has always lived most happily.

This man, Walter he is to be called, had a young doctor friend about 29 with a promising practice. The two men had been friends for years. Walter believed Alice just the girl to please his young bachelor friend, so he brought about an introduction. The three went places together, the doctor finally declaring his affection for the girl and asking her to marry him.

All three were at a coming out party one evening and Alice, engrossed in Walter's company, neglected saving two dances reserved for the young medic. He came upon the pair in the library and believed that they purposely found the retreat to avoid him. He told Alice that no girl caring for her own reputation would hide away for hours at a dance with a married man.

Alice gave him the air. Walter explained it was a mere male outburst of jealousy and proceeded to deliver himself of a love declaration, hinting that he might marry Alice if his wife would divorce him. Alice claims surprise and shock at the discovery that Walter loved her.

The doctor absented himself for three weeks, then came back, apologetic, begging forgiveness and reinstatement. But he asked Alice not to see Walter again. She promised. She broke her promise a few evenings later and went to dinner and the theater with Walter. The doctor saw them together.

When they reached Alice's home the young doctor was there and blazed forth. Both Walter and Alice heard a few things about themselves they were not accustomed to hearing.

The young doctor told her that no man, no matter how broad minded he might profess to be, would put any other construction on a frequent meeting relationship between a single girl and married man than he was doing. Alice asks, "When the association was so innocent, how could he talk like that?"

And we answer Alice: "Put it up to five men and if four out of five of them don't agree such an association puts a dusty film on a girl's reputation, the doctor loses." But he won't. The fifth man will only be hedging.

Baking Temperatures.

Cooking time tables may look helpful, but circumstances so alter cases that they are often a snare and delusion instead of furnishing the helpful directions that they pretend to.

It is worth while to know approximately what the temperature should be in baking bread, cake, potatoes, and meats, but the size of each one of these will and should alter the directions. The larger the cake, loaf of bread, or piece of meat, the lower the temperature should be. For an extreme example of the differences we may compare the baking of hot rolls to the baking of a loaf of bread.

If we bake the loaf of bread or a sizable cake at a continuous temperature probably 350 degrees is the best heat to use, but if we are baking a small roll made of exactly the same dough as that for the loaf of bread we may have a heat as high as that measured by 500 degrees. The difference between 350 and 500 degrees, you see, is no small one. Biscuits are usually baked at a 450 degree temperature, that heat being an extremely advantageous one for that type of baking if it is not continued too long. Fifteen minutes is about the length of time that one may bake rolls at a 500 degree temperature. After that they would burn. Biscuits can bake for twenty minutes without burning at 450 degrees.

We have tried to emphasize the word "continuous" in reference to temperature, but in some cases we can get superior effects by putting our bread or cake into a too hot oven for continuous work, and then finish the baking on a descending temperature by lowering the heat. In other cases it is advantageous to use an ascending heat for the baking, but this requires much greater watchfulness than the other sort. Any mixture lightened with eggs must be baked at a lower temperature than one lightened with baking powder; therefore a popover cannot be baked at a biscuit temperature without being burned, and although any bread containing eggs must be baked at a lower temperature than one without eggs.

Paris Decides That Pin Dot Is Smartest

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS. — [Special.] — The spring fever of 1930 styles has brought out a veritable irruption of dots. There are polka dots and confetti splashes and coin spots, but most and smartest of all the pin dots. They are a pleasant relief from all black and they strike the color note in the two color costumes that Paris prefers this spring. They may be pale pink on black, red on dark brown, pale blue on navy. Blouse and accessories in any case will pick up the pins.

I have a strong suspicion, however, that black and white will always remain fashion's favorite color combination. Ripples of approval invariably follow the trail of the mannequin dressed in black and white. This blend is at once distinguished and striking and it never leaves unpleasant hangovers, for its accessories can be worn with almost everything.

Marthe et Renée use black with white for this chic ensemble that is equally good for morning and for afternoon wear. Fine, black wool crêpe with tiny white silk pin dots makes the smart long coat and skirt, both flared by almost invisible gores.

A flowery buttonhole is de rigueur this spring. This white carnation is of crêpe de chine to match the blouse. The necklace is made of silver disks and black bone rectangles. White doeskin slip-ons and a white lacquered leather envelope with black seal fastening complete this smart outfit.

SIKORSKY PLANS GIANT AMPHIBION WITH 4 ENGINES

Designed to Cover Routes Between Continents.

BY ROBERT WOOD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Bridgeport, Conn., April 4.—[Special.]—While Igor Sikorski, imaginative designer of transport planes, is at work on the world's largest amphibion, he envisions the day when Paris and Peiping will be just around the corner from Chicago, a few hours ride by an air transportation system which will squeeze up the globe into one neighborly community.

Sikorsky, who at 24 built the first multi-motored planes and at 25 was making bombers for the czar's army, today revealed the plans for his new four engined, 45 passenger dreadnaught of the skies and pointed to the day 50 years hence when this plane will be dwarfed into insignificance by aircraft of leviathan proportions, carrying 200 passengers at 500 miles an hour.

Longer Than Columbus Flagship.

The new Sikorskys will be greater in length than the Santa Maria, flagship of Christopher Columbus, and will carry the United States mails in one daylight journey from Miami to the Canal Zone over the same waters on which Columbus sailed his caravels more than 400 years ago. Two of the giant amphibions are about to be put on the racks at the Sikorsky plant here and are due to be flown early in 1931. They will be delivered to Pan American Airways for service in the Caribbean.

The planes will be able to carry 41 passengers, a crew of 4, and the mails, the Russian designer said. With fuel for 1,000 miles aboard the passenger load will be cut to 16 persons. The gross weight of the ship will be close to 14 tons, and the pay load about 6 tons. Four engines, hung in line beneath the upper wing, will propel the plane. The design of the motors, four abreast under the wing, is unique in aircraft construction.

Sharp Keeled Hull.

The hull has a sharper keel than the present day twin-motored Sikorsky of the type of the 'Arf Pint, THE TRIBUNE'S plane. It will be 23 feet high, 73 feet long, and have a wing span of 114 feet. With the exception of the Dornier DO-X, the new plane will be the largest seaplane in commercial use in the world, as well as the largest amphibion ever built.

The task of the new ship will be to fly 1,200 miles across the Caribbean from Miami to Cristobal. The schedule, as outlined by Col. Lindbergh, calls for one stop for fuel en route.

While Mr. Sikorsky would not discuss the point a report from an authoritative source in New York stated that the navy department is supporting the development of the new plans as an air fighter and a transport for marines, it was pointed out that the new ship, with its long cruising radius, will place Washington within 24 hours of the Canal Zone and bring the seat of government in closer contact with its possessions and dependencies.

Adaptable to War Purposes.

It was also learned that plans are being considered to arm the new ship heavily so that it could be shot to points of danger with troops, bombs, and mines to lay in the mouths of harbors, thus performing at much greater speed some of the functions of the submarine and cruiser.

Mr. Sikorsky believes that it is entirely possible that passengers in the future will travel in sealed cabins above the surface of the earth. There, in the stratosphere, which would offer practically no resistance to the progress of planes, passengers could travel at a speed greater than 500 miles an hour without discomfort, the designer asserted.

"Very enormous flying vessels of the sizes of the Leviathan will be entirely within the reach of engineering skill," Mr. Sikorsky said. "But it does not seem possible that such large ships will be used."

With all his dreams of giant ships of the sky, Igor Sikorsky is not losing sight of present day practicabilities. A new single motored amphibion for four passengers flew from New York today for Detroit for its first demonstration at the all-American aircraft show.

Confesses 75 Robberies; Two Others Are Seized

Herman Cohen, 62 years old, 7308 Yates avenue, owner of the Empire Loan company, 649 North Clark street, and Irving Cohen, 18 years old, his son, were taken into custody last night after Daniel Hill, 32 years old, 3702 Sheffield avenue, confessed pawning loot from robberies at Cohen's shop. Hill confessed 75 robberies and said the loot was worth $10,000. He was arrested on Wednesday evening when a stolen bracelet which had been pawned was traced to Ruth Page, 23 years old, who was found in his flat.

LOOP STORE DRIVER ROBBED.

James Barnes, 4746 South Ada street, a driver for a loop department store, was robbed of $30 yesterday by a bandit who held him up as he was making a delivery at 4330 Drexel boulevard.

WASHINGTON NOTES

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—The Harris bill to place Central and South American countries under the quota provision of the immigration law was made the unfinished business of the senate.

President Hoover signed a bill authorizing $125,000,000 annually for a road building program of three years.

After spirited discussion on the floor of the house, action was deferred on the Clancy bill to authorize the President to confer a congressional medal of honor on Capt. Edward V. Rickenbacker, world war aviator. Representative Bachmann [Rep., W. Va.] objected to the bill.

Lieutenant Commander Joel T. Boone, White House physician, was elevated to the rank of a captain in the navy by a bill signed by President Hoover.

Chairman Knutson of the house pensions committee announced he had received assurance of house leaders that he would be permitted to bring up his Spanish war pension bill on Monday under suspension of the rules.

A measure to set up a new federal power commission with limited power to regulate interstate transmission of electricity was introduced by Chairman Parker of the house interstate commerce committee.

The senate passed the house bill authorizing construction of three free highway bridges across the Red river connecting Oklahoma and Texas and paralleling three existing toll bridges.

Bert Kelly's Stables, a night life center at 431 Rush street, was padlocked yesterday by order of Federal Judge Woodward. This cabaret was the last of a dozen closed under the nuisance provisions of the dry laws on "observation" evidence.

Dry agents testified they had seen patrons consume liquor which they brought with them and mixed with "setups" sold on the premises. Kelly did not appear, and Assistant United States Attorney La Verne Norris was obliged to obtain service in the case by publication.

British Arrest 51 Samoans for Wearing Mau Uniform

WELLINGTON, New Zealand, April 4.—(AP)—One chief and fifty of his followers were arrested today at Apia, British Samoa, for wearing the uniform of the illegal native organization called the Mau, and for holding unlawful meetings. Two thousand Samoan women in the Mau uniform paraded the waterfront at Apia.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Gave Only Permanent Relief

As everybody knows, the market is flooded with cathartics, pills and patent compounds for the relief of constipation. At best, whatever results are obtained are temporary. Besides, there is the danger in certain habit-forming drugs.

Mr. P. M. Fisher, 517 Olive Street, Scranton, Pa., has something to say on this subject which will be interesting to all constipation sufferers. He says:

"For many years I suffered from constipation and used, for relief, all kinds of laxatives. After a few days' treatment, I would only find my condition the same as before and at times worse.

"Some time ago I started to use Kellogg's ALL-BRAN regularly once a day as directed. Since doing this I have found that I do not need any other medicine to procure the desired results, and it keeps me in a very healthful condition."

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is positively guaranteed to relieve both temporary and recurring constipation or money refunded.

In addition, it adds needed iron to the diet. You will like its delicious flavor. There are many delightful ways to eat it. Your grocer has Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Served everywhere. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Infantry Can Fire Big Gun from Any Position.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 4.—[Special.]—The menace of hostile aircraft attack against the infantryman has resulted in the development of a mount for the 75 millimeter field gun which will permit this weapon to be utilized for anti-aircraft work, it was disclosed at the war department today.

The modernized 75 millimeter gun perfected by the American army to a point where its range virtually is twice as great as the old French "75" of world war days has been fitted to the new mount for tests now being conducted at Aberdeen proving ground.

The new "75" gun and carriage has an all around field of fire. It is so mounted that without changing position the gun can be fired to the front, to the rear, and to both flanks. In case hostile aircraft appears, the gun can be fired at almost a vertical angle. Batteries armed with this gun will be equipped to fire at ground and aerial targets.

Maj. Gen. Fred T. Austin, recently retired chief of cavalry, began working on the new all around fire mount more than five years ago. With the aid of Maj. Gen. C. C. Williams, chief of ordnance until his retirement last Monday, the new weapon was perfected during the last two years. If its final tests prove successful the army general staff contemplates arranging for the manufacture of this type of mount and gun for general use by the army in case of another war.

The world war type of 75 millimeter field gun had a field of fire of six degrees. The modernized "75" has a field of fire of 45 degrees. The new weapon has a field of re of 360 degrees. The new gun has a range of 15,000 yards on its present mount. Placed on the new all around fire mount, its range may be even greater.

Gen. Charles P. Summerall, army chief of staff, has shown great interest in the new weapon. His policy at present is to develop all artillery weapons to the point where they can be utilized against aerial enemies. All ground troops are being trained in anti-aircraft fire under his direction.

2 Indicted for Inciting Revolt—a Capital Offense

Atlanta, Ga., April 4.—(AP)—Joe Carr and M. H. Powers, alleged communists, were indicted by the Fulton county grand jury today on charges of attempting to incite insurrection, a capital offense under Georgia law. The men are free under bond of $1,500 on misdemeanor charges. Solicitor General John A. Boykin said they would be rearrested and denied bond.

Again Konjola Makes Good

"I Had Just About Given Up Hope"

Could there be wiser course than to profit by the experiences of those who KNOW, by test, what Konjola, the new and different medicine, can do? Read the words of Mr. Fred Lind, 648 South State street, Chicago. Think them over . . . . then act.

MR. FRED R. LIND, 648 South State St.

"I certainly had a stubborn case of stomach trouble and constipation, and I tried more than twenty kinds of medicines and treatments, but got no relief. I was losing weight, gas pains followed every meal, and even the lightest food sickened me. I had just about given up hope, but while in St. Louis, about eight months ago, I heard about Konjola. I got results from the first bottle. Now I have taken twelve. I can eat anything I desire; have gained eleven pounds, and am feeling great."

3:30 p. m.—Winners of 2 and 3 o'clock games [for championship].

BY HARLAND ROHM.

Texas, Wisconsin, Kentucky, and Louisiana still had a personal interest in the national interscholastic basketball championship after the quarterfinal round at the University of Chicago yesterday. Jena, La., plays Corinth, Ky., at 2 o'clock this afternoon and an hour later Athens, Tex., engages St. John's Military academy of Delafield, Wis., in the semi-finals. The survivors battle for the championship tonight.

Two of those four semi-final games were decided by rather wide margins, Athens, defending champion, romping over Wheatland, Wyo., 31 to 14. Wheatland had collected only five points to 31 a couple of minutes before the end when Ed McGinnity, the one hand shooting expert, hit with four long field goals in succession. Corinth also had a comparatively easy time, eliminating Savannah, Ga., 26 to 14.

St. John's Wins Close Game.

Of the other two Jena defeated New Brunswick, N. J., 30 to 23 after the score had been tied at 18 all shortly before the end of the third quarter. But the real thrill of the day was reserved for the last game of the night, in which St. John's Military academy won its second one point victory in succession in the last seconds by defeating Braselton, Ga., 29 to 28.

With less than a minute to play, St. John's had pulled up after trailing by ten points to tie the score. Capt. Eddie McDeavitt of St. John's fouled Thrasher, one of Braselton's great pair of forwards, and almost broke a leg kicking the floor in anger. But Thrasher missed both free shots and McDeavitt shot high in the air to grab the second rebound, Rice, Braselton's other star forward, fouled him. With only seconds to go McDeavitt walked to the foul line and dropped the shot cleanly through the loop for a lead of a point and the game. Thrasher let go a long shot just as the gun sounded, but it hit the rim and stayed out.

Braselton Leads at Half.

This was the climax of a series of thrills that began in the third quarter. Before that it had seemed Braselton was to win as easily as the other semi-finalists had won. At the end of the first quarter they led 10 to 3, at the half, 16 to 10, and midway into the third quarter were in front, 22 to 12. Then McDeavitt started. His long shot gave St. John's two points and though Boggs matched it for Braselton, McDeavitt carried on with three more baskets and a free throw before the quarter ended, leaving St. John's in arrears only 21 to 24.

Williams dropped a long shot, Rice duplicated it with a set-up. Geaslen, St. John's star guard, went out on his fourth foul and Rice added the point. Braselton was leading 27 to 24, but Turner clicked from under the basket and McDeavitt and Rice added free throws. Then Williams hooked in a long shot, tieing the score and set the stage for that final climax.

Athens Wins Easily.

St. John's had won from Denton, Tex. Giants, 22 to 21, in the round before. Athens' game also was somewhat similar to its previous contest, for their opponents were no match for them. The Texans led, 13 to 2, at the quarter and, 25 to 4, at the half, thereupon most of the regulars were replaced by subs.

Jena's hopes for a championship took a decided slump, for their captain, Everett Warner, a curly headed

Court Rebukes Grimes; Denies Divorce Petition

Canton, O., April 4.—(AP)—Common Pleas Judge Harvey F. Ake today dismissed the divorce petition filed by Burleigh A. Grimes, Pittsburgh pitcher, against his wife, Mrs. Florence Grimes, after a hearing of two days.

Judge Ake held that Mrs. Grimes was not guilty of gross neglect of duty or extreme cruelty, as the Pirate twirler had charged in the petition. He said that testimony of witnesses had failed to show "a single word that reflected on the moral character" of his former wife.

Hark! Hark! Dogs Do Bark, but Will Stadium Listen?

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, April 4.—Having learned some of the manners of respectability in England, the dog racing business may now move indoors at the largest of the stations along the great Piggly Wiggly chain of sport amphitheaters in the United States, the Chicago Stadium. The New Garden in New York was surveyed some years ago for a track on which the gullible greyhound might pursue the mock rabbit and the old Chicago Coliseum was measured for a course a year ago. But the dogs are likely to start running in the Stadium first, in the Coliseum next, and the New Garden never.

The owners of the Stadium are now negotiating with Mr. Tom Duggan of New York and Montreal, the man who once owned the exclusive New York and Brooklyn franchise for major league hockey, but somehow fell to signing various kinds of documents back and forth with the genteel executives of the Garden firm and presently discovered that he was a man of no importance whatever in major league hockey in New York.

Mr. Duggan Wrought Up.

Mr. Duggan has taken a business interest in various games and contests of man and beast for some years and just now he is much wrought up over a new type of dog track suitable for the indoor exploitation of the greyhound's trusting nature. He has been having business conversations with representatives of the Chicago Stadium and it seems that they are wrought up, too, but are deterred for the present by some court injunction, and, also, I understand, by the objections of a party named Alphonse Capone.

It seems that this Mr. Capone, whoever he may chance to be, owns the Hawthorne dog track, an outdoor plant in Chicago, which has been known to attract crowds of ten thousand victims at night in the summer, and does not wish to be interfered with by the genteel element who own stock in the Stadium. That is to say that about one year ago, before this Mr. Capone received a scholarship of one year in some jail house down toward Philadelphia, he let it be known that any attempt to run the dogs in the midtown region of Chicago would be regarded by him and his colleagues as an act of muscling-in and dealt with in the familiar vigorous manner.

The Capone party seems to have considerable influence in Chicago and while it may be that he has recently waived his jurisdictional rights so as to permit the stockholders of the Stadium corporation to race the dogs on their property, I have been unable to confirm such waiver.

Mutuels Permitted Here.

The Chicago Stadium stockholders enjoy an advantage of the stockholders of the New York, Boston and Detroit houses in the respect that pari-mutuel betting on the horse races is permissible under the law. Of course the law does not permit the operation of the mutuels after dark and inasmuch as dog racing, like burglary, with which sport it always had many characteristics in common, is a nocturnal pursuit, that would seem to be that.

However, things are practically never what they seem in situations involving enough money to command the interest of local politicians, and the dogs have been running at night in Chicago for some years, with mutuel betting in one guise or another. The law almost permits this and with so much money involved he would be a narrow minded politician, indeed, who would insist upon strict observance.

I am told that the late Tex Rickard wished to promote the improvement of the breed of greyhound in the New Garden several years ago and had the plant engineered, as it were, for a quick demountable track but was persuaded to table his plan indefinitely. Dog racing is legal in New York, but pari-mutuel wagering is not, and the dog races would have required a staff of bookmakers in the lobbies operating on the bootleg, or oral, system which is practiced on the horse tracks in this state.

It is a curious thing that the horse racing business, with its Whitneys and Wideners and all such wealthy altruists who walk in a golden aura of honor, admits the necessity of the bookmaker and yet looks down upon pugilism, in which the bookmaker is regarded as a menace and a reproach. However, in the course of a year the promotion of pulled, or sponged, or hopped horses on the New York tracks probably will run just about even with the proportion of fighters who deceive the customers in all the various ways at their command.

Garden Decides Against It.

At any rate, it was decided that it would be contrary to the best interest of the Garden firm and the millionaire stockholders to undertake to run the dogs in their plant. Here was one racket so thoroughly identified with the sinful elements of society that the rewards of an indefinite run were unequal to the risks.

I understand that Jack Dempsey was one of those who wished to install a track at the Chicago Coliseum a year ago, only to reconsider and defer the plan until some future time.

There are a hundred variations of the original mock rabbit which was patented some years ago by O. P. Smith, a Chicago man, who has since been called to answer for this deception of the guileless greyhound. In Mr. Smith's invention, the mock rabbit hopped around the track, always a few jumps in front of the leading dog, on an electric trolley, the speed being controlled by the house electrician at his switch box.

On rare occasions the rabbit would become derailed, and in such cases the dogs would fall upon it and sink their teeth into a critter of plush and wadding and springs. Disillusionment would overspread their dumb countenances and their owners would have no course but to retire them from racing to breed more greyhounds, as they personally could never be counted upon to chase a phony rabbit with their old enthusiasm any more.

The greyhound has almost no forehead and he is very easily deceived, but once he learns of the deception his spirit droops and he becomes a cynic.

For some years, Mr. Smith and his

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Hollywood Athletic club broke the world's record for the 300 yard medley relay swim last night at the Lake Shore Athletic club pool in the national A. A. U. championships. Frank Walton, Tom Blankenburg, and Weston Kimbal covered the distance in 3:06 2-5. The old mark was 3:08, also held by Hollywood.

The New York Athletic club finished second and Northwestern's team was third, Al Schwartz, who swam the final 100 yards free style, making a great finish to nose out the Lake Shore club. New York's second team placed fifth.

Crabbe Individual Star.

Clarence Crabbe, Honolulu, won his second championship and became the individual point winner when he took the 220 yard free style event. His time was 2:16 4-5, four seconds slower than the record held by Walter Laufer, who finished second last night. Austin Clapp, Stanford university, was third.

Hollywood's trio developed unexpected speed in the breast stroke and free style portions of the 300 yard medley to set the record. Walton, swimming back stroke, held his own with Walter Laufer and George Fissler in the first third of the distance. Then Blankenburg went into the lead, swimming breast stroke, and Kimbal added to the margin in the crawl.

Leonard Spence and Ray Ruddy of the New York A. C. were unable to match Hollywood's pace, while Schwartz of Northwestern was in fourth position when he started his effort.

Brock Wins 500 Yard Title.

Hollywood now leads in team standing with 18 points, the relay victory adding ten. New York's second place added six, and the Gotham swimmers are second with 17 points. Lake Shore dropped from the lead to third place with 14 points.

Joe Brock, Illinois freshman, swimming unattached, won the 500 yard free style men's junior Central A. A. U. title.

In the Cook county high school meet Tilden Tech swimmers won the 250 yard medley relay, with Maine Township second, and Englewood third. Murphy of Maine was the victor in the 100 yard back stroke, with Hines of Tilden second, and Brown, also of Maine, third.

Jack Berg Has Close Call in Garden Battle

New York, April 4.—[Special.]—Jack Berg still is the world's junior welterweight champion of the national boxing association and a dangerous lightweight title contender. But he had a narrow escape tonight from toppling when he battled Joe Glick, Williamsburg lightweight, in the feature bout at Madison Square Garden before 10,000 fans. Through ten rounds of punching, Berg and Glick fought all over the ring in as bitterly waged a fistic duel as the Garden has held in recent times.

Referee Jack Dorman and Judges Charles F. Mathison and Harold Barnes collaborated in an unanimous decision for Berg.

Berg had a narrow escape from a knockout in this battle, that was one-sided, viewed from its mathematical standpoint, but dangerous on the basis of its fitful competition. Glick hammered Berg's body with strength sapping smashes.

Joey Medill of Chicago defeated Gaston Le Cadre of France in his 10 round debut in Madison Square Garden. The Frenchman held his own for five rounds but could not keep Medill's pace in the final half. There were no knockdowns. Medill weighed 140½; Le Cadre, 140.

ROCKNE TO VISIT ROCHESTER FOR PHYSICAL EXAM

Miami Beach, Fla., April 4.—(AP)—Knute Rockne announced tonight that he would leave here the first of the week for the Mayo clinic at Rochester, Minn., for a thorough physical examination before returning to South Bend, Ind., to resume his work as coach of the Notre Dame football team.

Rockne will be accompanied to Rochester by Dr. C. J. Barborka, who is due to arrive here tomorrow. The football leader has been here since early in the year, recuperating from a leg ailment.

Chisholm Swimmer Sets Prep Breast Stroke Mark

Minneapolis, Minn., April 4.—(AP)—A new national interscholastic record for the 100 yard breast stroke was set by Paul Viitanen of Chisholm high, competing here tonight in the Minnesota state high school swimming meet. He made the distance in 1:08.2. The old record was 1:09, held by Richard Peterson, Chicago.

Hornsby Sees Cubs Win, 8-6, Then Leaves for Chicago

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Los Angeles, Cal., April 4.—Rogers Hornsby is on his way back to Chicago to get more expert opinion on his widely advertised but annoying foot. He started the long journey this evening after spending the afternoon as a spectator at the exhibition struggle in which his Cub mates disposed of the Los Angeles Angels for the last time. The count was 8 to 6, and the win gave the major leaguers their eighth decision in the dozen games with their minor league brethren.

Hornsby's trip to Chicago was undertaken at the suggestion of President William Veeck, who became concerned when he learned that the growth, for which Hornsby submitted to an operation last winter, had returned. Despite the attention given the matter, Hornsby refuses to regard the ailment as anything out of the ordinary. He insists no second operation will take place at this time and that he will be ready for action April 15 at St. Louis.

Encouraged by Specialist.

Hornsby returned this morning to the bone specialist he had consulted the day before, and the latter noted a vast improvement in the condition of the tendons the player had strained by constant walking on his toes. The specialist also advised that the foot should not prevent Hornsby from playing regularly. The Rajah then wanted to get into uniform this afternoon and cancel the Chicago journey, but Manager McCarthy preferred to obey the orders from headquarters.

Hornsby intends to wear in his right shoe a pad constructed on the lines of a doughnut. The pad will prevent pressure on the tender spot and make it possible for him to hop around with the freedom he enjoyed prior to last season. He expects to find the pads he needs and be back in Kansas City when his mates reach there Thursday. He regards his examination by a specialist in Chicago next Monday as merely incidental. McCarthy, however, doesn't share Hornsby's optimism.

Osborn Hurls Well.

The Cubs did not accomplish anything startling on the field today. Bob Osborn pitched seven fair innings, but that is of no importance. He is going somewhere shortly. Lester Bell as a third sacker was far from pleasing because of his bad throwing arm. In fact, the entire championship layout had a ragged appearance. However, no complaint could be registered over homers by Wilson and Stephenson. The latter's blow gave him an even dozen for the spring.

The Cubs began operations with a first inning run, which was a gift. English opened the game with a long fly to right and Harper permitted the ball to dribble through his hands. He went to third on Blair's roller to Jacobs and home while Sigafoos was tossing out Cuyler. The Angels tied it in their half on a fumble by English, a single by Sigafoos and an infield out.

Both Score in Second.

Both factions scored once in the second, thus keeping the argument deadlocked. Stephenson started the Cubs' tally with a single to center and Tolson drove him around on a double down the right field line. Schulte then scratched a single through short, but no more runs were scored because Bell fouled out and Osborn bounced into a double play. The run in the Angels' half bloomed from a drive over the left field bricks by Dittmar.

The Angels assumed a two run lead by thumping Osborn in the third and would have scored at least one more if Cuyler's arm hadn't intervened. Schulmerich opened the inning with a single to short and hiked to third on a hit by Sigafoos. Harper singled to center, sending Schulmerich across the plate. Jacobs sacrificed, after which Statz singled to right, scoring Sigafoos. Harper also tried to score, but Cuyler's throw was waiting for him.

Cubs Take Lead.

Three Cub runs in the fourth, two of them the result of long drives, put the major leaguers in front by 5 to 4. Wilson pounded his homer over the screen in right and Stephenson swooped his circuit blow into the center field corner of the bleacher. Tolson was thrown out, but Schulte uncorked a single and Osborn doubled him across the counter.

Ballou had a little trouble with control in the seventh, and the Cubs showed their appreciation by scoring two more. Osborn opened the inning with a single, but was retired along

Grampp to Wed

LOS ANGELES, Cal., April 4.—(AP)—Henry Grampp Jr., 23, Chicago Cubs pitcher, and Miss Elaine Hammond, who gave her age as 18, filed application for a marriage license today. Grampp said he met Miss Hammond at Catalina Island, her home, during the Cubs' spring training last year. The wedding date has not been set.

HOSE RALLY IN NINTH INNING SCORES 3 RUNS

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Little Rock, Ark., April 4.—This ninth inning rally stuff might be great inspiration to some one doing a new Horatio Alger series, but as a phase in the preparation for a businesslike season in the American league it's strictly the bunk.

What we're leading up to is the fact that the Chicago White Sox had to do some rarin' up in the ninth again this afternoon to avoid an embarrassing defeat at the hands of the Little Rock Travelers of the Southern association. They made three runs in the final inning to accomplish a 5 to 3 victory.

It was the second time in three games against minor league opposition that the Comiskeys went into the ninth under not only the short end of the score but also the cloud of negligible hitting. Until their last chance inning this afternoon, the Chicago sluggers were boasting the imposing total of two hits. Jimmy Moore had held them to the two hits in five innings and Leo Moon had held them flat footed for three innings. Not so hot, not so hot.

Ol' Red Does Well.

The tardy power of the Sox was especially provoking in view of the fact that ol' Red Faber was out there pitching his first full game of the year and, aside from a little unfriendliness on the part of Eddie Rose, who accounted for all the Traveler runs with homers his first two times up, was doing a mighty sweet job. Red allowed only one hit, a single, after the third inning. It came in the fourth with two out and meant nothing, for a man was thrown out at the plate to complete the inning.

Although the Sox made only two hits in their first eight innings, these were of sufficient caliber to keep the boys in a position for their eventual rally. Hunnefield started the game with a triple and scored on an infield out, and J. Smead Jolley smacked out a homer inside the park in the fourth inning.

The Travelers made all their runs after two were out. In the first inning Koster singled off Hunnefield's bosom. Redfern and Taitt put him on third with infield outs. Then Rose made the first of his homers. He made his other circuit drive after Redfern and Taitt had been disposed of in the third inning. Both the Rose homers, like the Jolley blow, were inside the park.

Cissell Starts It.

Only ten White Sox faced Moon in the sixth, seventh, and eighth innings, the extra one getting on through a pass in the sixth. But the final inning was too much for left handed Leo. Cissell knocked his first pitch into center for a single and he hit Reynolds with a pitched ball. Jolley then functioned for the second time in the game by lining a single to center, which enabled Cissell to score the tying run and Reynolds to reach third. Shires fanned, but Harris sent a sacrifice fly to left, Reynolds scoring, and Jolley taking second. Kamm singled, scoring Jolley, then Moon threw out Berg.

The game here tomorrow is to be a sentimental affair. Grady Adkins, who lives in Little Rock, asked to pitch for awhile, at least, and Manager Bush decided to permit it.

Wall Street Makes Cubs and Macks Pennant Choices

New York, April 4.—(AP)—Wall street today made the Athletics an odds on favorite to win the American league pennant again. Wagers were reported by commissioners at 1 to 2 on the Philadelphia club, with the Yankees a 5 to 2 choice.

In the National league the champion Chicago Cubs were made favorites at 6 to 5.

On the basis of early wagering, quotations in the financial district were as follows:

AMERICAN LEAGUE—Philadelphia, 1 to 2; New York, 5 to 2; Cleveland, 4 to 1; St. Louis, 6 to 1; Detroit and Washington, each 10 to 1; Chicago, 15 to 1; Boston, 100 to 1.

NATIONAL LEAGUE—Chicago, 6 to 5; New York, 6 to 5; Pittsburgh, 4 to 1; St. Louis, 5 to 1; Cincinnati, 6 to 1; Brooklyn, 10 to 1; Philadelphia, 30 to 1; Boston, 100 to 1.

PINEHURST GOLF FINAL MATCHES GLENNA, EDITH

Pinehurst, N. C., April 4.—(AP)—The national champion, Miss Glenna Collett, and a youthful Reading, Pa., star, Miss Edith Quier, meet here tomorrow in the final of the north and south golf tournament for women.

They battled their way to victory today over the hazardous No. 3 course of the Pinehurst Country club. Miss Collett beat Miss Maureen Orcutt, New York, 3 and 2, and Miss Quier handed Miss Helen Hicks of Hewlett, L. I., a 2and 1 defeat.

Miss Collett's victory was not unexpected, but surprise was expressed at the way Miss Quier recovered from a bad start to down her opponent. The turn in their match came on the sixteenth, when Miss Hicks laid Miss Quier a dead stymie. After studying her position carefully Miss Quier took her niblick and lifted her ball over Miss Hicks' and sent it in the cup.

blonde, was carried off the floor with a wrenched right knee and it isn't likely he will get into any more games in this tournament. Warner crashed into Bur Bogen, the Jerseyites' Negro backguard, and both fell.

Doughty Leads Jena.

The accident occurred in the first minutes of the game against New Brunswick and while the Jena lads went on to win, the loss of Warner was felt. Ernest Doughty again led the sun tanned Jena lads to victory with eight baskets, but Sparky Wade had a bit to do with that in feeding the lanky forward.

For three quarters of that Jena-New Brunswick contest it was anybody's ball game, and the southerners eventually won by outsmarting their opponents. Jena has been a fast breaking, high scoring team, with an occasional delayed break mixed into it. But when they had got a three point lead just before the end of the third quarter, they began a delayed offensive that pulled New Brunswick's zone defense out of position and Jena passed to sleeper baskets to build up their margin.

The tournament will come to a close with the crowning of a champion after the semi-final and final games today.

BUFFALO Y FIVE LOSES

Kansas City, Mo., Rahway, N. J., Vincennes, Ind., and Montclair, N. J., became semi-finalists in the eighth Y. M. C. A. basketball tournament by virtue of victories last night and will meet this afternoon and tonight at Oak Park High school field house.

Vincennes staged the upset of the tournament in defeating Buffalo, N. Y., defending champion, 28 to 26. The Hoosiers held a ten point lead at half time, but barely withstood the titleholders' last period rally. Oak Park, runner-up to Buffalo last year, was eliminated by Montclair, 24 to 12.

Kansas City won its place in the semi-finals by overwhelming the Trinity Church branch of Portsmouth, O., 47 to 21, while Rahway advanced with a 31 to 25 victory over St. Paul, Minn.

Vincennes and Rahway will clash in the first semi-final at 2 o'clock this afternoon, while Kansas City engages Montclair an hour later. The title in the championship class, as well as in the consolation division, will be decided tonight.

STANFORD GRID AX RECOVERED AFTER 31 YEARS

Stanford, Cal., April 4.—(AP)—The famous Stanford university ax, stolen from several husky guards at a football game in 1899, today was back home after reposing in a vault at the University of California for 31 years.

Three young men, posing as news cameramen and reporters, last night seized the emblem from University of California students who were taking the ax to an armored car in expectation of continuing the journey to the annual "ax rally" of their school. A tear gas bomb was hurled by the raiders during the mêlée.

Several thousand California students after the seizure guarded roads leading back to the Stanford campus, but in vain. An hour after the initial engagement the business part of the ax was in Stanford. The former possessors succeeded in retaining a part of the handle.

Hark! Dogs Do Bark, but Will Stadium Hear?

partners in the betrayal of the greyhounds' trust earned great profits, commanding 2 per cent of the mutuel receipts, 10 per cent of the gate receipts, and a $2,500 deposit on their apparatus, which was leased, not sold, at every dog track in the land.

But ingenuity has circumvented the late Smith's patents and even gone one ahead of his idea. One device which seems especially attractive for the indoor trade eliminates the substance of the mock rabbit and the trolley arm entirely and substitutes a phantom rabbit, painted on darkened glass windows around the outer rim of the track. Such is the incredible stupidity of the greyhound that he will tear around the track yapping and full of zest of the chase, lured on by nothing more than flashes of the rabbits on these windows as the electrician turns his controller handle, flashing on electric bulbs behind the painted rabbits. The flash blacks out and leaps into light in the next windows and the next always one window ahead of the lead dog, and so they are lured along, looking very silly.

It Eliminates One Hazard.

Yet this system eliminates the risk of running over a dog which breaks down or runs the wrong way, with the oncoming trolley arm. One public killing of a broken down dog with the trolley would be likely to offend the customers.

Of course, dog racing in this country has long been recognized as a mere variant of purse snatching, but the customers have been quite eager to pay their admission and bet on the races, even so. Running outside the law in all cases, the racketeers in charge of the tracks have made their own calculations in the mutuels, responsible only to themselves, and there has never been any branch of the sport business in which the larceny was so unconfined.

But in the last year or so England and Ireland have adopted the entertainment and half a dozen tracks have been operating in and about London with a plausible pretense, at least, of honesty and dignity. Perhaps this means that a big corporation could run the dogs honestly in this country. It should not be too difficult, because the rate of profit on an honest basis is considerably better than that of an honest roulette wheel, which is five and five-nineteenths per cent, and just as steady and inexorable.

The Right Hon.
The Earl of Kinnoul
Balhousie Castle—PERTH
Member of the House of Lords

IN selecting Styles for HIS MAJESTY THE AMERICAN CITIZEN we went to HIS LORDSHIP THE EARL OF KINNOUL.

He is a real, live honest-to-goodness English Earl who lives in his Town House in London while Parliament is in session and spends his week-ends and holidays in his castle in Scotland. The Earl of Kinnoul is a man of wealth and social position and is recognized today as one of the best dressed men in the House of Lords.

It isn't sufficient to send a man to England to look at the shoes in the London shop windows and pick out the Style he personally likes best. If it were possible, you would like to have the Earl of Kinnoul go shopping with you and show you the Styles that his friends are wearing, and ask him to pick out the Styles that he would select for himself.

And that is just what we did.

We couldn't ask the Earl to spend the time to personally interview every Custom Bootmaker in London, but we actually bought 25 of the most popular models from the best known bootmakers in London and asked the Earl of Kinnoul to drop in and look them over.

This collection of shoes represented a big variety of Styles in different patterns and leathers, and after carefully examining every shoe, the Earl had no hesitation in finally selecting this new Semi-Brogue Brown Willow Calf by Bunting of Dover Street.

We paid 6 guineas ($30.24) for Bunting's original hand made model, and we placed an order for 44 pairs so that we could actually show you today, side by side, one of Bunting's ($30.24) Originals with the ($6.60) Regal Reproduction in every Regal Store.

The Upper Leather in Bunting's Original is an Imported Brown Willow Calf tanned in Oisterwyk, Holland, and we are using exactly the same tannage in the Regal Reproduction.

Last, Leather, Pattern, Design and every Style Detail is exactly the same. We want you to compare the two shoes—George W. Bunting's original English hand-made ($30.24) model selected by the Earl of Kinnoul, and the Regal Reproduction made in our own factory and sold in our own stores for $6.60.

BASKET COACHES TALK CHANGES IN 1931 RULES

Stalling Game Attacked by Illinois Leader.

Basketball coaches of the national association, now in session at the Hotel Windermere, will determine this morning what recommendations, if any, they will make to the rules committee on the center jump and stalling. These topics were discussed informally yesterday afternoon for two hours.

Abolition of the center jump, as well as proposed methods of curbing stalling, has been before the committee in other years. The center jump was last year was referred to the coaches for experimentation, and yesterday several universities, notably Ohio State, Ohio, Creighton, and Missouri, reported on games played under other rules.

Stalling apparently is a problem only to the coaches of the central states. Reports were heard from all sections at yesterday morning's session. Dr. H. C. Carlson, Pittsburgh; Roy Mundorff, Georgia Tech, and E. R. Hunt, Stanford, told the coaches that stalling was used only occasionally in their sections.

Coaches Define Stalling.

The coaches accepted a definition of stalling which put the blame for weak games on the defense. "Stalling is failure of the defense to play aggressive ball," was the definition which met approval.

Craig Ruby, University of Illinois coach, is one of the opponents of the stalling game. He made several recommendations which will be considered this morning. Believing that when one team takes the ball into the back court and deliberately withholds it from play, it is endangering the future of the game, he suggested that a one bounce rule be adopted for the offense in that territory. Otherwise the dribble would be retained.

Ruby made his suggestion in an effort to help the defense break up the stalling game, which he said is nearly impossible under the present rules.

Curdie Lipe, Marquette university, favors shortening the basketball court from 94 feet to 74 feet. "The shortened court will help the defense break up a deliberate stall," he told the coaches.

Wants Court Widened.

Dr. F. C. Allen, Kansas university, had a proposition the opposite of Lipe's. He believes that if the court were widened it would help the offense break through the massed defense. The court now is 50 feet wide.

George Keogan, Notre Dame coach, spoke in favor of the present rules. It is his opinion that a team well coached in fundamentals can force the play and take the ball from the team which is stalling.

On the other hand, Ward Lambert, coach of Purdue, Big Ten champion, warned the coaches that basketball is threatened with loss of its popularity. He spoke of the prevalence of stalling among Indiana high schools.

Stresses Eye Training.

The present rule on center jumps permits a double tap if the ball remains within imaginary lines perpendicular to the circle. It was suggested yesterday that only one tap be permitted regardless.

Coleman R. Griffith of the psychology department of Illinois addressed the coaches yesterday. He reported on records kept of players' physical condition before and after games. He also gave the coaches a few tips on how to secure better results from their men. He spoke of the advantages of one hand shooting from a physical standpoint and stressed eye training so that the player could vision the entire floor without effort.

The basketball coaches' committee of the association, which will report this morning, is composed of the following:

Jimmy Crossan, Chicago Golf Pro, Obtains Divorce

James Crossan, 1236 North State street, professional golfer, who holds two Chicago golf course records, yesterday won a divorce before Superior Judge Sabath from Mrs. Annie Barry Crossan. He charged that his wife deserted him June 1, 1924. He said that an arrangement for the support of two children, Margaret, 16 years old, and John, 15, has been made with Mrs. Crossan. Crossan holds the course record at Ridgemoor Country club with a 67, made in an exhibition game with Walter Hagen and John Farrell, and at the Crystal Lake Country club with 66.

Yanks Pile Up 10 to 6 Score on Ft. Worth

Fort Worth, Tex., April 4.—(AP)—The New York Yankees continued their parade through minor league opposition today with a 10 to 6 victory over Fort Worth of the Texas league.

While Pennock and Pipgras were scattering the Texans' 12 hits in all but the sixth inning, the Yankees pounded three hurlers for 14 safeties. Babe Ruth's contribution to his team's victory consisted of a double in the first inning. On his other appearances at the plate he struck out twice, grounded out, and was safe on an error. Score:

BROWNS LOSE TO BLUES.

Kansas City, Mo., April 4.—(AP)—The St. Louis Browns swung their bats like real hitters this afternoon, making 13 safe blows, but the Kansas City Blues pounded Rip Collins for six hits and six runs in the fourth inning and took the opener of the two game series, 8 to 6. In snapping out of their batting lethargy, all members of the Browns went into action. Ralph Kress made three hits in a row. Score:

MACKS LOSE, 7 TO 3.

Richmond, Va., April 4.—(AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics wound up their spring exhibition tour here today by losing to Reading of the International league, 7 to 3. Score:

Athletics	000	300	000	3	3	0

ROBINS, 4; BRAVES, 1.

Macon, Ga., April 4.—(AP)—With Vance and Elliott performing in midseason style, the Brooklyn Robins made a clean sweep of their two game series with the Boston Braves, winning today's contest, 4 to 1. Score:

Brooklyn	100	003	000	4	9	0
Boston	001	000	000	1	6	0

CARDS BEAT ROCHESTER.

Bradenton, Fla., April 4.—(AP)—Rochester pounded Fred Frankhouse for seven hits and five runs in the last two innings this afternoon, but the St. Louis Cardinals scored their third straight victory over the minor leaguers, 9 to 8. Bill Hallahan pitched the first six innings for the Cards and improved as he went along. Hafey started the Card scoring in the second inning with a home run. Score:

RED SOX, 3; COLONELS, 1.

Louisville, Ky., April 4.—(AP)—McFayden and Smith, Boston American league pitchers, held the Louisville Colonels of the American association at Bay here today and Boston won, 3 to 1. McFayden tolled seven innings, allowing a run in the first, and then Smith, a Louisville boy, was allowed to pitch before the home folks. Score:

TIGERS, 8; ATLANTA, 1.

Atlanta, Ga., April 4.—(AP)—With two recruit pitchers holding the Atlanta Southern association team to four hits, Detroit scored an 8 to 1 victory here today. The game evened the series, Atlanta having won yesterday. The Tigers will remain for a third game tomorrow.

Tilden Defeats Abe in Saint Raphael Tourney

ST. RAPHAEL, France, April 4.—(AP)—Playing superb tennis, Bill Tilden, American champion, easily defeated Tamio Abe of the Japanese Davis cup team today in the fourth round of the tournament here. The scores were 6-2, 6-2.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

EARLIER CHICAGO.

DEAR WAKE: Back in the late '60s and early '70s 22d and Michigan was an important business community. H. L. Blakeslee had a dry goods store at the northeast corner of Michigan, where his wife and two daughters assisted. Mandeville's bakery was at the northwest corner. The A. & P. store, with the same red front as now, was in the same block toward Wabash, and there was a Masonic hall in the middle of the block, with A. Pick's crockery store on the first floor.

Chapin & Gore's high class saloon was at the alley in a three story stone faced building which extended to Wabash, stores below and offices and Central hall above. The hall was used by dance clubs and was the scene of many fights in the early morning.

Several frame buildings on the northwest corner were moved to make room for the Avenue house (1873) and Atherton house, afterward called Southern hotel (1880), under the management of E. A. Batchelder.

On Oct. 9, 1872, the first anniversary of the great Chicago fire was held in the Rock Island depot at Van Buren and La Salle, where Patrick Gilmore's famous Boston band furnished the music. There was a concert by a great throng of school children and prominent citizens made speeches. It was a civic holiday, with schools and business houses closed. I was there. George Ross.

My school chum and I, Bryant & Stratton students, boarded the first horseless street car on State street on its first run. We rode on the steps of the new "grip" car a very short distance and then were put off, as none but officials and their friends were permitted to ride on this trial trip.

Author's Complex.

Dear Harvey: On weekdays I am a salesman, dress the part, and have the rep. of being a good one. But on Sundays—ah, then it is different. Then I am an AUTHOR. I put on a soft shirt, sometimes a string tie, fill up my pipe, and spend happy hours writing stories, verse, whatnot. Some get into newspapers or magazines, but most of them are just scribblings. Wasted effort? Well, maybe, but such has been my pastime, almost my passion, for the last twenty-five years, and, I imagine, will remain so until the Great Author writes "30" on my life story. R. P.

Belated Appreciation.

Dear Harvey: I am one of the mourners from the humbler walks of life who went with "Eckie" to his final resting place. During my school days I read his articles with a passion. Later, while working downtown, trying to make The Wake and The Line, I looked to "Eckie" as my authority on athletics. Since marriage I have never been too busy with my children to read my TRIBUNE, The Wake, and Walter Eckersall's stories. On that last Thursday I put my children in charge of grandma and battled traffic to pay my last respects to this man whom I admired so deeply and who never knew I was alive. This goes for you, too. Kalamazoo 5 Takes Lead in A. B. C. Meet

Cleveland, O., April 4.—[Special.]—Scoring games of 1,009, 1,013, and 1,078, the O. Graff & Sons five of Kalamazoo, Mich., soared into the lead in the team event of the American Bowling Congress tournament here late tonight with a 3,100 total. Only three times has this scores been bettered in national tourney competition.

The Nelson-Mitchells of Milwaukee won the event in 1923 at Milwaukee with a 3,139 mark, while the Tea Shops, another Milwaukee five, shot 3,199 at Peoria in 1927 in setting an all-time record. Claiman Dairys, Indianapolis, Ind., scored 3,115 in 1923 at Milwaukee on the same squad with the Nelson-Mitchell champions.

The score tops the Devesco Brothers five of Buffalo, former leaders, by 124 pins. The Kalamazoo team had 66 strikes, 69 spares, 5 splits and 7 errors in the series. Andy Fenstemaker spilled the pins for games of 207, 228 and 268 to top the Michigan entry with a 703 total.

Harry Reed of Rochester, N. Y., took second place in the singles today with 748. He pounded the pins for games of 243, 257, and 248. The score is twenty-six pins less than the new world's A. B. C. record made by Larry Shotwell of Covington, Ky., Saturday, and one less than the former A. B. C. record.

Reed's performance excelled that of Shotwell as far as real pin toppling goes. The Covington bowler had one split and one error in his series, while Reed shot his three games without an open frame. Shotwell scored twenty-nine strikes, while Reed had four less.

L. Sajdak and E. Hejna, with 1,220, topped the Chicago bowlers carded in the doubles today. E. Hejna's 607 was best among the Chicago shooters in the singles. Chicago scores:

BELLSMITH'S LEG INJURED; OUT OF KENTUCKY DERBY

Louisville, Ky., April 4.—(AP)—Bell Smith, gelding owned and trained by Jack Weaver and William E. Smith, pulled up lame after a workout here today. The injury to his left foreleg will keep him out of the Kentucky Derby, Weaver said. Bell Smith also is eligible for the Latonia Derby.

High Foot, another ranking Derby candidate, arrived today from New Orleans. He was in excellent condition upon arrival. His owners are Thomas and R. J. Nash, Chicago.

GRIFFITH, GAGNON MEET ON APRIL 30 IN STADIUM BOUT

Jack Gagnon, boston heavyweight, yesterday agreed to meet Tuffy Griffith of Chicago in the 10 round final bout of the Chicago Stadium's April 30 show. Gagnon, who sprang a surprise Monday night by stopping Griffith in Philadelphia, accepted the Stadium's offer of 30 per cent of the gate.

Griffith and his manager, Jack O'Keefe, also signed up for the chance to erase the blot on Tuffy's record.

Waterfowl Crop Limited by Last Season Drought

BY BOB BECKER.

The waterfowl flight which now is passing Chicagoland will be one of the smallest that has gone through in years. Last year's crop of birds was small to an alarming degree due to a disastrous breeding season. That meager crop of waterfowl decimated by southern waterfowl hunters during the early part of the year needs all the help it can get from nature this summer if we are to see a noticeable comeback in our duck and goose population.

The universal scarcity of ducks last fall was declared by authorities to be due to the drouth of the previous summer. We saw considerable evidence of this situation when we visited what is invariably a wonderful waterfowl country in Saskatchewan. Ponds, sloughs and small lakes which always have lots of marsh ducks in them were as dry as the Sahara. These breeding and feed grounds of the waterfowl had not been rained on for months. This condition not only reduced our bird population by hundreds of thousands, but also spelled disaster for many a wheat growower. Authorities in Saskatchewan told us that the drought was especially hard on the pintails, mallards and other puddler ducks which laid their eggs beside a shallow pool of water that soon was absorbed by the parched ground.

Shorebirds also suffered because of the drought. With no water, the snipe, yellowlegs and other species had to congregate during the fall flight in just a few places which furnished them feed. This enabled gunners to take a heavier toll of jacks than in other years when the shorebird population is widely distributed.

There isn't much doubt but what another bad breeding season will seriously threaten the whole future of our American waterfowl. We cannot have plenty of birds and the sport of duck shooting unless there are healthy bird crops to replace the kill each fall.

HAVANA, Cuba, April 4.—(AP)—The representatives of the nine competing countries today awarded Salvador the third Central American Olympics, to be held in 1934. Panama was selected as a second choice. The second Central American Olympics, held here for the last month, ended today. An unofficial tabulation of point scores indicated Cuba had won the games by a wide margin, with Mexico second and Panama third.

Tolson Bags Third Hit.

The Chicago boys hung up another run in the eighth, giving them an 8 to 4 advantage. Tolson made his third hit. This display will not cause any alteration in the plan to give him to a minor league outfit in the near future. Schulte also singled, Bell's bunt moved the runners along. Danny Taylor was permitted to bat for Osborn and he whacked a lengthy fly to right, Tolson scoring after the catch.

When McAfee appeared on the job in the eighth a pass to Jacobs and singles by Statz and Dittmar, scoring one, greeted him. Then he mustered up his courage and nailed the next three hitters. The ninth was similar. Schulmerich opened with a single. Sigafoos grounded to Blair, but Schulmerich beat the attempted force play at second. Then Harper singled Schulmerich home with the last run.

2D MAN SOUGHT IN INSURANCE MURDER PLOT

Victim's Son Supplies a New Clew.

Bentonville, Ark., April 4.—(AP)—Two developments today in the investigation of the slaying of William Robert Pearman, Columbia, Mo., mechanic, tonight caused officials to predict that a solution of the alleged $200,000 insurance swindle plot was imminent.

The special Benton county grand jury returned five indictments today. Immediately afterward a felony warrant was issued for S. K. Johnson, Kansas City real estate operator. Two of the indictments were returned against Dr. A. J. Bass, wealthy retired dentist and land operator of Columbia, Mo., charging accessory to murder. He previously had been indicted on a first degree murder charge.

Dead Man's Son Gives Clews.

The other development, Prosecuting Attorney John S. Combs said, was the discovery of hotel stickers in a suitcase belonging to Dr. Bass, and the identification of the stickers by William Pearman, 21, son of the slain man, as his property, taken from his room at the University of Missouri.

Combs' theory is that Pearman, under the name of William Flota, who had been missing for 17 years from his home at Martinburg, Mo., took out $200,000 in insurance as collateral for notes given in payment of 3,100 acres of land at Texarkana, Ark., and assigned the insurance policies to Bass. He said he believed Pearman was a party to the deal to benefit by collection of the insurance and was double-crossed and slain.

Johnson in Land Deal.

Combs said his information was that Johnson assisted Dr. Bass in the land deal, which he said was part of a plot to obtain the insurance. The charge against Johnson was not made specific.

Pearman's body was found last Saturday on a highway near Gravette with three bullet wounds in the head.

BANKERS AWED BY MACHINE GUN; LOOT IS $40,000

Dayton, O., April 4.—(AP)—Five robbers, masked and armed with a machine gun, today held up five bank employés of the Xenia avenue branch of the Union Trust company and several customers, looted the bank vault of virtually all of its cash and escaped with a sum estimated at $40,000.

Two of the men remained in an automobile while three entered and forced the bank employés and customers to lie on the floor. One of the robbers brought the machine gun into the bank while his two companions held the employés at bay.

$9,000 from Cincinnati Bank.

Cincinnati, O., April 4.—(AP)—The Reading bank was robbed of $9,000 today by four men who were armed with a machine gun. A grocer saw the robbers and opened fire on them. The robbers immediately gave up attempts to take additional currency, ran from the bank, returned the grocer's fire with the machine gun, and escaped in an automobile.

Get $25,000 in Michigan.

Albion, Mich., April 4.—(AP)—The Albion State bank was held up by six bandits shortly before noon today and robbed of $25,000. A sheriff's posse and an airplane from the Jackson airport set out in pursuit of the bandits' automobile, which was said to bear an Illinois license.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: The Curse

Works of Norwegian Composer Are Enjoyed.

BY ELMER DOUGLASS.

Adventure was in the air last night when Alfred Lyman Flude, traveler and lecturer, from W-G-N, 8 to 8:30, told a strange story about the lost city of Angkor, in southeast Asia.

Another sort of romance was developed when Pat Barnes of W-G-N, 9 to 9:30, waved his magic wand and to all practical radio purposes caused Edvard Grieg, the Norwegian composer, to appear in the studio in person and direct the orchestra in two of his well known short works.

In introducing the W-G-N Symphony orchestra in its program of old tunes, 7:50 to 8, the announcer stated that the radio has made listeners familiar with vast quantities of music in the last few years. In this program "Humoresque," Dvorak; "Serenade" (Gabriel - Marie), and Schumann's "Traumerei" were played.

The W-G-N 8:30 to 9 orchestral and vocal program of rhythms and melodies turned out to be a more entertaining affair than many a pretentious concert. "Drink to Me Only with Thine Eyes," played as a bassoon solo with violins providing the background, was a pretty novelty. Sam Jordan was the soloist.

Woman Singer Disappears from Liner on Pacific

San Diego, Cal., April 4.—(AP)—Miss Helen Irene Fink, 35, singer, disappeared from the Panama Pacific liner Virginia, presumably last Wednesday night while the ship was 300 miles south of San Diego on its way from New York to Pacific ports, Capt. James E. Roberts, master of the liner, reported on its arrival here today.

The woman is believed to have jumped overboard and drowned. Last Wednesday night Miss Fink was the leading singer at a concert in the ship's salon. Yesterday the stateroom steward discovered she was missing. The ship was searched without result, indicating to ship's officers that she had disappeared some time after the concert and before daylight Thursday.

DRY AGENTS DESTROY STILL.

Dry agents last evening destroyed a 750 gallon alcohol still in a frame residence at 2918 South 48th court, Cicero, and arrested Joseph Burnish as operator. The drys claim to have found 215 gallons of alcohol and 11,000 gallons of mash.

OPTICAL FREAK SAVES ENGINE DRIVER ON TRIAL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, April 4.—Red sometimes looks green. It may sound paradoxical, but two German scientists stood up in the Halle court and testified to this effect today and thus saved a locomotive engineer from punishment. He was on trial for wrecking a train in 1929 and causing numerous deaths by having hurtled his train past a red stop signal into another train.

Ever since the crash the engineer has asserted that the signal was green, not red. A score of witnesses have testified against him, but optical experts came to his rescue.

They testified that in Scandinavia and northern Russia the phenomenon of red appearing green is manifested in cold weather. It was 15 degrees below zero on the night of the train crash, which is extraordinary for Germany. They explained that the cold, coupled with frozen tears which had gathered on the engineer's eyelashes and the soot on the frosty windows, may have caused the red to look green momentarily. Upon the strength of this statement the engineer and his two helpers were freed by the Halle court today.

HOOVER FISHES AGAIN AT HIS RAPIDAN CAMP

The chief executive and his guests tried their luck at fishing before dinner.

Mrs. Hoover, who was in Philadelphia, did not return in time to accompany the chief executive on his excursion. With him went Attorney General Mitchell, Secretary of Commerce Lamont, Secretary of the Interior Wilbur, and Lieutenant Commander Boone, his personal physician, and Lawrence Richey, his secretary.

DROWNS IN RAIN BARREL.

Ottawa, Ill., April 4.—(AP)—Pauline Bailey, 2, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Bailey of Marseilles fell in a rain water barrel at the rear of her home this afternoon and was drowned in a foot of water.

OMAHA GRAIN MAN TO AID U. S. STORAGE PLANS

E. W. Taylor of Omaha, president of the Nye-Jenks Grain company and former president of the Omaha grain exchange, has been engaged to assist the Farmers' National Grain corporation, farmer-owned grain sales cooperative, in establishing a facilities division.

Mr. Taylor has been retained for two months, and, according to corporation officials, will help in laying out the foundation for a "broad grain facilities program." The officials' plans are to further the recently announced program of establishing adequate storage facilities to handle the oncoming grain crops. A large part of the new division's work will be to appraise properties on which cooperatives seek loans for purchase or leasing.

"In the development of our facilities program," said the corporation's announcement, "we are keeping in mind the limitations of the agricultural marketing act, that no loans shall be made for construction, purchase or lease of facilities unless purchase price and rentals are reasonable and unless it is found that suitable existing facilities are not available for purchase or lease at reasonable price and rentals."

Returns After 33 Years; Shares Daughter's Estate

Omaha, Neb., April 4.—(AP)—Listed among the missing for 33 years, James M. Carter, 86, may win out in a claim to share in his daughter's estate. Carter came into County court here today to identify himself. He was divorced 33 years ago, and his daughter, Mrs. Helen Ercell of Omaha, was the only member of his family who knew his whereabouts. Today he produced her letters. Attorneys indicated that no contest will be made and that Carter, now living at Lake City, Ia., and his divorced wife, now Mrs. Jennie Hyatt of Webster City, Ia., will each receive half the estate.

4 Soviet Grain Officials to Die for Aiding Speculators

ZAPOROJIE, U. S. S. R., April 4.—(AP)—Four officials of the state grain trust were sentenced to death today for selling hundreds of tons of high grade flour to private speculators during the government grain collection campaign.

Fall Cleared of Indian Land Swindle Charges

Denver, Colo., April 4.—(AP)—Charges that Albert B. Fall, as secretary of the interior, was guilty of fraud in leasing three mining properties belonging to Oklahoma Indians were dismissed today by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals.

"LUXURY" BAN IN AUSTRALIA EVEN HITS BARB WIRE

CANBERRA, Australia, April 4.—(AP)—The government today published its list of prohibited "luxuries," notification of which was given yesterday by Premier Scullin who announced a 50 per cent supertax on many importations.

About 80 commodities are forbidden absolutely. These include: Cheese, lemons, oranges, dried fruits except dates and figs, corn flour, lard, liquid and preserved fruits, canned meat, refrigerated pork, cocoanut butter, peanut butter, furs, skins, barb wire, cultivators except handworked harrows, drills, reapers, thrashers, harvesters, horsedrawn rakes, petrol pumps, electric and gas heaters, wireless, sets, aluminum ware except spoons and forks, glue, cast iron pipes and fittings and iron and steel beams.

The following are rationed under the provisions of the prohibitions to 50 per cent of last year's imports: Manufactured tobacco, cigarets, snuff, and locomotives. Also subjected to the 50 per cent supertax are matches and spirituous liquors.

Marjorie Rambeau to Be a Bride for Third Time

Hollywood, Cal., April 4.—[Special.]—Henry H. Van Loan, novelist and screen writer, will be married to Marjorie Rambeau, actress, as soon as Van Loan's divorce from Gertrude Cameron Van Loan becomes final, the pair asserted today. Mrs. Van Loan will secure a final decree this summer. When married to her first husband, Willard Mack, actor and playwright, Miss Rambeau was one of the bright stars of the American theater. She divorced Mack and married Hugh Dillman. They were divorced a few years later in Paris.

NANKING MOVES TO COMBAT NEW RISING IN NORTH

SHANGHAI, April 4.—The Nationalist government state council today approved a mandate for "the arrest and subjugation" of Gen. Yen Hsi-shan, leader of the northern rebellion. The order is thought to be the preliminary issuance of a general war mandate and constitutes a virtual declaration of a state of civil war.

Gen. Yen is supported by Gen. Feng Yu-hsiang, whose support in all the internal troubles in China has shifted continually from side to side.

The Manchurian dictator, Chang Hsueh-liang, whose attitude toward the rebellion against Nanking had been considered in the balance, is reported to have rallied to the Nationalist cause. He is said to have ordered a squadron of gunboats to Tsingtao, in Shantung province, and to be massing troops south of Shanhaikwan, the sea end of the great Chinese wall.

CAPT. HARRAL, AURORA G. A. R. VETERAN, DEAD

Capt. James F. Harral, financier, art patron, and veteran of the civil war, died yesterday at his home in Aurora after an illness of a few days. He was 89 years old and had lived in Aurora for 77 years, having come here from England as a boy of 12.

Capt. Harral was deeply interested in arts and had devoted a large part of his fortune to collecting paintings, vases, tapestries, and other art objects. It was largely through his efforts that Aurora acquired its reputation as an art center, and he, with other leading art patrons, had planned to establish a municipal art museum.

Capt. Harral was one of the "three Jims" who were widely known in G. A. R. circles, and was the second of the trio, who served together through the civil war, to die. James Hatch of Bristol, Ill., died a year ago, and James Hatch of Scranton, Ia., is the only surviving member. Capt. Harral started in business in Aurora as a coal dealer and branched into the field of finance, amassing a fortune estimated at more than half a million dollars. He was a widower with no children.

LOOKS AS IF U. S. TRADE AGAIN IS UP AND COMING

BY O. A. MATHER.

The country's business has emerged from the doldrums of the first quarter of the year and is off to a good start in the current quarter. This is the testimony of the weekly trade reviews appearing yesterday. They suggest that not only is sentiment more cheerful but that it is supported by tangible developments.

Leaders of practically every important division of Chicago commerce believe that business has reached a definite turn, according to a survey made by the Chicago Association of Commerce among bankers, railroad executives, builders, wholesalers, and retailers. It is their concensus that unusually good inventory conditions, low money rates, cheap commodity prices, an unusually elastic labor supply and prospects for good crops have placed the middle west in a position to show steady improvement for the rest of the year. All told, the outlook again is satisfactory after five months of depression.

Good Wheat Harvest.

One of the best wheat crops ever harvested in the territory of the Rock Island railroad is reported by President J. E. Gorman, who adds: "We are hopeful for a much better second quarter and look for a return of reasonably normal conditions as soon as this crop begins to move, and are optimistic as to future business in our territory."

Freight car movements have improved definitely, according to F. E. Williamson, president of the Burlington. Loadings now are only about 7 per cent below a year ago, whereas they were 12 to 14 per cent lower in the middle of February. He points out that industrial production and distribution now are in step with demand, whereas a surplus of commodities was produced in the latter half of 1929.

Marshall Field & Co. look for this year to be comparable with last year. Vice President Frederick D. Corley says: "We believe the remaining months of 1930 will more than make up in volume of business done, for the comparatively cautious pace of the business machine since Jan. 1."

E. J. Buffington, president of the Illinois Steel company, says: "Since the first of the year we have enjoyed an increasing volume of business. At present many of our mill departments are operating at approximately full capacity."

Sees General Revival.

A general revival of business within sixty days is predicted by John A. Bunnell, president of the Chicago Board of Trade, and he adds: "Agriculture is not in as bad a condition as one might suspect from haphazard reading. On the contrary, some branches of farming are in fairly good circumstances."

"Prospects are better at this moment than at any time since last fall," Philip R. Clarke, president of the Central Trust company, says. "There is an unmistakably improved tone that is accelerating with the declining money rates."

And similar opinions and observations are recorded by W. J. Claussen of Hibbard, Spencer, Bartlett & Co.; Samuel B. Steele of the Steele-Wedeles company, C. L. Holsman of Wilson Brothers, Ralph Hines of the Hines Lumber company, G. H. Deu of Bunte Brothers, and Paul Llewellyn of the Interstate Iron and Steel company.

The approach of Easter is bringing signs of betterment and expectations of even greater improvement in mercantile lines, according to Bradstreet's and Dun's reviews.

Cites Highlights.

"The higher lights of the week," Bradstreet says, "have been visible mainly in the industrial branches, where slight gains over recent weeks are reported in production of pig iron and ingot steel; in the reports of improved working schedules in the automobile trade; in the shoe manufacturing trade, where a fillip has been given by delayed Easter buying; and in clothing, dress, and knit goods manufacturing, where seasonal orders have been accumulated. In the building trade gains over earlier months have come with the advent of warmer weather."

"Indications of betterment are both more numerous and distinct," Dun says. "The improvement is largely in sentiment, yet actual gains are developing in certain major lines. The advance of spring and the close approach of Easter, the progress of crop preparations and other outside work, and the lower money rates are among the forces which give promise of stimulated activity."

Dun's review notes improvement in the record of business failures, there having been 503 this week, compared with 533 last week, and 553 two weeks ago. But a year ago this week there were only 466 failures. Bradstreet's review places bank clearings this week at $13,358,630,000, which is only 3½ per cent below a year ago.

Construction Improves.

Improvement in building construction has been decided. A new high monthly record for heavy construction and engineering contracts was set last month, according to the Engineering News Record. The total was $391,833,000, compared with $195,818,000 in February, and $360,326,000 in March, 1929. Contracts for the final week in March in states east of the Rocky mountains totaled $144,982,500, according to the F. W. Dodge corporation. This compared with $135,999,400 in the preceding week, and with $150,853,400 for the corresponding week last year. Contracts thus far this year have totaled $1,100,347,300, a decline of 12 per cent from the same period in 1929.

Millions Are Counted Out to Start Bank

A group of Chicago bankers sat around a table in an office of the Continental Illinois bank yesterday and fingered through sheaves of $10,000 bills. There were 510 all told, or $5,100,000, the amount which changed hands in the transaction.

H. S. HENSCHEN. [Moffett Photo.]

The payment was an incident of the opening of the new Chicago Bank of Commerce, which is to occupy its own building at Dearborn and Madison streets, formerly the Tribune building. The money represented the capital of the bank, $3,000,000, and the surplus, $1,500,000.

Before the assembled officials of the new bank and of the Continental National bank a representative of State Auditor Oscar Nelson received the packets of bills from Arthur Reynolds, chairman of the Continental bank, counted them, and then passed them on to Henry F. Henschen, president of the Commerce bank.

Elect Redheffer President.

Raymond L. Redheffer was elected president and Sterling B. Cramer was named chairman of the board of the Merchandise Bank and Trust company at a meeting of directors yesterday. Earlier in the day stockholders met and elected a board of directors.

R. L. REDHEFFER.

In addition to Mr. Cramer, directors named were Charles F. Bowey, George W. Childs, George B. Everitt, Stanley Field, Milton S. Florsheim, George M. McConnell, Mr. Redheffer, and Fred W. Sargent.

Frank H. Walker was elected cashier and Garfield Thompson assistant cashier. Henry J. Verhelle was named auditor. It was stated that the bank's stock has been oversubscribed. The new institution starts with capital of $500,000, surplus of $500,000, and reserve fund of $250,000, and will open for business about May 15.

Make Smith Director.

Kenneth G. Smith, president of the Pepsodent company of Chicago, has been elected a director of the Upper Avenue State bank. Edward C. Schumann, cashier, was elected executive vice president and director.

The Empire Trust and Savings bank has become an affiliated member of the Chicago Clearing House association, President Ralph F. Kopperschmidt announced yesterday.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York April 4.—The struggle for control of the National Air Transport, Inc., which the United Aircraft and Transport corporation is seeking to wrest from the C. M. Keys interests, took the form today of a battle for proxies.

Both factions sent letters to stockholders of N. A. T., requesting the execution of proxies in favor of their representatives in preparation for the annual meeting of the stockholders of the company to be held April 10 in Delaware.

The fight for control of the company is looked upon in Wall street as a contest between the Curtiss-Wright and United Aircraft interests. These companies are the most powerful holding corporations in the aviation industry.

Control of N. A. T. would give United the first all-air trans-continental line. N. A. T. operates an air-mail line between New York and Chicago, while United Aircraft operates the Boeing route between Chicago and San Francisco.

Report Several Orders for Railroad Equipment

Gulf, Mobile and Northern has ordered 250 box cars from American Car and Foundry and General American Car corporation has received an order for 500 box cars from Louisiana and Arkansas, and Standard Steel Car 200 underframes and superstructures from Bangor and Aroostook.

Baldwin Locomotive works has received an order for ten switching engines and five extra tenders from the Erie railroad. The order is valued at about $700,000.

INSULL AGENTS GET CONTROL OF BLOCK IN LOOP

Acquire Skyscraper on Dearborn.

BY AL CHASE.

With the purchase yesterday of the Westminster building and leasehold estate, at the southwest corner of Monroe and Dearborn streets, the Insull interests now have secured control of the entire block bounded by Adams, Clark, Monroe, and Dearborn. The purchaser, it is understood, paid approximately $2,700,000 for the Westminster property. Frankenstein & Co. were brokers for the seller and Ward T. Houston & Co. for the buyer.

The seller is the Westminster Trust agreement, of which W. B. Frankenstein is chairman, and title was transferred to Ward T. Huston of Ward T. Huston & Co., who, it is understood, represents the Insull interests.

Has No Incumbrance.

The sixteen story Westminster building, which fronts 190 feet on Dearborn street and forty-six feet on Monroe street, was built by Mr. Frankenstein in 1913 from plans by Alfred S. Alschuler. It is stated that this is one of the few loop buildings that bears no incumbrance.

The ninety-nine year leasehold is dated 1912, and calls for $65,000 rental annually, without any revaluation. The owner of the fee is the Continental Illinois Bank and Trust company, trustee for five small Illinois colleges and five Chicago charities.

The five colleges are: Monmouth university, at Monmouth; James Millikin university, at Decatur; Illinois Wesleyan university, at Bloomington; Illinois college at Jacksonville, and Rockford college, at Rockford. The five charities are: Old Peoples Home, Chicago Home for Aged Persons, Chicago Commons, Chicago Orphan asylum, and the Home for Destitute and Crippled Children.

Once Owned by Hetty Green.

The fee under the Westminster building was at one time owned by Edward Mott Robinson, father of Hetty Green. Mrs. Green later on gave it to her son, Col. E. H. R. Green. Later it came into possession of Hobart Williams, who left the property in trust for the benefit of the five colleges and five charities.

The Insull interests now have assembled a site for a gigantic structure to cover the entire block, but it is understood that yesterday's deal is merely carrying out a policy of looking far ahead and that not even sketches have been considered or drawn for any such edifice. That at some time in the far future such a building may be erected is considered certain.

It is understood that the Westminster building will continue to be operated by the new owners as an independent unit, and for the present at least will not be connected with the Marquette building.

STANDARD OF CAL. USES PHOTO TO REPORT INCOME

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, April 4.—The Standard Oil company of California showed net earnings in 1929 just a trifle better than in 1928, according to the annual report of the company made public tonight.

Net profit for the year ended Dec. 31, 1929, after depletion, depreciation, amortization, and a reserve for federal income taxes amounted to $46,633,490, equivalent to earnings of $3.70 a share on the average stock outstanding during the year. In 1928 the net was $46,083,817, equivalent to earnings of $3.66 a share on the average number of shares outstanding during the period.

The distribution of the report in New York City tonight marked an innovation in the method of quick transmission of the figures. The report was set in type in San Francisco and then photographed, and the photograph was transmitted to New York by the American Telephone and Telegraph company system. It was then distributed in the form of photographic prints.

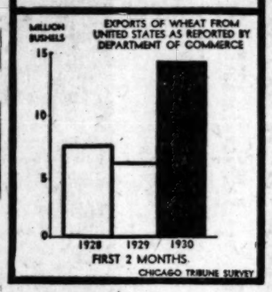
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, April 4.—F. W. Woolworth & Co. today reported a decrease of 8.33 per cent in sales during March, compared with the similar month of 1929. Officials of the company blamed the lateness of Easter for the decline, asserting that an additional $3,600,000 business would have been done had the holiday come earlier in the year.

WHEAT EXPORTS IN FIRST TWO MONTHS WERE MORE THAN DOUBLE LAST YEAR



SAY RYE OPERATORS REDUCED LOSSES BY SELLING WHEAT

Estimates that a group of sixteen easterners who set out last fall to corner the rye market had a total loss of fifteen to twenty million dollars were said yesterday by a well known grain trader to be excessive. He fixed the damage to their collective pocketbook at from seven to nine millions.

Their buying reputedly started late in 1929 around $1. In late December the price had been driven up to $1.25, but during the heavy liquidation about a month ago in all grains, May rye fell to 57¾ and July rye to 60½. There have since been advances of 11 to 12 cents.

At one time the pool is believed to have had from fifteen to seventeen million bushels. In December they paid for 9,500,000 bushels of cash rye and had virtual control of the visible supply. For the last two weeks the pool men are said to have sold May heavily and it is expected they will deliver cash rye on these sales next month. They still have nine million bushels of the actual grain, of which three million are stored in shipa.

The pool operators, said to be headed by John Nicholas Brown, youthful Rhode Island millionaire, and Stephen Metcalfe, publisher and banker, are regarded as having covered much of the rye loss by short operations in Canadian wheat during the period of decline.

BOARD ESTIMATES 687,153 FREIGHT CARS NEEDED

The great lakes regional advisory board estimates that 687,153 freight cars will be needed in the great lakes region during the second quarter of 1930, as compared with 450,871 in the first quarter and 770,537 cars needed in the like 1929 quarter.

W. W. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania railroad, said yesterday that he did not expect an immediate improvement in traffic, but that he hoped for an upturn after the first half of the year.

American Farmer Now Attains Unique Position

BY SCRUTATOR.

The present agrarian movement in the United States, with its twin objectives of minimizing speculation and of obtaining better prices by a reduction of production to the limits of effective demand, is without an exact parallel in the world's history.

In ancient and medieval civilizations the farmer inevitably tended to serfdom. Wealth and power drifted to the cities when it did not originally emanate from them. Rome oppressed its agricultural territory to feed its city mobs. Even the Russia of today is directing its efforts to the wiping out of every farmer who makes more than a bare existence for himself.

The policy of equalizing opportunity until it is alike for the tiller of the soil and the man of the city is new. The fact that there is such a policy is evidence that the American farmer has advanced tremendously in the economic scale; that there is no such difference between him and the city dweller as there was between the oldtime farmer and the oldtime townsman.

Furnishes Illustration.

France in the late 18th century, under the reigns of the last Bourbons, may furnish an apt illustration. Dr. Shafler Mathews in his history of the French revolution quotes Taine as estimating that in some sections the small farmer paid as much as 81 per cent of his produce to others. Land and poll taxes and forced labor for the state took 53 per cent, while the church and the seigneur absorbed each 14 per cent more.

Although the terrible thrift of the French peasants kept many of them landowners even under such conditions, in the south of France most of them were tenants paying in kind. They were in many instances barely able to feed themselves on what the collectors of various kinds left them. "A hailstorm or an inundation would make an entire province dependent on charity."

Laws of the feudal type and the crown itself operated to oppress the peasants. Louis XV. was accused of cornering the grain market. Arthur Young, an eminent authority on English agriculture of his time, asserted that the nobility kept one-quarter to one-half of all the available land out of cultivation. There were no iron plows in the time of Louis XIV. in France and the methods used produced only 18 bushels of grain to the acre, while the English were getting 28.

Severe Restrictions.

Severe planting restrictions were possible through the governmental setup. The farmers who paid in kind could be told by the seignoral element what to plant. There were laws that prevented the cutting down of weeds or the hoeing of crops before a certain time, because this would lessen the cover for rabbits and other small game.

Even when the revolution was in full swing price fixing was indulged in, but only to prevent food from being high priced. The government's price was less than supply and demand would have set.

Not so many years ago when agitation against wheat corners and other speculators in this country was rife, the complaint was that the consumer, not the farmer, was being damaged. The cry was for the full dinner pail. The farmer had not become class conscious enough, or powerful enough, to demand then that he be set aside as especially favored by government.

Here, then, we have the new thing. The farmer is being urged, not commanded, to cut his acreages for his own benefit, and not to make hunting good. He is farther from economic serfdom than any farmer ever was before.

I. C. C. SETS DATE FOR EXTRA FARE TRAINS HEARING

Washington, D. C., April 4.—(AP)—Six railroads were ordered today by the interstate commerce commission to appear May 1 before examiners to show cause why they should be permitted to continue operation of extra fare passenger trains.

The commission initiated an investigation last year to determine whether the practice of the roads in charging fares in addition to regular passenger and Pullman fares and surcharges was legal. The Pennsylvania railroad, the New York Central, the Delaware, Lackawana and West Shore, the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western, the Michigan Central, and the Erie filed applications to continue the extra charge on fast trains offering increased facilities.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, April 4.—Hudson Motor shipped 15,442 cars in March, comparing with 44,295 in March, 1929. March retail sales were in excess of shipments for the domestic market. Stock of cars in hands of dealers is lower than a year ago. The last three weeks have been the most active retail period since last September. Earnings of Hudson Motor Car company in the March quarter were in excess of the dividend requirements of $1.25 a share, the company announced.

BY FRED HARVEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, April 4.—Bull traders had the stock market by the tail again today and they proceeded to whoop things up in their most boisterous fashion.

When the final account was cast up after the ticker quit running along toward 4 o'clock it was found that a total of 5,931,610 shares had been turned over making it the biggest day for the bulls since the post-election celebration in 1928. Prices were jacked up generally 1 to 10 points over last night's closing levels and the longest roll of favorites yet pushed into new high ground for the year.

All the big "blue chip" leaders were out in front. General Electric was an outstanding feature crossing 92 for a new 1930 high, and a net advance on the day of 5½ points. United States Steel, American Can, American Telephone and Telegraph, Radio, Consolidated Gas and most of the other big leaguers were pillars of strength throughout.

Big Blocks on Tape.

Transactions running from 10,000 to 30,000 shares appeared frequently on the stock ticker tape and at times leading stocks were jumping as much as a full point between sales. It was evident that much of the buying was coming from strong financial interests, although brokers reported public participation on a big scale.

Price trends were steadily toward higher levels, the highs of the day being attained in a large proportion of last hour trading. However, an inevitable wave of profit taking set in just before the close and carried most of the more active issues off from one of three points from their best ratings.

Speculation for the advance was aided by a crop of merger rumors involving this company and that and by sustained ease in demand money as well as by evidence of further action by the federal reserve to maintain the

EARLY GAINS IN WHEAT ERASED BEFORE CLOSE

Cloudy Forecast Leads to Selling of Futures.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

General buying of wheat, based on strength in foreign markets and the continued dry weather in the southwest lifted wheat prices yesterday as much as 2c at the opening with July touching $1.16¾ or 12¼c over the low of last week, and 15½c over the inside figures of the season.

The rapid upturn and the forecast for cloudy weather in Kansas, however, led to aggressive selling by operators who have been working on the bull side and a reaction to under the finish of the previous day followed. The close was ⅛c higher on May at $1.13⅞@1.13¾, while the deferred futures were ⅛@⅝c lower. July finishing at $1.14½@1.14⅝.

The wheat market was extremely nervous, although there was an immense trade under way. Holders of weekly offers sold freely, and longs generally were disposed to take profits in view of the upturn of as much as 10c from the low point on Tuesday when the big short covering movement got under way. Winnipeg closed weak and 1@1⅜c lower despite reports of dust storms in southern Alberta, while Buenos Aires was ⅛@¼c higher for the day, and Rosario was up ⅝c.

Technical Position Weakened.

The world-wide bearish sentiment which has prevailed in the wheat market during the last six months has resulted in a heavily oversold condition developing. Liverpool reported further covering by shorts and finished 2⅝@3¼d higher, the extreme advance of 5c per bu in that market failing to hold, due to the relative easiness in Chicago and Winnipeg after the opening. Spot wheat in Liverpool was up 3⅛@6c per bu.

Foreign demand for North American wheat was less aggressive, although sales in all positions were estimated at 1,000,000 bu Manitobas and durums. The basis on No. 2 hard winter at the Gulf was 1c higher at 1c over May, and it was claimed that the government's views regarding the price it would take for its cash grain was around 5c over.

While conflicting reports were received from the southwest regarding the outlook for the new winter wheat crop, a careful check of the official and private returns suggests that approximately 20,000,000 acres, or about 50 per cent of the total for the country would be benefited by moisture. Nebraska sent in dry weather reports during the day and the decided lack of subsoil moisture in the American northwest is attracting attention. Some points in the Dakotas have received only 20 to 25 per cent of normal recently.

Longs Sell Corn Futures.

Long corn came out freely from the start, and declined nearly 2c after an early bulge, with the reaction checked by buying against bids. Final trades were at net losses of ⅛@1c with May, 86⅛@86⅝c, and July, 88⅝@88⅛c. Part of the corn sold out by longs during the day had been carried for some time, and holders of weekly offers also sold. At the top prices were up around 5c from the low on Monday. Country offerings were not large, and purchases aggregated 60,000 bu, including 45,000 bu from other terminals.

Oats were fairly active with sufficient buying through commission houses to advance prices ⅛c early, but profit taking and the reaction in other grains caused a reaction of around 1c from the top with the close ¼@⅝c lower with May, 45c and July, 45¼c. Seeding was reported as fairly general in parts of Iowa.

Shorts were good buyers of rye early, but the market was later under pressure from longs, and the finish was ⅝@1½c lower with May, 68@68⅜c, and July, 74c.

FAIR TRADE IN LARD

Lard and meat prices were lower early yesterday, only to rally and close with lard and bellies 2½c to 5c higher, despite the weakness and lower prices in corn. Hogs were 10 to 15 cents higher, and receipts at western points fell under a week ago but exceeded last year's. Cash trade in lard and meats was said to be better, with a fair amount of foreign business closed. Exports of lard were 2,215,300 lbs, and of bacon 236,000 lbs. Liverpool lard was 3@6d lower. CASH-GRAIN NEWS

While the foreign demand for North American wheat was somewhat less active, sales in all positions were estimated around 1,000,000 bu, largely Manitobas but including some durums. There were some reports of resellers abroad. Local handlers sold 5,000 bu wheat, 68,000 bu corn, 115,000 bu oats, and 15,000 bu barley to the domestic trade.

WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

The technical position in wheat is said to be weakened by the advance, but the trade needs but little encouragement to take the bull side, believing that all sharp breaks will meet buying support.

A Chicago Board of Trade membership sold at $18,500, an advance of $500 over Thursday. The buyer was Adrian M. Howard of Minneapolis. Charles H. Gibson, a cash grain broker, who has been on the board since 1884, has sold his membership.

"The trouble with the corn market at present," said one of its best friends, "is that there are too many traders who have been long for a considerable period who are taking profits on all bulges." Corn is being absorbed freely and the market is working into a better position, as seen by the bull leaders.

REALIZING IN COTTON

Cotton was under pressure yesterday from profit takers and speculators. Old crop deliveries showed strength early and the entire list moved up, only to weaken at the last and with a break that carried prices down to practically the lowest of the day at the close, with net losses of 20 to 31 points, New York leading. New Orleans lost 14 to 26 points, and Chicago 12 to 30 points. Liverpool closed 14 to 19 points net higher, with spot sales 6,000 bales. Weather conditions over the belt were mostly favorable for farm work.

Spinners' takings for the week were 239,199 bales, against 239,000 bales the previous week and 311,000 bales last year. Into sight movement was 101,851 bales, against 148,000 bales last year.

Spots were 20 points lower in New York at 16.60c, New Orleans off 15 points at 16.15c, Galveston 16.25c, and Houston 16.18c. Prices follow:

NEW HIGH ON BUTTER

Three new season highs were established for butter futures on the Chicago Mercantile exchange in a strongly bullish session, with all deliveries finishing at the top. April advanced ¾c or $144 a car. The spot market was ½c higher and storage reports showed heavy withdrawals in contrast to a net input a year ago. Sales were 64 cars and receipts 12,200 tubs.

The bull movement was also on in eggs, where contracts rose ⅝@⅞c, or $45 to $75 a car. Receipts were under expectations and storings were about 18 per cent under a year ago in the four markets. Sales were 173 cars and receipts 30,717 cases. Prices follow:

SHEEP—Fed western lambs yesterday $ 8.75@ 9.85
One month ago 10.00@11.00
One year ago 16.50@17.00
Top yesterday, $9.85; average, $9.25.

Gains of 10@25c were scored in hogs yesterday, medium and hea vy grades leading the advance again. The extreme top gained 10c at $10.50, while the general average showed 15c advance at $10.05, the latter being highest in two weeks and 30c above Monday's average, the low day of the week.

The sharp rise in medium and heavy hogs since the opening of the week has narrowed the spread in prices to the narrowest point since Feb. 27. The top and average prices were only 45c apart, which compares with a spread of 75c last Monday and with $1 the middle of last month. Shippers and small packers bought freely at the advance. Larger houses were on the market earlier than usual, but obtained only a scattering, due to the shortage in receipts. Only 2,000 remained at the close.

September Light, $10.65.

Buying on the hog futures market yesterday was confined mostly to September light at $10.65 and September mediums at $10.25. A load of April light sold at $10.50 at the close. Twelve carloads of May and June light were offered at $10.60@11.00, but the highest bid was $10.50. Offers and bids in other months were too far apart for trading.

On the "to arrive" market light for today's delivery were offered at $10.65 and heavy for April9 at $10.25. Bids on heavy grades for all week were made at $9.90. Light hogs for Monday's delivery were bid $10.35.

The few scattered sales in the cattle division yesterday showed the week's full decline, the supply consisting largely of plain quality light steers and yearlings that have been a drug on the market lately. The demand has been for well finished medium and heavy steers and these kinds were absent yesterday. The best available averaged 1,281 lbs and sold at $14.00, while good 905 lb yearlings brought $13.75.

Choice heavy cattle are quoted 25@ 40c above a week ago, while light weights and yearlings are off 25@50c for the week. Calves were steady yesterday, but show losses of 50@75c since last week's close. Stockers and feeders sold slowly at the week's 25@ 40c decline.

Lambs Bring $9.85.

Fat lambs sold readily at the recent sharp decline and some top kinds showed as much as 10@15c gain under brisk competition among outsiders. Fancy 79 lb fed westerns topped the market at $9.85, while 93 lb Colorados sold at $9.75, the latter being highest of the week for the class.

Wool lambs sold largely at $9.00@ 9.50; prime 100 lb averages at the inside figure. Most shorn lambs brought $8.10@9.10. Aged sheep and yearlings were scarce and stronger. Country demand for ewe lambs was good at $8.50@9.25. Some shearing wether lambs sold at $8.25.

Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 200 cattle, 7,000 hogs and 3,000 sheep, against 716 cattle, 9,707 hogs and 6,366 sheep the previous Saturday, and 254 cattle, 6,946 hogs, and 8,212 sheep a year ago.

Probable receipts of hogs at Chicago for next Monday are estimated from 39,000 to 55,000. J. M. Waters marked 39,000, H. C. Carlson 42,000, H. Turner 45,000, F. Knutzen 48,000, F. M. Sherwood, J. T. Brown, C. Southwick, S. Lund, W. T. Reneker, A. G. Welhener, R. B. Ellis and H. Pattison 50,000, W. C. White 51,000, G. W. Chandler 52,000, and W. F. Russell 55,000.

CHAIN STORE SALES

March sales of the 283 W. T. Grant company department stores totaled $4,962,318, compared with $5,141,436 reported from the 222 stores in operation on March 31, 1929, a decrease of 3.48 per cent. Sales for the first quarter totaled $12,659,520, against $11,986,933 in the like 1929 period, an increase of 5.6 per cent.

Daniel Reeves company sales for four weeks ending March 29 totaled $2,852,355, against $2,786,655 in the corresponding period last year, an increase of 2.3 per cent. Three months sales amounted to $9,328,922, against $9,028,344 in the first three months of 1929, an increase of 3.3 per cent.

R. G. Sandwich Shops, Inc., sales for four weeks ended March 28 were $201,636, against $207,568 the same period last year, an increase of 8.99 per cent. For twelve weeks ended March 28 sales were $926,322, against $820,231 in the same period last year, an increase of 10.73 per cent.

Edison Brothers' March total of $381,266 was 1.3 per cent lower. Dominion Stores' total of $1,907,636 was 3.2 per cent higher for the four weeks ended March 22 in comparison with last year. Bickfords, with a total of $486,507, was 10.2 per cent higher than a year ago.

TIN CONSUMPTION.

American consumption of tin during March reached the highest level in thirteen months, totaling 8,075 tons, an increase of 75 per cent over the February consumption of 4,940 tons.

CHICAGO STOCK SALES HEAVY; PRICES STEADY

Grigsby Plans New Firm to Handle Refrigerators.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Fair gains were registered by a few of the industrial specialties in an active trading day on the Chicago exchange yesterday in which sales passed the half million share mark. Gains were confined to a few selected stocks with the majority of the popular issues moving within a narrow price change.

Heavy trading in Grigsby Grunow continued with sales exceeding 56,000 shares. The company is expected to announce plans today for the formation of a new firm to handle the electrical refrigeration business for which plans were laid several months ago. According to the plan, the new firm will be financed independently, but will utilize the present plant and facilities of Grigsby.

Sales for Quarter.

The company sold a total of 221,179 radio sets in the quarter ended March 31 which compared with 244,237 in the corresponding period last year. Sales in March amounted to 61,104 sets.

Conspicuous on the up side of the market were Lynch Glass, which improved 2¼, Modine Manufacturing, up 2¾, and Morgan Lithograph, which climbed three points. Libby was active and up a point, while the Swift issues were steady on comparatively light trade. Winton Engine rose 2½ and Castle was a point better at the close.

Borin Vivitone preferred on an odd lot sale jumped 2¾ points. Art Metal was up about 1. The audited report of Art Metal for 1929 shows consolidated net income of $926,368, equivalent to $4.10 a share on the common stock outstanding as compared with 62 cents a share in 1928.

Most of the motor shares were heavy. Bendix and Borg Warner finished within a point of their previous closing price, while Allied Products managed to edge up one.

Inland's Holdings.

North American Gas and Electric A was fairly active and about a point higher. The rest of the utility group was steady and little changed. Inland Utilities was firm around 27½. In a letter to stockholders, Edward R. Berry, vice president of Inland, says that the company now controls 15,298 acres of developed gas property and 160 gas wells.

Directors of Altorfer Brothers company yesterday voted an extra dividend of 65 cents on the common stock in addition to the regular quarterly dividend. The regular preference stock dividend was also declared. The dividends are payable May 1 to holders of record April 15.

News and Gossip of Stock Marts

Where Friends Pin Faith.

Park and Tilford established a new high for the year yesterday. Friends of the stock are pinning a great deal of faith on the dye end of the company's business. The sale of a new product constitutes one of the company's largest sources or revenue at the present time.

Estimate Earnings.

Those who are reputed to be familiar with the affairs of the Standard Oil company of New York say the net earnings of that company for 1929 were in the neighborhood of $39,000,000 after all charges. This is about $1,000,000 less than the company reported for 1928. The per share earnings for last year are reputed to have been between $2.20 and $2.25 on the outstanding stock.

Simmons Strength.

Strength in Simmons stock recently no doubt was in anticipation of the favorable report on business for March, just made public.

Diesel Air Motors.

Word comes from Detroit that hereafter Packard Diesel engines will be optional equipment on the Ford 4-AT transport which in the past have been powered exclusively by Wright J-6 engines. This should be a favorable factor in the prospects of the Packard Motor company this year. The Packard engines give the Ford planes a total of 600 horsepower, while the Wright engines provide a total of 900 horsepower. It is claimed, however, that the Diesel engines can be operated at a lower cost per mile than any other type.

Chicago Board of Trade Stocks

Buying of Square "D" A and B was larger yesterday with an advance of 1¼ to 1¾ points and a close at the top. Buying was based on reports of a merger being effected with the Detroit company and the Diamond "D" Manufacturing company of Los Angeles, both being manufacturers of electrical appliances.

STOCKS SMASH OUT LONG LIST OF PRICE GAINS

...rate now prevailing on basic accommodation. Also the further growth in wheat was a factor.

Roar of New Radio Deal.

The merger talk centered largely around a group of companies associated with the Radio corporation. The street heard early in the day that the corporation would have an important announcement of a "new deal" to make within the next three weeks and the combine sharks cut themselves out a busy job trying to figure what it was all about.

One guess was that Columbia Graphophone would hook up with the deal in some way and the possibility of such a contingency caused a big demand for the shares of the last named corporation. In some quarters speculation involved the American Telephone and Telegraph company and the International Telephone and Telegraph and the shares of both these corporations were stimulated to renewed activity at rising prices. American Telephone closed at 267½, up 4¼, and International at 69⅝, up ¾ points. Radio corporation itself advanced nearly 1 points on the day's operations, ending up at 61¼.

Numerous specialties participated in the rise under the leadership of J. I. Case, which spurted more than 10 points on reports of refunding operations for the company, but later receded a trifle under realizing.

Give Good Accounting.

The utility stocks gave a very good account of themselves as a group and some of them performed quite spectacularly toward the last. Consolidated Gas rose 3½ points on a turnover of some 70,000 shares; Peoples Gas was up some 2 points, and such solid issues as American and Foreign Power, United Gas Improvement and North American were all active and higher.

Suggesting the limited character of the floating supply of stock available, Allied Chemical and Dye pushed ahead 7 points into new higher territory on the rise, which at frequent stages was accomplished, on small volume and with the stock jumping a full point at a time between sales.

SAYS SHIPPERS MISS OUT IN RAIL MERGER SAVINGS

Washington, D. C., April 4.—(AP)—A resolution to suspend the authority of the interstate commerce commission to approve railroad consolidations until congress passes legislation "properly designed to protect the public interest" was introduced today by Representative Knutson [Rep., Minn.].

The Knutson resolution is similar to one introduced recently in the senate by Senator Couzens [Rep., Mich.].

Knutson said in a statement off the floor that his measure was "directly aimed to prevent consolidation of the Great Northern and Northern Pacific railways, which is now pending."

"These railroads are parallel and competing lines," he added, "and a consolidation would mean curtailment of service and a reduction in the working force and would adversely affect numerous communities now being served by one or both of the companies.

"Any saving would go to the stockholders, rather than to the shippers. In the general debate on the 1920 transportation act, as I recall it, it was the understanding of congress that parallel and competing lines should not be permitted to consolidate or to form holding companies to pool their interests."

VALUATION OF WABASH ROAD IS REOPENED

Washington, D. C., April 4.—(AP)—The interstate commerce commission reopened today the question of valuing the Wabash railroad and set further hearings for May 12. The commission placed a value of $103,616,951 on the Wabash as of June 30, 1919. In its petition for reopening the road contended that its valuation for rate making and recapture purposes should be $161,545,943.

A final valuation of $65,465,000 for owned and used property as of June 30, 1916, was placed upon the Texas and Pacific railway today by the commission. Owned but not used property of the road was valued at $3,456,938.

At the same time the commission valued the owned and used property of the Weatherford, Mineral Wells and Northwestern railway, a subsidiary of the Texas and Pacific, at $775,-, and the Denison and Pacific Suburban railway, another subsidiary, at $36,000.

Burlington Income for Two Months Is Behind 1929

For the first two months of 1930 the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad showed net income after charges and federal taxes of $3,788,-, equal to $2.21 a share on 1,708,- shares of capital stock outstanding. This compares with $5,355,104, or $3.13 a share on the same basis in the similar period of 1929. For February net income was $2,257,789, compared with net of $3,130,729 in the same month last year.

RAILROAD NOTES

The bill to permit the four for one splitup of Canadian Pacific railway common stock has been approved by the Canadian parliament, the third reading having been given in the upper and lower houses.

The Canadian National railways will spend $25,000,000 on new construction, maintenance and general betterment work in western Canada this year, according to A. E. Warren, vice president of the system's western region. About $9,000,000 will be used in the branch line building program, mostly in Saskatchewan and Alberta, with two in British Columbia.

NOTICE OF ANNUAL AND SPECIAL MEETINGS OF STOCKHOLDERS.

CHICAGO, ILLINOIS, FEBRUARY 24, 1930.

THE ANNUAL MEETING OF THE STOCKHOLDERS OF THE CHICAGO, ROCK ISLAND AND PACIFIC RAILWAY COMPANY will be held at the office of the Company in the City of Chicago, Cook County, Illinois, on Thursday, the first day of May, 1930, at 11 o'clock in the forenoon, for the consideration of the following questions:

1. Whether the Company shall be reincorporated under the laws of Illinois and lowa for a period of fifty years after the expiration of the present Articles of Consolidation of June 2, 1880;

2. The increase in the number of directors of the Company from nine to fifteen, and the amendment of the Articles of Consolidation to provide therefor;

3. The creation of an issue of $32,228,000 Thirty-Year 4½% Convertible Gold Bonds, to be dated May 1, 1930, to provide funds for the corporate purposes of this Company, said bonds to be convertible into common stock of the Company at any time on or after May 1, 1931, and before May 1, 1940, at $125 per share, with an adjustment of accrued interest and current dividends to the date of such conversion; and, in order to secure said bonds, the execution and delivery of an Indenture setting forth the terms and conditions on which said bonds will be issued and delivered and will be convertible and the approval of the form of the proposed Indenture;

4. The increase of the authorized capital stock of the Company from $140,000,000 to $170,000,000, all of the proposed increase to be common stock; and the amendment of the Articles of Consolidation to provide therefor;

5. The repeal of Article VIII of the Articles of Consolidation of June 2, 1880, which provides that the limit of indebtedness of the Company shall not exceed $275,000,000, exclusive of bonds issued for the acquisition of additional railways or property;

6. The amendment of Section 24 of the By-Laws to provide that the Board of Directors may authorize the signature of the President, or vice president, upon the Company's stock certificates to be engraved in facsimile, under such regulations as the Board of Directors may from time to time prescribe;

7. The election of Directors.

And for the transaction of such other business as may come before the meeting.

It is desired to comply with certain statutory provisions of the State of Iowa.

A SPECIAL MEETING OF THE STOCKHOLDERS of the Company is hereby called to be held at the principal office of the Company in the City of Davenport, Scott County, Iowa, on Friday, the second day of May, 1930, at 9 o'clock in the forenoon, for the consideration of the questions set forth above.

By order of the Board of Directors.

J. E. GORMAN,
President.

CARL NYQUIST,
Secretary.

BY FAR THE BEST USED CAR BUYS IN CHICAGO ARE OFFERED BY STUDEBAKER SALES

PACKARD SEDAN. For attractive appearance and efficient performance this car is hard to beat. 4 whl. brakes, snubbers, bumpers, spare tire, etc. $245.

COLE SEDAN. Has exceptionally good tires. Equipment includes heater, snubbers, spotlight, spare tire, etc. This is an unusually clean appearing car that runs fine. $145.

ERSKINE COACH. 1929 de luxe model that your neighbors could not tell from a brand new car. The appearance is unusually attractive and the performance can't be beat. Has 4 whl. brakes, shutter front shock absorbers, driving light, etc. $545.

CHEVROLET PHAETON. 1929, finished a two tone green. Very low mileage. Equipped with 4 whl. brakes, snubbers, bumpers, spare tire, etc. It's excellent mechanically and it's a knockout for appearance. $385.

FORD COUPE. Late convertible model with rumble seat. It's a beauty. Has a wealth of extra equipment. This Ford was only driven a few hundred miles. It's mounted in fender wells, trunk, shock absorbers, and many other extras. You can make a big saving at our price of $1,095.

CHANDLER SEDAN. 1928 de luxe model with 4 whl. brakes, shock absorbers, heater, bumpers, spare tire, etc. It's worth at least twice our price. Only $585.

LINCOLN SEDAN. For sheer beauty and fine riding qualities we do not believe there is a used car anywhere to equal this 7 pass. Lincoln at our special price. Equipped with brand new tires, shock absorbers, shutter front and many other extras. $485.

DODGE COUPE. Late model that's in such new condition, that the tires are not even worn smooth. The finish shines like a diamond and the leather upholstery appears new. $295.

NASH BROUGHAM. Adv. 6, four dr., 5 pass. This is one of the best used car buys in Chicago. The motor has been carefully checked over, 4 whl. brakes, shock absorbers, trunk, heater, spotlight, etc. $295.

STUDEBAKER DICTATOR. 1927, 5 pass. that's in new car condition. Has a sweet running motor and the upholstery and tires show very little wear. 4 whl. brakes, and many valuable extras. $395.
